QUEEN
INSURANCE COMPANY
CAPITAL, $10,000,000.
FIRE and LIFE.
LIFE DEPARTMENT.
The principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required to develop the benefits of Life Assurance, and afford every facility to intending assureds.
One of the chief advantages of those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Bond of Settlement to Ten per Cent of the Net Life
Income. This most important restriction shows that the interests of participating policyholders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point as the proportion of premiums expended for Management
Must Largely Influence Profits
and Bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1868, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.

The Queen's Birthday, 1866 and 1867.

But a year ago the cannon boomed as noisy as to-day:
But a year ago the thunder of the battle was heard:
At the long thin line of the Forced its battle in reply—
Is their music now grown faint?
Are they changed, or is it I?
For a year ago their thunder
With better, more powerful signals
In my empty heart and lonely
And I long to find the old
And ride madly through the fray.
Oh Victoria! I've sweeter pleasure
And the tears no more are in my eyes
To have heard the battle whistle Mingling with the booming of
Of our guns for Galley.
For a year ago their thunder
Saw with welcome to love
Only with my country's honor
To regard—their death
But to-day the martial music
Wakes no response in me, no
And the tears no more are in my eyes
To my eyes for sympathy.
For my can have sweeter music
Which only the Queen's Birthday
And my heart is full of nature
Such a warrior cannot find
And the plucking steel still With the plucking steel still
All are softened to my voice
By the melody of the day
Not the less I love my country
Not the less I wish to stand
Should she need my poor assistance.
Neath the banners of the land
But the longing has departed
For the living and the dead
And my empty heart is empty
Never to be void again: also, I God defend our Queen's Birthday
Loyal subjects cannot play Truce to their petition.
Than these last have formed to-day
None less true, and none less earnest
That soldier's name was there
That my darling and my country
Both were mentioned in that prayer.
And no gladness can I wish
On her birthday and her coronation Brighter than is mine forever.
Now on her birthday alone.

Two Pictures.
Fancy yourself my dear reader, in a dark bed-chamber, neatly furnished. Standing next the wall, at one end, is an old decorated bedstead, with tall posts and folded curtains. There lies an aged man, with thin gray hair and wrinkled skin. But his brow is high and arched, his eyes are keen and bright and piercing, a smile plays round his lips, and, though feeble and dying, he looks calm and happy. Let us speak to him and say—
"Do you think yourself dying, dear Sir?"
He fixes his eye, so calmly, bright, upon you, and slowly replies—
"Really, I do not, I do not whether I am or not; for if I die I shall be with God. I like to be, with me, I shall be with God."
Now let us step into your chamber. Entering a richly furnished room, you see a dignified person, enfolded in warm robes and seated in a large easy chair. He, too, is feeble and dying; but his light in his eyes is unsteady, and his face is pale and wan, and with himself. Let us also ask him a question—
"Mr. Gibson, how does the world appear to you now?"
The eloquent historian of the Roman Empire—for he it is—closes his eyes a moment, then opens them again, and with a deep sigh, replies—
"All worldly things are fleeting. When I look back, I see they have been fleeting; when I look forward, all is dark and doubtful. I feel that I am a poor creature, and that I am a poor creature." Sad contrast! While the humble Scotch minister, in the first picture, holds converse with death and eternity as with his familiar friends, the colored man, who is a Scotchman in the second, holds a solemn vigil with death and doubt. Where the minister has light and confidence, the colored man has darkness and doubt. O happy man, who is a Scotchman! Precious are thy rewards, O faithful minister! thy tribulations, O unbeliever!

A Boy Preacher in Wales.—A boy preacher has appeared in Wales, who, according to the "Ministers," is to extinguish Mr.
Spergeon. This promising youth is Master Enoch Probert, who has just completed his eleventh year. On Easter Sunday he presented to the crowded congregation in the church at Llanidloes, a sermon, which was said of him— "He has a sweet and powerful voice, which he manages well. His delivery is remarkably distinct, and his features were animated at such marvellous length from a boy of such tender years." After preaching two sermons on the Sunday, Master Probert spoke at length on the following day to the Sunday scholars.

A Prayer for Father's Day.—A little girl said to her parents, "Our teachers pray for us, but I never hear my father pray." This remark, through the influence of the Holy Spirit, pierced the heart of the father, so that his mind was conducted into a train of religious reflections by the thought of his child raising up in judgment against him. He became a teacher in the Sunday school, and his conduct adorned the Gospel.

A Kentucky paper says Lexington has a population of 900 persons, with eleven souls.
You may depend upon it that a slight contrast in character is sure material to happiness in marriage.

The destiny of the majority of mankind is a great question, and one which is object of a very happy destiny, it is a

Parties and the Dominion.

In the Maritime Provinces there are a few disappointed politicians, who are using their talent in inducing our own Central Agitator in endeavouring to prevent the establishment of a government in the Dominion upon sound principles; but the great majority of the leading men are advocating the same policy, and inculcating the same principles of moderation as those of our own statesmen in Canada. The Hon. Mr. Mitchell of New Brunswick, in answer to an address presented to him made the following remarks, which we commend to the Browns, the McKellers, and the McKenzies:

"Now that Confederation is accomplished it becomes the duty of every man to lead his aid to make it all the most enthusiastic friend of Union can desire. Our destiny is in our own hands, and to us is given the important charge of making or marring the future well-being of the New Dominion. If we allow old political animosities and old party strife to prevail—if we join issue on some minor particular and fight the old battles over again if we array ourselves in the garb that indicates the conflict of the past—then is the work of the past fifteen months a failure, and the people of this Province will prove to the world that they are not fit for their high destiny and the glorious career that is opening before them. But I look over this large assembly and I have no such fears for the future. I see before me men who have honorably opposed me in the past, but to whom to-night we are ready to say to extend to me the right hand of welcome, and who have entered warmly into the demonstration that greeted my arrival home. This fact speaks a language of no ordinary significance, and it is an indication that the good sense of the people has gained the ascendancy and that Northern hostility, at least, will show now, as she has shown before that the sentiment of Union pervades every community, and as one men we will speak and act for the general good. What the Province requires to do is to send our best men to Ottawa—not men who have been opposed to Confederation and are still ready to thwart its onward progress, but men who are Union in feeling as well as in sentiment, and who are ready to lend their best energies to work out to a successful issue the future that lies before them. Be sure the man you send be a man on whom you can depend—of integrity and industry—one in whom you have strong faith that he will attend to the duties devolving upon him, and who will be guided by interest with a vigilant eye, will use his best efforts to promote the general welfare. A great deal will depend on the first legislature that meets at Ottawa. Matters of the greatest importance have to be discussed and decided, and the whole political machinery has to be adjusted with a wisdom and prudence that will call into requisition the intelligence, the energy and combined action of our representatives. The outlines of a picture sketched by the hand of a master requires a master's hand to secure its successful completion. It is a demonstration of the highest order of mind deeply conversant with colonial affairs, cannot now be handed over to men who are not equal to the important duty assigned them."

Every man in the Dominion who desires to see the country take a fair start, ground in greatness, and in respect, will echo these sentiments and deprecate the agitation which certain parties are endeavouring to engender at the present moment, in the hope that, in the general confusion they may float on the surface.

Hard on Brown.

The attempt of the Hon. George Brown to ostracize every man in the Reform ranks who refuse to follow his lead, is causing some of them to speak plainly in reference to his conduct generally. The St. Catharines Journal, a Reform paper, thus talks to him:—

"For years, more than it is necessary for us to mention just now, the Hon. George Brown has been 'playing piggy' with the Reform party. He first gained the confidence of the party, and then turned round and stabbed that party in its most vital part, destroying the reputations of the leaders; not, mind you, for the glory and benefit of the country, or in the interests of truth and humanity, but for the first and most despicable ends. When the government of the day refused to pay the election expenses for the contest in Haldimand, and when there were no more chances for penitentiary commissions at $8 per diem with perquisites, Mr. Brown commenced his work of slaughtering the innocents. It was he who arrayed Upper Canada against its sister Province, Lower Canada. It was he who supported the Tories at a time when but for his defection and treason they would have no chance for obtaining office. It is he who kept Reformers out of power since the success of his treason, and it is he who will prevent the party, if he can, from exerting any influence in the confederate parliament of the Dominion of Canada which its members and wealth entitle it to. We say the confederate parliament, because Mr. Brown has recently been making attempts to convince the people that they should devote their attention to the choice of candidates for the legislature of Ontario, and in a measure ignore the greater claims of the house of commons, where the control of nearly all the great interest of the country rests."

The Guelpi Advertiser, another Reform paper, does not admire the course which Brown is pursuing, and thus rebukes him:

"We are not by any means wholesome admirers of Mr. McGee, nor are we, as the Globe is anxious to make out, recent to the cause of reform, but we do most emphatically dissent from and protest against such a style of writing as is indulged in in the Globe's leading editorials of Monday and Tuesday last. There is not only a fierce vindictiveness about almost every sentence, but epithets are freely used which it is high time were expunged from the vocabulary of Canadian politics. 'Old Toryism,' 'pretended fanatical gill,' (shade of D. M. L.!), 'a mixing of literary and political trickster,' 'you are a slandering,' Mr. D. M. L. McGee, are samples of the delectable phraseology employed by the would-be chief of Canadian Reformers in their war with a political opponent. Such language would be inexcusable in the freedom and heat of a political discussion, how much more when written for the columns of our leading daily newspaper. It is evident that the articles in question must have been produced by their author while in a state of fever, for it is impossible that certain statements could have been so coolly considered and well weighed."

Suspicious.—The Globe is praising the Kingston Asses for the sentiments it has been uttering lately.

A GOOD SIGN.—The Commissariat at Halifax is advertising in Canada for 2,000 barrels of flour for the troops in that city. This we hope is but the beginning of the supplies that we shall furnish to the lower provinces.

VOLUNTEER MONUMENT.—The subscription to the Volunteer Monument fund, in honor of the fallen at Ridgeway, is progressing favorably.—Would it not be well to lay the foundation stone on the first of July, the same day that the Queen's proclamation declares British America a Dominion?

CHAMPIONS ARE COMING.—On Monday evening, June 3rd, Johnson & Gardner's Combination Minstrels will perform in Neilson's Hall. This Company is spoken of by the press, where they have performed, as combining the first talent in the country, as singers, dancers, and prestidigitations. All should go and see them.

NORTH BRITISH REVIEW.—Leonard Scott Publishing Company, 35 Water Street, N. Y. ## FROM MARMORA.

From our own Correspondent.

MARMORA, May 28, 1867.

Rain, heavy and incessant, ever since the snow went off, has not only sadly hindered farming operations, but mining operations also. Both above ground and beneath the ground, a great damper or a sort of atmospheric wet blanket, has been the order of the day. All diggings or excavations have very quickly been filled with water either from above or from below. This has been very trying and discouraging to all parties, as in the country, a wet seed time, or harvest time, is something melancholy and lamentable. Long faces, and a dread of empty barns, and of still more empty pockets, have been the kind of apperceptions which have appeared before us all. The weather has been good for driving saw logs down the lakes, rivers and creeks, and over the rapids and waterfalls, also for frogs and young goslings; but what other classes of the community have been benefited by the almost daily rain, would be somewhat difficult to determine. Very wet or very dry weather, both extremes following each other in long spells, seems to be more and more established as the natural order, for this part of the great British American Dominion. Farmers in this neighborhood, are not generally half through the "springs work," and how it is to be finished during the short remainder of the sowing time, without an immediate change in the weather, is a matter which presents a somewhat serious difficulty. Low and flat or heavy clay lands, cannot be ploughed at all, for they are soaked and sodden with water, beyond all recovery for the present season. It has been only lilly or rolling land, or light sandy soil, that could be ploughed under crop this season, and all grain has been put into the ground much later than usual. We can only hope that a general or favorable summer may ripen it in time for a more favorable harvest than we now have reason to anticipate. Certainly this is the coldest, wettest, and most backward spring that we have experienced for many years.

Meteorologists seem at fault in the matter, they do not announce or predict any thing of the kind in their almanacs, or weather wise journals, or at least they do not threaten us with more rain than usual at the present time.

It must be confessed, that under the discouraging circumstances, mining, and the science of practical geology and mineralogy, are not making that steady and increasing progress, which is so desirable. However, the gold, the silver, the copper, the iron, with all other metal and mineral deposits, are all here, they cannot escape or melt away. Riches frequently take wings and fly away from their possessors, but if we only leave them in the hands of their Creator, they will never be lost or wasted by speculation, by commercial or financial panics, or by any other process whatever, but they will all be forthcoming in due time, to all their appointed place in that great providential plan by which all things are ruled and governed. Century after century has rolled away without bringing these mineral treasures to light, and yet the surface, and now we have some little inkling or suspicion of their existence, we are in a prodigious hurry to seize and struggle and scramble after them. Before these deposits can be made really and permanently profitable, time, labor, patience, and above all capital is necessary. Poor men without means of experience, will find it better to let mining alone, except just as employed by others in the same manner as when employed in the harvest field, or where else. As to their spending weeks and months making a hole in the ground here and there, by immense toil and labor, just because they could kick off a bit of quartz off the rocks, and then sell it for a locality, and procuring provisions on credit to enable them to do so, surely this is folly and intemperance indeed. It is very few instances indeed. Better go to the iron ore bed, at the head of Crow Lake, or to the Cobourg and Marmora Railway, and earn $1 25 per day. Meanwhile we do not at all question the existence of many of the precious metals, for we are fully aware that from Kingston to the head of the Georgian Bay, this midland district is a great storehouse of metals and minerals, and that all the discoveries which have yet been made are the merest possible fraction of that which remains hidden beneath the rocks of this great country.

Fenians.

A telegram from the West, to the Montreal Gazette, says:—An officer, high in command in this Province was in Buffalo a few days ago, and called on General Barry, Commander of the United States forces along our border. The General is strongly opposed to Fenianism, yet in conversation with the officer, he said he fully believed another raid was contemplated and on a much more gigantic scale than last summer. I have positive proof of this, he said, and I advise you in a friendly way to warn your Government at once that a great danger threatens. If the Fenians have anything like a foothold in your country, if they are allowed to remain there for even three days, all the force at my command will be unavailing to prevent them from crossing the border in thousands. It is my opinion that there is serious trouble ahead. The British officer who heard it at once notified the Government."

Australian Confederation.

A conference of the leading men of the Australian colonies was held in Melbourne on the 4th of March. The primary object of which was to discuss the ocean postal routes between Australia and England. Representatives from Victoria, Central Colony, New South Wales, South Australia, Queensland, New Zealand, and Tasmania, were present. After much discussion, it was decided to maintain three lines, two of them via the Tasmanian route, and that via Panama. To do this requires an expenditure of $2,000,000 annually, $1,000,000 of which they intend asking the English Government to pay, and the colonies to pay the other $1,000,000, in the following proportions: Victoria, New Zealand, and New South Wales, one-fourth each; Queensland, one-seventh; South Australia, one-twelfth; Tasmania, one-fiftieth. The delegates also decided upon the establishment of a Federal Council, to be composed of two representatives of each colony, to whom any future questions affecting the colonies generally should be referred. In order to bring their claims fully before the consideration of the British Government a memorial was drawn up, which is important as furnishing the most trustworthy proofs of the progress, material prosperity, and importance of these distant adjuncts of the Crown of England.

The imports into the six colonies during the year 1865 amounted to $35,000,000. Within the last sixteen years, the two colonies of Victoria and New South Wales have produced a supply of gold amounting in value to one hundred and fifty millions sterling, five-sixths of which has been the produce of Victoria alone. The colony of New South Wales has raised from the earth 4,617,100 tons of coal, valued at $2,742,234; and her coal fields, north and south of the port of Sydney, may be said to be inexhaustible. The colonies of New Zealand and South Australia are eminently favored in the rich variety of their resources. New Zealand has risen within the last few years to an important position as a producer of gold and wool. In ten years the colony of South Australia has exported copper to the value of $4,751,638, while the produce of her corn-fields is unsurpassed by other countries. The colony of Queensland, in addition to her pastoral and mineral wealth, has established by successful experience her capability of growing both cotton and sugar. Nor are the resources of Tasmania unimportant to the British Empire. Her wool, grain and timber, with the oil of her fisheries form a valuable part of the Australian exports. These far-off colonies are rapidly increasing in wealth and intelligence. When confederated, as they will be before many years, they will form another influential Dominion, reflecting the power and glory of the British Empire.

Choirs of Children are becoming more common than formerly in the churches of Britain. Congregations composed with several denominations have recently introduced them, one dissenting church having a choir of one hundred children. This practice, it is claimed, has two advantages:—first, the children of the congregation are taught to sing, and second, the singing in church is very fine. The chief objection to it is the difficulty of prevailing on the choir to sing, and to have themselves with propriety in the church, but this difficulty applies sometimes with even greater force to choirs composed of older people.

The Paris Exhibition.

CANADIAN AND UNITED STATES DEPARTMENTS—MARTIN—A CONTRAST.

The Paris correspondent of the Portland Argus says:

In regard to the American Department in the Exhibition, we note that there has been but very little said by any of the American or European journals. This can readily be explained from the fact that the least that is said the better, though I regret exceedingly to say so. Our representation at the Paris Exhibition is regarded as the most miserable of any nation here represented. Even the Sandwich Islands, which is along side of it, on the left, as you enter from the outer circle, is far superior in many respects. Americans as they enter the apartment over which waves the stars and stripes, move about and exclaim, "Oh, my country, what a fall!" those who have been entrusted with the management of the American department have proved themselves wholly incapacitated for the task, however the evil there, which cannot now be remedied, and of course, there is a general dissatisfaction among exhibitors, whilst every American who visits the Exhibition, feels a just sense of shame and indignation as he draws the contrast between the United States department and that of other nations. Time will develop the cause of our disgrace at the Paris Exhibition. Though it cannot be the matter, it may, perchance, have good effect on a like occasion in future. The Canadian department is very fine, much better than could have been reasonably expected from the British North Americans.

This may be attributed to a very great measure to the indefatigable efforts of Hon. T. D. McGee, Dr. Tache, Joseph H. Day, and others of the Canadian Commissioners who have given it their personal attention, which has resulted in a success. Canadians look upon their show with pride and satisfaction, and that justly too, while we think, the least and about ours the better. The Emperor paid the Canadian department a very handsome compliment for its completeness and the general display of arts and industries of that country. He was particularly attracted by Notman's superb pictures, and rewarded that artist with an order for copies of a number of his pictures. Mr. Notman stands as one of the heads of the profession in the photographic art, and this pleasing little compliment of the Emperor bestowed upon him is but a just tribute to his genius. Notman's photographic galleries in Montreal have long been considered one of the most interesting museums of the kind in North America, they are much frequented during the summer months by tourists, who witness all the most beautiful scenes of the world, and that region clothed in their summer and winter garb.

Education in England.

So much has been said of the neglect of the poorer classes of England, as respects education, such exaggerated representations have been made as to the prevailing ignorance among them, that we were much interested in reading an excellent article on the subject, in the Watchman of April 24th, which gives a much more cheering account of the educational provision for the masses of the population. From this article we learn that, estimating the population of England at 21,000,000, there are 3,500,000 children between the ages of 4 and 12, of whom 2,650,000 ought to be at school, and of whom 2,160,000 are actually in the schools. About seventy-five per cent of the schools are reported by the Government Inspector, to be in a satisfactory state. The scholars in the Wesleyan Day Schools, which are among the best in the kingdom, and on the whole probably exceed all others. If we add to the above figures the great number of children attending select and private schools, it will be seen that England has not been negligent of popular education. The Watchman quotes a well informed clergyman as saying: "I venture to maintain that our present system, where it has been adequately developed, has not been a failure, but a triumph of success. Our best elementary schools may be fearlessly matched against the elementary schools in the world. The teaching is thoroughly good; not superficial and ambitious, but sound and practical. In the admirable method of inspection, in which our system stands almost alone, we have the best of all securities for efficiency. In the kindled energies of voluntarism we gain the priceless element of sympathy and philanthropic effort for which no amount of money supplied by a legal rate could furnish an equivalent."—Guardian.

DECLINE IN WHEAT AND FLOUR AT THE WEST.—The Springfield (Ill.) Journal of May 28th says: "Within the last ten days wheat has declined forty-five cents per bushel, and two dollars per barrel, in this market. The prospects of an abundant wheat crop in this section were never better, and it is confidently looked for to still further decline in both wheat and flour. The large quantities of wheat said to be stored by speculators must now be brought out, and they must reap the fruits of their efforts to keep the price of flour at twenty dollars per barrel."

The treasury deficit of the kingdom of Italy in 1860 was £14,230,000; in 1861, £20,400,000; in 1862, £16,960,000; in 1863, £17,800,000; in 1864, £16,920,000; in 1865, £11,620,000; and in 1866, £30,000,000, showing a total of £118,000,000 aggregate deficit of £118,000,000 in seven years. By loans, sale of railways and state lands, and other extraordinary resources, the deficit has been made good to the extent of £123,850,000, leaving a balance of £5,070,000, or say nothing of the deficit of the current year. The Financial of the 28th inst. says: "The current year, it appears, wants at least £20,000,000 to carry him comfortably through 1867."

Editorial Correspondence.

MONTREAL, May 31, 1867.

McDonald's Tobacco Works, which through the kindness of Mr. Stewart, connected with the establishment, a friend and myself were permitted to examine, are situated on Water street, and are the most extensive in the Province. The building is 135 feet long, 35 feet wide and has six stories. The sixth story is used for drying and flavoring rooms. The fifth story comprises leaf and assorting rooms, and is fitted up with boilers for dissolving the liquor, of which there is used daily from a half to three quarters of a ton. The fourth and third stories are rolling rooms, where the rolls, or plugs as they are called, are made after being pressed. The rooms contain one hundred work tables, each table having room for five persons, thus numbering 500 souls in both rooms, without counting overseers and attendants. The second story is used as a pressing room. There are nine large hydraulic presses for the shapes and finishers, the pumps of which are driven by steam power, twenty-five heavy iron compress boxes or finishers, each of which has its own retainer. One of the hydraulic presses is large enough to admit hogheads, and for the express purpose of pressing stens. Of box presses there are one hundred, all strong, screw presses, made of iron throughout. Connected with the press room is a shed the same length of the building, 30 feet wide and well lighted by large sky-lights. A part of this shed is used as a bonded warehouse. In the lower story are two large fire-proof sweating rooms, arranged to hold 500 boxes at a time. Accommodation is sufficient to manufacture with ease, in the day of ten hours, one hundred boxes of tobacco, weighing from 100 to 110 lbs. each. A few years ago employment was given to 1,000 men, women and children, but by the addition of machinery, the same amount of work is done now with 300 hands. The floors, machinery and everything connected with the manufacture of the tobacco, are kept remarkably clean and neat. The whole building is scrubbed out every day, over thirty women being employed specially for the purpose. To those who have never witnessed the process of tobacco manufacturing, a visit to this factory will well repay them.

To-day the weather has been delightful, and the crowded streets, the thronged sidewalks, the large number of handsome equipages and splendid turn outs, show that the inhabitants improve what little of sunshine is given to them.

The trade sales this week have been largely attended by Western men, most of whom return to-night. It was expected that owing to the backwardness of the season, and the anxiety of sellers to get off their goods, that prices would have ruled lower. The quotations will show, however, that prices have been fully up to the expectation of the seller. By the way, the tumble in flour has produced some little commotion among dealers in the city, some of whom hold large lots. It is estimated there is in store here 100,000 barrels, and as there is a large lot yet to come forward, it is not much wonder that holders wear long faces, and are rather inglorious at the prospect. It is the general opinion that speculation has had much to do in raising flour to its present extravagant height. It is probable that bread will take a tumble, and there will not be so much distress among the working classes in consequence of the high price of the staff of life.

Arrangements are on foot here to get up a grand celebration on the first of July, one worthy the metropolis of the Dominion of Canada. It is understood that the first of July will be set apart as a public holiday by the Government. Nothing of special moment is occurring here. Election matters are quiet, and beyond the announcement of the names of a few candidates, nothing is being done respecting the forthcoming elections.

EMIGRANTS.—Since 9 p. m., on Saturday, 24 cars of emigrants have passed here, nearly all bound for the Western States.

GOOD TEMPLARS.—The grand Lodge of Good Templars of North America met in Detroit on the 28th ult. The representatives from Canada were Dr. J. W. Ferguson and Messrs. George E. Henderson and W. S. Williams. The annual report shows that in 1858 the whole number of members in connection with the order was reported to be 53,200. In 1859 no report was given. In 1860 the number had increased to 78,180, and one year later it decreased nearly 16,000. No report was made in 1862, and in 1863, during the very height of the war, while the order was excluded from the South-east States, the number was reported at 57,900. One year later the increase was over 10,000, and in 1865 the returns showed 75,963, or an increase of over 8,000 over the previous year. In 1866, 90,000 were added to the membership, while on February 1, 1867, the secretary reported a total membership of 279,480, but from letters since received it is safe to place the number as now belonging to the order at 340,000.

Fenian Rumours.

The Syracuse Courier and Union, a paper which sympathizes with the Fenians, and is supposed to be informed of their plans, under the head of Fenian rumours, says: "We are given to understand from a reliable source that, while preparations are steadily in progress, no immediate movement on Canada is about being made, the plans will be entirely different from those of last year, and the movement be so arranged that it will be entirely impossible for Johnson, Seward, Dart & Company to interfere."

Special telegrams to the N. Y. Herald from Malone, Ogdensburg, St. Johns, C. E. and other places, speak of preparations being made for the forthcoming invasion, and hint at mysterious movements all along the border which point to an early attack on Canada. Malone is said to be the base of attack, where large quantities of arms and ammunition are stored. One report speaks of Gen. O'Neill who was connected with the invasion in June last, as having visited Prescott and Ottawa a few days ago, examining the fortifications, and taking observations which may be of use in the contemplated raid. These are some of the sensational despatches which correspondents of the Herald telegraph to that paper, and which that journal the other day editorially pronounced as loath. Of course no one better knows the character of his correspondents, and we must therefore accept the editorial statement as worthy of his correspondents.

MILITARY FUNERAL.—Yesterday, Richard Brown, late a member of Capt. Nunn's Company, 3rd Batt. G. T. R. Brigade, was interred with military honors in the St. Thomas Church yard. Considering the very unfavorable state of the weather there was a large turn out, there being 45 men and 6 officers. The firing party was under the command of Sergt. W. Clarke.

CROP PROSPECTS IN THE STATES.—The report of the United States Agricultural Department for the month of April, presents a most encouraging account of the condition of the wheat crop of the country. Nine-tenths of the returns received report that the yield of wheat this year will far exceed that of any within the last decade. Nor is this cheering news received from one section of the country alone. From all the States, intelligence of a like character is being transmitted to the proper office at Washington.

POLICE COURT.

VAQUANCY.

JUNE, 1st, 1867.

Ellen Green was brought up on remand and committed for 30 days. She would not promise to leave the town, but preferred "a home in the green wood wild," to the strict seclusion of Castle Dufresne. The magistrates differed with her in opinion, and gave her "the benefit of the doubt."

Samuel Hart was charged with having committed an assault upon Warner Gardner, both of Thurlow. He pleaded guilty, and was fined $2 and costs.

Edgar Gervoy was charged with using abusive and insulting language to Royal Shaw, on the 26th of May last. He was fined $2 and costs. A similar charge was preferred against David Gervoy, but it was withdrawn on payment of costs.

A case of wages against the master of the Bruce, by a boy named Thompson, was postponed until the 4th inst.

BREACH OF HIGHWAY ACT.—Mr. Franklin, of Madoc, charged Stuart Anderson with injuring his buggy. Case remanded until today.

—Dr. Ryerson and his son are at the Paris Exhibition.

—It is estimated that there are over one hundred full ships in the Province of Ontario.

—The latest Great Eastern proposition is that the big ship be employed as an emigrant vessel running between Ireland and America. As she can carry eight or ten thousand people, the price of tickets could be put at a low figure.

The Recent Case of Abortion.

J. E. Waldron, on remand from the 25th of May last, was again brought forward. The County Attorney conducted the prosecution, and George D. Dickson, Esq., the defence. The following is the evidence adduced:

MARGARET PHILLIPS, sworn.—I am a sister of Mrs. L. M. Phillips, the house, and have been with her about four months and a half. She was taken ill on Friday, three weeks ago, and she was getting the intermittent fever. Prisoner came on Monday to the house; her husband went for her. A small man, the prisoner, came first; he came back again with prisoner. The sick woman spoke of this man as the Dr.; he went into the room where my sister was with her husband; did not hear what was said; he gave the directions to her husband as to how to give the medicine; saw some bottles; never saw her take any medicine; he was there not quite so long as half an hour; came back the next day. Saw no difference after she took the medicine than before. She had pains all over her. I think Mr. Waldron came every day until Dr. Hope came. Before Dr. Hope came prisoner had been gone an hour. Don't know whether he took her away or he was a married woman. My sister had a miscarriage on the Wednesday following. Prisoner gave my sister a direction as to what was to do. As near as I can understand she had been about two months in the family way. Did not go to the room with Mr. Hope. Prisoner once made a motion for me to go out of the room; my husband was not in at the time. I think he did not take any of the bottles then, nor see him take any away. I took in medicine from him. It was after the miscarriage on the Thursday, that prisoner made a motion for me to leave the room. Don't know whether he made a motion given on Monday or not.

MICHAEL LAVAN, sworn.—My wife first complained to me on a Friday. On that day she sent me word. It was two weeks ago yesterday. I was at work in Kingston; got home Saturday morning. My wife complained to me she thought she was getting the fever. On Monday she asked me to go to a doctor. I started for Dr. Hope and met a man on Monday forenoon. When we came back the young man said he would cure my wife for $5. In the afternoon both men came; the young man stated that. This is the man (Mr. Waldron), who gave my wife medicine. I was present on Monday when he administered his medicine. He said he would give me one of his medicine for me to give. He said to give of one kind seven drops; of the other eight drops, in a little bit of water. She had cramps and pains all the time; she complained of pains before she took any at all. On Thursday the last he came, he asked me what he thought; he said he thought she would get better. I think on Tuesday she had a miscarriage. I don't know if it was on Tuesday. My wife asked me to go for Dr. Hope. I saw her vomiting on Tuesday, don't know who took the bottle away. Mr. Waldron came away two bottles; he gave her two powders. He gave one powder on Tuesday and another on Wednesday; did not tell me what the powders were for; they were the only powders given, and were of a whitish color.

Cross-examined.—The first time he was there on Monday afternoon he brought a bottle of medicine, and told me to give her a teaspoonful of it whenever she wanted a drink; he had no other medicine, and gave her a teaspoonful of it in water; I attended to my wife. He came on Thursday and laid two bottles, one was of a red color, to be given over 3 or 4 hours, seven drops of one and eight of the other. The young man came with him again. On Friday he brought the miscarriage. I never paid prisoner anything; he never asked me to pay him anything. Dr. Hope came in the evening of the week; he was attending her ever since; my wife had a miscarriage before, she was sick then.

TO MR. COLEMAN.—It was after she had taken the second powder she had the miscarriage—that was on Monday.

DR. HOPKINS, sworn.—I was called at my office last Thursday night; I called at his house about 11 o'clock on Friday night. I saw his wife, the first glance led me to believe she was in a very critical state; some one then told me that she was in a very critical state. The man was called in. From examination of the patient, I satisfied myself that an abortion had taken place. I was impressed on my mind, that the patient was in imminent danger of losing her life; I asked for a consultation with a medical man, and he said he would bring her to that state. The impression on my mind, was that it was caused by the excessive loss of blood, following the abortion, and from the statements made to me by the use of drastic medicine.—Vomiting would have a tendency to produce abortion.

Cross-examined.—One abortion frequently followed by another predisposes the patient to it.—There are drugs which if given, and continued, will produce abortion. The woman was weak both in body and mind.

DR. LISTER, sworn.—I was called upon, saw her in company with Dr. Hope and Dr. Holden, on Thursday last week, she was then in a dying condition; have not seen her since. From examination, satisfied myself she had had a miscarriage or abortion. It might have been the result of natural causes, or of the use of drastic medicines. Vomiting has a tendency to produce abortion, from the excessive debility of patient, thinks it arose from some unusual cause.

Cross-examined.—When a woman has had one miscarriage or abortion, she is very likely to have another. In our practice we often have great difficulty to guard against it. Vomiting always has a tendency to produce abortion. The more debilitated the patient, the greater probability of this result, severe pains in the back and abdomen would have a similar tendency during pregnancy, more particularly in its early stages.

The Crown Attorney asked prisoner to be remanded for one week, on account of the woman being too ill to undergo an examination (both the medical gentlemen having stated she was in extreme danger and totally unfit to undergo an examination).

Mr. Dickson admitted the necessity for a remand, but asked the Magistrate to accept bail, which was refused. He then asked leave to examine the witnesses whose names had been given to the Magistrate the day previous, and was informed they had not been subpoenaed, because the Crown Attorney said he would not get through with his witnesses to-day.

Mr. Dickson then suggested his Worship to give him an opportunity of producing witnesses, after leaving which his Worship could exercise his discretion, whether or not he would take bail. His Worship refused, and he would make no difference what they swore to; that it was irrelevant, and that he would do it. The County Attorney would consent he could not, and the prisoner was remanded for another week.

Battle of Candia.

A description of the battle between the Turkish forces and the Cretan insurgents, on the 14th of April is furnished by a correspondent at the headquarters of the insurgents, who is well versed in the proceedings. He says:—"On April 14 we marched down to the plains of Candia, and with a strong body of Cretan and Greek volunteers, under the chiefs of the Cretan and Koraks. It had been rumored that the Pasha of Heracleum would attempt to enter the districts between that city and Rethymum. We descended to the plain left the defile by which we had come temptingly open, and occupied a village named Krasnos, at the south. The Turks fired some cannon shots from the village of Agios Meron, our front, and as night drew on there was a slight truce for a few hours. The next morning all was quiet. During the earlier part of the day reports were brought to our chiefs that a Turkish detachment had appeared in the defile left open to tempt them. We accordingly marched westward through the defile behind Krasnos to a central position among the mountains. Here we halted until a breathless messenger came running to summon our aid. The Turks had advanced in force. There was a sharp onset upon going down the mountain, and the troops of Koraks, who had already joined the villagers in the defile. Not a moment should be lost, for if we were to be taken, we could take the morning all was quiet. This was what our chiefs had been maneuvering to do, and they resumed their march with all the eagerness of men 40 years younger. We could presently hear a sharp fusillade, cracking and snuffing, and our men took up the cry of 'Allah Akbar' and 'Allah Akbar' in the men, with a warlike murmur rather than a distinct cheer, passing from end to end of the column. Petropoulaki's son Leonidas was, as usual, among the very first, with a strong body of volunteers he had through himself up the enemy's flank just as our main force reached the edge of the valley. A few stray bullets had come singing over the rocks far in the rear, but now, all at once, we entered upon the scene of action, and our men took up the fire in a loose skirmish fashion. The head of our column had delivered a volley to let friends and foes know that we had arrived. But thenceforward we had independent firing. What with rocks and bullets, with the irregular firing, our men took up the fire in a loose skirmish fashion. THE principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required to develop the benefits of Life Assurance, and afford every facility to intending assured. One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Deed of Settlement to Ten per Cent. of the Net Life Income. This most important restriction shows that the interests of participating policy holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management Must Largely Influence Profits and Bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1868, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once. M. BOWELL, Dr. CANNIFF, Medical Referee. May, 1867. 4D-6m

The British Flag.

The Union Jack 1—O what a name! How lustrious with the light of time! And sparkling with the gems that story has scattered over British soil. This is the Flag that, on the sea, "Has braved the battle and the breeze;" "This is the Flag that, on the land, Has braved the snow, the ice, the brand; O'er cannon-throat and musket-flash; O'er bayonet and sabre-clash; O'er scenes of blood and smoke and fire, And shrieks of pain, and yells of ire, The gorgeous folds of this flag have, Unstained, unsullied, and unshorn, Dwarf Trees. With dwarf pears nearly every one is more or less familiar. But many persons are ignorant of the fact that the pear is not the only fruit that may be grown on a dwarfing stock. Apples, cherries, plums, peaches, are all thus grown as well as pears, and dwarf trees have in some respects and for certain purposes decided advantages over standards.

In the first place dwarf trees occupy much less room than standards. This of course is no recommendation in the minds of those who have abundance of land; for the smaller the tree, the less must be its yield. But we are not writing for farmers and orchardists who grow fruit for export. We are speaking simply for our readers, lay and clerical, who have only small gardens, from a few rods to half an acre or so in size, and who wish to raise what they can therefrom merely for home consumption. And to such it is an important recommendation of dwarf trees that they can be grown in so small a compass. Plant in such a garden a few standard apple-trees, and in a few years your whole ground will be so shaded that you will not get a single ray of sun. But in the same ground you may plant dwarf apples, dwarf pears, dwarf plums, dwarf cherries, dwarf peaches, a number of each, and still have left an abundance of room for shrubbery and vegetables and flowers. It is true you will not get as many apples or pears from a dwarf tree as from a standard. But from your entire garden you will get more fruit, and a much larger variety of it, by planting dwarf trees than by planting standards.

In the second place, dwarf trees come much earlier into bearing. Set out a standard apple tree, and it it grows with appropriate health and vigor, you must wait ten or fifteen years for a crop. But plant a dwarf apple and in one fifth of this time you may hope to eat the fruit of your labor. And there is a similar, though less marked, difference in the fruiting of dwarf and standard pears, cherries, and plums. The standard generally requires at least twice as long as the dwarf to yield its crop.

RESULT OF ADVERTISING.—A single instance of the practical benefits derived from judicious advertising is given by the Pittsburg Gazette, in the following article. This is not a solitary case, but only one of many. Hundreds would give the same testimony, should it be desired, and thousands owe wealth and station to a similar cause. In a brief interview with one of our most liberal patrons, a few days since, we inquired his experience in the policy of advertising. We regard his answer as noteworthy, and commend it to the consideration of others. He said the same kind of business in which he is engaged had been carried on at the same stand for ten years by one, and only three years by another predecessor. These men gave different attention to their business, were sober and frugal, but spent nothing for advertising. They were just barely able to eke out an existence. That he might out the concern ten years ago, and began debtor for the whole establishment. He felt poor and only expended fifty dollars per annum in each of the business papers the first year; that subsequently he increased his exposure to several thousand dollars annually for advertising; and the result has demonstrated its wonderful utility, and he is to-day worth $175,000, and his annual profits are constantly increasing.

At the Tyrone Assizes, Ireland, an action for libel was brought against the Northern Whig newspaper. The libel grew out of an election for the historic city of Derry. Judge Keogh, a Roman Catholic, presided, and in charging the jury, he used the following language:—"Mr. McCauland, in his address, has referred to the city of Derry as 'one famous for historic deeds in days gone by.' I said the Judge, agree with Mr. McCauland, that the deeds done in Derry did not concern the conduct to secure civil and religious liberty in this land; and I have a high appreciation of the monarch in whose reign these events occurred, and whom Edmund Burke has justly described as 'one glorious deliverer and an enemy of persecution;'—and those who think he was other than this know not a thing of his character. In his reign was fully secured the liberty of the subject, by jury, and from him we derive the invaluable right of the liberty of the press. We are parting with many things now-a-days, whether for better or for worse I will not say; but the time may come when we will have no other safeguard than that which is centred in a free press.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVEILLE, TUESDAY, JUNE 4.

Single copies of the "Daily Intelligencer" can be obtained at J. C. Overell's Book Store, Belleville.

TEMPERATURE DEMONSTRATION.—A Temperature Demonstration is to be held at Vanderwater's Grove, Frankford Road, on Friday, June 14th. It is to be on the picnic plan, and the public generally has been invited to attend.

WATERFALLS DENOUNCED.—A clergyman in Michigan, during the delivery of his sermon, denounced "waterfalls as abominable deformities, the fruit of depraved taste and woman's extreme vanity." On Monday morning a monstrous waterfall was hung upon his door with a card attached to it, "this is the latest style." He says it looked so like a wasp's nest that he put it into the fire. A pretty widow woman of his congregation is accused of the trick.

HON. JOHN A. MACDONALD.—This gentleman is about to visit Western Canada, and we observe amongst the proceedings of the city council of Toronto, that a resolution was adopted, authorizing the Mayor to present him with an address, thanking him on behalf of the citizens for the distinguished services which he had rendered in the great work of Confederation. A committee consisting of the Mayor, Aldermen Borsali, Adamson, Harrison and Hynes, was appointed to carry out the object of the resolution.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE.—The May number of Blackwood's Magazine contains the following papers: Brownlow's Social Ambitions; A Modern Magician; Cornelius O'Dowd; Transatlantic Fetters; How to make a catalogue of Books; An early peep at the Show; The Reform Bill.
The paper on Transatlantic Fetters gives a history of the rise and growth of Fenianism in America, and will repay a perusal. Published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, New York.

CROPS IN CALIFORNIA.—The wheat crop of the United States, which now promises to be immense, will be further swelled by a heavier contribution from California. The San Francisco Bulletin says: "Agricultural prospects are excellent. The grain crops in the valleys of the Sacramento, San Joaquin and Tulare, are generally in fine condition. It is believed a much greater breadth of land is put into wheat than there was last year. Confidence in the continuance of a large export demand, and the increased facilities for exporting flour, have encouraged our farmers, many of whom have put in crops of from 4,000 to 5,000 acres each. But we are glad to observe that while so much grain is being cultivated, more attention is also being paid to a variety of other products."

5.285, or above 5 1/4 inches.
The rain-gauge was examined every day at 7 o'clock P. M., and shows the quantity of rain that has fallen during the preceding 24 hours.
Belleville, 1st June, 1867.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company have agreed to grant every facility to those attending sports, &c. about to meet in Montreal, by issuing half-price tickets.

The 75th Highlanders and three other regiments are under orders for Canada to relieve other regiments stationed here, during the ensuing summer.

While we in Canada have experienced the coldest and most unusual weather in May for many years, the weather in England has been intensely hot. English papers of May 11th speak of the heat prevailing all over the island for three or four days. Several deaths occurred from sunstroke.

More Gold Discoveries.

A very important gold discovery was reported in Town last night, which if true, shows that other deposits as valuable as that of the Richardson mine, exist in the Hastings Gold District. The report as we have it from several sources, is that a pan of sand washed, yielded about $50 in gold.
The sand is unlike that from the Richardson mine, containing more gravel, and being browner in color, and the gold is lighter in color and scaly. For prudential reasons the discoverer is not willing to communicate information at present as to the locality where the gold was found. Several parties saw the gold washed, and as might be expected it created considerable excitement in Madoc.

We understand that in the township of Lake, a new and valuable discovery of gold was made not long since in the alluvial, and that while the surveyor was running a line in the northeast part of the township of Elzevir, some fine gold bearing quartz was discovered.

Now that there is a prospect of dry weather, mining operations will be proceeded in various directions with vigor, and we may expect to hear of more and important discoveries of the precious metal.

The celebrated Richardson mine Chancery case comes off at Colbourn, on Friday next, when there is every probability that the case will be finally settled.

Fenian News.

The Buffalo Express is decidedly of the opinion that the Fenians are preparing for another attack on Canada. It says:—

"Without any positive information that we are permitted to use, we feel at liberty to give our convictions as to what now is, and what may happen before June is half over.
The Fenian organization has greatly increased in perfectness and in strength during the past year. Its enrolled troops are no less than one hundred thousand men in all the United States—and the number may exceed that. These are conveniently located at points on the frontier unknown to us, but available for use at an hour's notice, all arms, munitions and stores that have avoided observation and attention on either side of the line. The Fenian Senators are now on the frontier, perfecting their arrangements with great secrecy and efficiency.
The officers who commanded the invading forces along the line last year, are with two exceptions on the alert, ready for service; while Gen. Spear is in Boston, and O'Neil is in Nashville, Tennessee, both doing val-ant service in the way of organization and preparation. At the appointed time, the frontier from Detroit to St. Albans will swarm with organized troops, both infantry and artillery. The Fenians of Buffalo have been idle since they made their unsuccessful attempt of last year. They are stronger and better armed and disciplined now than then. True, they lost several hundred muskets and accoutrements by the interference of the Government of the United States, which were returned under bonds, that they should not be used for hostile purposes against Canada, but a sale of these arms brought money, and money has bought other and much more effective weapons, which are now ready for use. A few days more will put the ball in motion, and unless the heavy hand of the Government is put upon the movement, lively times may be expected along this entire frontier before we are a month older."

The Ottawa Citizen of yesterday says it has no doubt the Fenians intend to make a bold dash upon the ball in motion. "We have received the most positive assurance from a reliable source that there was very strong probability of a demonstration being made before the lapse of many days."
We do not, however, think that there is any cause for great alarm, and in answer to the probability of an invasion being attempted we have no wish to create undue apprehension. Our object is simply to warn the people of a probable danger, as we have no desire that they shall be taken by surprise, as they were last year. If warning of ours can prepare them for the contingency. We believe, in fact we are certain, that the arrangements of the Government for procuring early intelligence of the movements of the Fenians are of an admirable nature, and if need arise, the regular and volunteer forces will be moved with the utmost promptitude to points which may be threatened."

The Ottawa Citizen of Saturday contains the following editorial paragraph in double-headed type: "We believe, on what we have reason to suppose good authority, that important information reached here yesterday respecting an intended demonstration of the Fenians. The particulars it would not, perhaps, be expedient at present to publish; but we think it well to mention that the calling out of a large portion of the Volunteer force, if not the entire body, is not an improbable event if not within a few hours, at least at a very early date. There is no doubt, we believe, that the Fenians are secretly congregating on the frontier, and that arms and ammunition are concealed at various points."

—There is a report from Fort Smith that five thousand Indians are in arms and are threatening the United States forts.

—The secret of a "haunted" house on West has just been discovered. A child's whistle was used as the means of a rattling window in an out-of-the-way room, which made strange noises on windy nights.

Mineralogy.

NUMBER V.

For the Daily Intelligencer.

In a former communication, I gave a few short and simple directions for distinguishing gold from other minerals which resemble it in outward appearance. Those directions are correct, and their action is infallible; but it has occurred to me, since I wrote them, that cases may occur in which they cannot be applied, and that it is therefore desirable that I should indicate some other means of distinction which may be resorted to when the former are inapplicable. For instance a miner may find a piece of quartz, or other rock, thickly studded with small particles of a glittering yellow substance, which he fondly hopes to be the "real stuff," but which are too minute to test in the manner prescribed in my first letter; or he may get a larger piece firmly imbedded in the stone, and may not wish to spoil the specimen by such rough treatment.

In such cases let him pour a small quantity of clear quicksilver into the hollow of his hand, and in it bathe or rub the subject of his experiment. If it is gold, it will instantly assume the colour and appearance of silver, from which it may be easily distinguished by its original aspect, by putting into it a drop of nitric acid, which will dissolve the mercury, and leave the gold untouched. This may be removed after a few seconds by washing in water, the identity of a gold established, and the specimen unharmed.

With respect to the value of the gold-bearing region which lies to the north of us, I am of opinion that between the Lake of the Thousand Islands and the Georgian Bay of Lake Huron, there stretches a belt of auriferous rocks, which form a tract of the Laurentian and Lower Silurian formation, including what Sir William Logan has designated as the Huronian system, over a great part of which gold will be found in richer or poorer quantities, and which is also rich in other metals and minerals, such as iron, copper, lead, antimony, bismuth, silver, whetstones, lithographic stone, phosphate of lime, yellow ochres and other colouring matters, &c. But the development of the region will be the aid of capital and science united with the application of regulated application of labour: for the face of the country seems to have suffered too severe a process of denudation, during the geological periods which have succeeded the epoch of its formation, to allow of any certain reward to the desultory efforts of those who rely solely upon their own exertions, with the aid of the pick, the shovel, and the washing pan. A few deposits of sand and gravel, and the occasional discovery of auriferous pebbles, prove to be rich in alluvial gold, but according to appearances they cannot be of great extent, and must soon become exhausted.

Even those too, who go to work in a more systematic manner, must be informed that it will not do to follow the old fashion of cranking the quartz, and amalgamating with simple mercury, and amalgamating but that in order to secure the best results, they must call in the aid of science, and obey the lessons of experience, which will teach them to adopt the method of extraction invented by Mr. Wyckoff, or that now in use among the practical miners of Colorado, both of which are founded on correct chemical principles, and operate in practice with the happiest results.

Wyckoff's process consists in crushing and roasting the "quartz" with a portion of common salt, and then placing it in a strong cylindrical vessel of cast iron, which is made to oscillate sixty times in a minute, and in which it is subjected to the action of mercury, and of a strong brine of common salt at a boiling heat. The heat is maintained by a jet of steam, which is made to pervade the mass and keep it in a state of constant agitation, driving the mercury through it in the shape of spray, so that every particle of gold, however minute, is brought in contact with it, and subjected to its influence.
This method has proved highly beneficial.
Mr. Wyckoff having extracted gold to the value of $180 per ton, from quartz which only gave $10 by the old process; and having taken from $50 to $120 in value from the "tailings" of the machines of the old plan. He states that by this process one man and a boy can manipulate a ton of crushed quartz every hour.

The Colorado process is somewhat different, requiring more time and less machinery.
According to this method, the quartz, after being crushed, is mixed with about a tenth of its own weight of common salt, and a quantity of clay equal to the whole; it is then tempered with water into a proper consistency, and moulded into bricks, which are piled and burnt in the usual manner.
After cooling, the bricks are broken into pieces, and put into a strong barrel, which contains a sufficient quantity of mercury and water, and a few cannon balls. This is made to revolve upon a horizontal axis, and the bricks to powder, and the quicksilver has taken up all the contained gold. The amalgam which results in either process is then treated in the usual manner, by straining the surplus mercury through leather, or closely wrought canvas, and dissipating the mercury by heat.

Both these methods are founded on the principle of liberating the gold by the action of the chlorine from the grasp of the sulphur and arsenic, which are got rid of in Wyckoff's process, by the action of the steam, and in the Colorado method, by their absorption by the alumina of the clay.

In my future communications, I shall treat of the other metals and minerals, which have come under my notice as existing in the rear townships.

Yours very truly,

JAMES T. BELL.

FROM BRIDGEWATER.

From our own Correspondent.

BRIDGEWATER, June 1st.

We have had some really fine weather at last and are beginning to hope it will continue.
There has not been much stir among miners
yet. I suppose they are like those people who were always running to aid the shepherd boy when he raised a false alarm of a wolf being among his sheep, and when the wolf really came, paid no attention to the cry for help, not knowing whether it was true or not, for we have really had so many small doses of sunshine, which have raised our expectations only to end in disappointment, that we hardly know whether to believe a fine day is a fine day till it is passed and gone.

Although I cannot give you mining news
I can inform you in a measure, of the "indications" of metal to be found in this Township, so far as I have been able to gather them. I should have done this on a larger scale had weather permitted.

That the Township of Elzevir has very promising indications of mineral wealth, no one can doubt, after an inspection over so many years. Take for instance, the fifth concession, as far as I have been able to ascertain, probable localities to find placer diggings, perhaps the best in Elzevir; in addition to which there are some good-sized quartz veins on the sides of hills and quartz pebbles, and black sand in the beds of the streams beside traces of copper. In the sixth concession there is at least one very promising lead of rusty quartz and some very good indications in other places, though some of the veins are so small that it would hardly be worth while to attach much importance to them while there are better prospects close by. In the seventh concession you will come across a rocky ridge traversed by three quartz veins, each several inches in width; it has every appearance of being gold-bearing quartz, and the veins are so small that it would hardly be

The War of 1812-14.

NUMBER 4. (From the Volunteer Review.)

The campaign of 1812 had closed satisfactorily for the British. The enemy had been defeated in every point, and experienced defeat as well as humiliation. With the pertinacity of the race from which he is descended, great efforts were made to repair disasters, and he was aided in no ordinary degree by the too armistices concluded between Provost and Dearborn, and between Sheaffe and Smythe. To the former of these was owing the navy supremacy which the Americans obtained on the Lakes Ontario and Champlain, and to the latter the preparation of that fleet which subsequently defeated Barclay on Lake Erie, enabled Smythe to reorganize the army on the Niagara frontier, and subjected that frontier to the aggressive efforts of that army at a later period.

Whatever causes led to those foolish arrangements, or with what sentimental or humane objects they were actuated, it is now needless to trace. Enough remains of the results arising therefrom to show that they led to the expenditure of much useless blood and treasure, and were most mischievous in their effects on the issues of the war. The campaign of 1813 opened most auspiciously for the British. On the 22nd of January, Proctor defeated General Winchester on the river Raisin, within twenty-six miles of Detroit, and captured himself and his whole command. As this was the advance of the army Gen. Harrison was collecting for the recovery of the Michigan territory, that object was frustrated. On the 22nd of February, Ogdenburgh was captured by Lieut. Col. McDowell, after a sharp contest, in which the Militia, especially the Glenary regiment, distinguished themselves. Meantime Gen. Dearborn had shifted his base of operations from Albany to Sackett's Harbor, and with a large fleet and army appeared off York on the 27th of April. This town, now Toronto, totally defenceless when assailed by land and water, was abandoned by Gen. Sheaffe after a short and spirited contest, in which the Speaker of the House of Assembly fell defending the country of whose senate he was Chief. Much blame has been attached to General Sheaffe for a disaster he could neither prevent or avert. It was evident that he performed his duty as a good soldier, and in preserving the remnants of his command, acted as a prudent general.

The enemy held possession of York till the 2nd of May, doing much wanton mischief, especially destroying the public buildings, and many private dwellings. Under convoy of their fleet, the whole army were transported to Niagara, while a squadron was detached to cruise off Kingston. General Vincent, who had succeeded to the command of the British troops, upon that an attack on Port George was inevitable, prepared to meet it with energy; but the overwhelming force opposed to him rendered a successful defence impossible, and after destroying the fort and public stores, he retreated to Queenstown with considerable loss. Having collected the whole of the force from Chippewa and Fort Erie, he retreated to Burlington, eight miles near the head of Lake Ontario. Thus the Niagara frontier was abandoned to the enemy as the fruits of a series of blunders accumulated in the history of modern warfare. To counterbalance these series of disasters, Sir James L. Yeo and Captain Barclay made a dash for Sackett's Harbor, and in the very moment of victory were ordered to abandon their conquest and re-embark the troops by Sir George Prevost, who accompanied them, and who appears to have been totally incompetent to exercise the functions of a general officer. Although so disgracefully disastrous, the effect of this affair was to paralyze the aggressive operations of the Americans on the Niagara frontier.

Meantime Harrison had received another check in his enterprise in the defeat of General Clay at Fort Meigs, on the River Miami, by the British under Proctor, who had laid siege to the fort, was surprised in his own works by the enemy, and with the help of the Militia and Indians blundered into a victory, which he tarnished by an uncalculated and premeditated retreat, without effecting the main object of his expedition.

General Dearborn, who now commanded on the Niagara frontier, pushed forward a body of 3000 infantry, 9 pieces of artillery, and 550 cavalry, to dislodge General Vincent, who, with a force of a little less than one-half that number, occupied Burlington Heights. A spirited night attack, planned and carried out by Lieut. Col. de Sir John Harvey, dispersed this force and captured its Generals. Another detachment of 600 men and 3 pieces of artillery surrendered to some 50 Militia soldiers and a few Indians, under the command of Lieut. Fitzgibbon.

These partial successes and the appearance of the British fleet on Lake Ontario reduced the enemy to the defensive, and cooped them up within a narrow space on the Niagara River, while during raids were made into their own territory by Lieut. Col. Clark, of the Militia, and Lieut. Col. Bishop, of the regular service. Meantime, Vincent's troops, numerically

To the Electors of the Eastern Division of the County of Hastings.

GENTLEMEN—Having been repeatedly requested by a large number of the electors in your Division to allow myself to become a candidate for the Commons of Canada at the ensuing election, I have consented to comply with their wishes.

To most of you I am personally known, but will take the first opportunity of seeing a many of the electors as my time will permit. My acts during the time I have been in Parliament are before you, and from them you will be enabled to judge of the future.

In the formation of the Union of the Provinces, I believed that it would have been more in accordance with the principles of our Government to have first submitted the proposition to the people for their approval, and so voted, but the motion for such reference having been defeated, I voted for the Union Act, and shall steadily use my exertions to carry it into effect, in order that this great Dominion may take that position in the world to which its extent and population entitle it.

Under the new order of things about to be established, new responsibilities will arise which I shall endeavor to discharge with the least expenditure consistent with efficiency, keeping steadily in view the great future before us, and shall only rest satisfied when the Dominion of Canada extends from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

In the adjustment of the tariff I shall endeavor to remove the burthens as much as possible from the producer, especially the Agricultural portion, suffering myself that my long business intercourse with them will enable me to arrive at such a conclusion as will be conducive to their interests.

I have the honor to be,
Your obt. servant,
ROBERT READ.

SYNOPSIS

GOLD MINING ACT OF 1864,

27 and 28 Vic. Chap. 9. and the

Gold Mining Amendment Act 1865,

29 Vic. Chap. 9.

THE Gold Mining Act of 1864 provides that Governor

in Council may erect Gold Mining Divisions.

Two Divisions erected in Lower Canada, Chapter

Gold Mining Division, Richard Pope, Esq., Gold Mining

Inspector, St. Francis de la Riviere, and St. Francis

Gold Mining Division, J. K. Gorman, Esq., Gold Mining

Inspector, St. Lawrence, 16th July, 1864, amended

20th July, 1864 and 22nd Sept., 1865.

21st March, 1867: "Quinn Gold Mining Division," constituting the Townships of Barre, Chatham, Palmerston, Miller and North and South Canotago in the County of Frontenac, the Townships of the County of

Renfrew, situated north of the Townships of Miller and Canotago, the Townships of the County of Hastings, situated west of the Townships of Sheffield and Barre, situated west of the Townships of Selkirk and Tyndung, the Township of Belmont, and the Townships in the County of Lennox and Addington, the Township of Belmont, Alfred Arty Campbell, Esq., of Belleville

Inspector.

No person to mine without a license.

Two kinds of licenses, one "Crown Lands Gold License,"

"$2 per month, for unworked Crown Lands, and the other "Private Lands Gold License," "$1 per month, for private lands, the miner first obtaining consent of the proprietor.

Crown Lands Gold License may stake out and work claim on unsold Crown Lands as follows:

ALLUVIAL MINES.

On a river or large creek, 20 feet front by 50 from the water's edge. On small creeks, 40 by 20 from centre of stream. In gully, 60 feet along same, and from hill to hill. On surface or hill side, 60 feet square. In case of hill land, officer may grant larger claim. In best soil river officer to determine size and position of claim.

QUARTZ MINES.

To each miner, 100 feet along lead by 100 on each side

from the centre of the lead. For companies, 20 feet

additional along lead for every additional miner, but not to exceed 600 feet altogether.

Claims to be classed by the officer, and to be laid out in quadrilateral and rectangular shapes, horizontal, and bounded under the surface by lines vertical to the horizon.

Crown Lands licensees to work continuously and renew license.

No person to occupy more than one claim on Crown

Lands at one time.

Licensees entitled to free license for one year in manner provided by Act.

Party walls to be left between claim on Crown Lands, removing party wall to construct a new one at that as there was already one license in the building as a tavern, and as it would inter-

Ode to Canada.

Canada faithful! Canada fair!
Canada, beautiful, blooming and rare!
Canada, happiest land of the earth!
Hail to thee, Canada! land of my birth!
Land of fair freedom, where bought not and sold.

Are sinews and sorrow, for silver and gold!
Land of broad lakes, sweet valleys and plains!
Land where justice for rich and poor reigns!
Land of tall forests, fabled rivers and hills!
Land where a people are happy and free—
Where is the land that is like unto thee!
Thou hast for the stranger that seeketh thy shore.

A smile, and a cheer, and a welcome in store;
The needy, the weary, and the weary poor;
A home for thy friends; and a grave for thy foe.
Thy nobles are those who riches in store
Is the wealth of the soul, and the heart's hidden love.
They cringe to no master, they bow to no lord
Save Heaven's, each night and each morning adored.

Land of swift rivers, sweet-sliding along!
Land of my pride, and land of my song!
Canada, prosperous! Canada, true!
Canada loyal, and virtuous, too!
Canada, happiest land of the earth!
Hail thee, forever, sweet land of my birth!

A Sad Case of Seduction.

(From the Chicago Times.)
An interesting case of seduction and subsequent desertion, one of the parties to which is at present a resident in Chicago, came before the police court yesterday morning. It is the oft-told story of youthful trust on the one part and heartless villainy on the other. Captain Kennedy, of the second precinct police, lately became aware that a young woman was residing within his jurisdiction, the mother of a more than fatherless child, who was unable to support herself and babe, being consumptive, very ill, and without means or friends. The child was also sick, and in need of nursing. He at once pointed Captain Kennedy heard of her. He at once had the girl brought before him. When questioned, she substantiated the statements he had heard regarding her intentions, and begged piteously, with tears in her eyes, to be allowed to stay only for a short period, of the present burden which was fast dragging her down to her grave.

The officer had but one course before him. Yesterday forenoon he brought her before police magistrate J. L. Milliken, when she related her simple but touching experience in the following words:

"I am a native of Canada and am about sixteen years of age; my friends reside near Chatham, Canada West, and up to last July I made my home with my uncle, a well-to-do farmer of that place; my name is Susan Monroe. I have no father or mother since the death of my parents. I have been constantly a member of uncle's family; while receiving my education I became acquainted with James Clifford, a school teacher; we became very much attached to each other; he befriended me, and my uncle's house; he was generally held in high esteem by all who knew him, and my relatives seemed to look upon him as definitely settled upon. It is impossible to tell, being fatherless and motherless, I was not as carefully guarded against the wiles of men of the world as I should have been. To make a long story short, under promise of speedy marriage he succeeded in accomplishing my ruin. My uncle's people were not suspicious. But a time came when my condition could no longer be concealed, and all became acquainted with the state of the case. My uncle met Clifford and demanded that he should make full reparation, that he should marry me. He appeared to consent, but wanted the marriage ceremony to take place in this State, where he claimed he had a sister residing. In accordance with his wish, my friends consented that I should come to West with him and become his wife. I soon left my home and all the friends and relatives I had in the world, fully trusting in Clifford, and came to Chicago in his company. We reached this place in July last. After remaining with me a couple of weeks, Clifford, without a word of explanation, or warning, and without stating of intending his intention, left me and went away from this city. I waited day after day, supposing and trusting that he would come back to me. I was long in realizing that I had been duped, that I had been deceived, that I was alone in a strange country. I at once commenced to look for work, and succeeded in obtaining chamber work at the City Hotel. The labor was too severe for my health, and I had to quit. I then began to see that I was not able to support myself. I made application to the Boring Woman's Refuge, was received, and maintained for a time."

G. F. BAILEY &amp; CO'S

Metropolitan Quadruple Combination.

COMPRISING under ONE COLOSSAL CANVAS

the varied and comprehensive attraction of FOUR complete exhibitions, will exhibit at Belleville, on Thursday, June 20.

FIRST.

G. C. QUICK'S COLOSSAL HIPPOPOTAMUS

Recognized and acknowledged by Naturalists and Biologists as being identical with the "Behemoth of Holy Writ, and of which it is spoken in the Book of Job, 40: 15 and 41: 18." He is chief of the ways of God. "Upon Earth there is not his like."

SECOND.

Geo. F. Bailey &amp; Co's Large and Comprehensive Menagerie,

Comprising the finest, most extensive and varied collection of living species of Natural History ever exhibited; many of which are the only ones of the species in America. The following is a partial list of the collection:

Gigantic Hippopotamus, Four Performing

Elephants, Turtar Yak, Asiatic Tiger, Black

Tiger, Six Enormous Lions, Den of Trained

Lions, Cape of Leopards, White Bear, Poonah, or Sloth Bear, Kangaroo, Sacred Cattle from

India, Egyptian Ichneumon, Crested Cockatoo, Golden Pheasants, Silver Pheasants, South

American Parrots, Spanish Macaw, African

Parrots, Monkeys, Apes, Baboons, and a host of minor animals.

THIRD.

Sands, Nathan &amp; Co's

PERFORMING ELEPHANTS, "ANTONY

AND CLEOPATRA."

FOURTH.

Neville's Great Australian Circus,

Forming the following brilliant constellation of Foreign and Native Stars—a grand Alliance of Talent from the most noted Arenas of both Hemispheres.

JAS. MELVILLE, the unparalleled Australian Equestrian, Mrs. MELVILLE, the graceful Australian Equestrienne, Mrs. SHOWLER, the great Female Horse Trainer, J. SHOWLER, the Antipodean Rider, GEO. MELVILLE, the Young Protean Clown, FRANK MELVILLE, the dashing Juvenile Equestrian, WM. KINCAID, the Man of a Hundred, Summerhall, SHEPHERD WHITNEY, the Champion Master of the Taper, JAS. REYNOLDS, the most refined as well as humorous Clown in the Profession, LEE POWELL, the great American Jester, Humorist and Grappler, CHAS. ROBINSON, Equestrian and Gymnast, MISS PERAZZINI, the Feature Wonder and Anatomical Paradox, Together with an immense troupe of Tumblers, Acrobats, Tightrope Walkers, and a magnificent Imperial Band of Performing Horns and Pipes, including the COMIC TRICK MULES, introduced by Mr. J. Sharkey.

To these multifarious attractions, has just been added A BABY ELEPHANT and its mother, imported this spring direct from Africa, also, two British Camels and a Peruvian Lama.

The varied attractions will be exhibited under one stupendous Pavilion, for the same price of admission, making it the cheapest and best as well as the most interesting exhibition extant.

This antediluvian collection will enter town about 10 A.M. in the GRAND PROCESSION, headed by the Imperial Band, drawn by a team of six elephants, and accompanied by Prof. Walker's Metropolitan Opera Band.

Doors open at 2 and 7 P.M. Performance to commence a half-hour later. Admission 40 cents. Children under 10 years, 20 cents. C. H. FARNWORTH, Agent.

SYNOPSIS

GOLD MINING ACT OF 1864,

27 and 28 Vic. Chap. 9, and the

Gold Mining Amendment Act 1865,

29 Vic. Chap. 9.

THE Gold Mining Act of 1864 provides that Governor

in Council may erect Gold Mining Divisions.

Two Divisions erected in Lower Canada: "Chaudiere

Gold Mining Division," Richard Pope, Esq., Gold Mining Inspector, St. Francis de la Riviere, and St. Francis Gold Mining Division," J. K. Gilmour, Esq., Gold

Mining Inspector, Stantard, 16th July, 1864, amended

30th July, 1864 and 24th Sept., 1865.

One Division erected in Upper Canada by Proclamation, 1st March, 1867: "Queen's Gold Mining Division," constituting the Townships of Barrie, Clarendon, Palmerston, Miller, and North and South, in the County of Frontenac, the Townships in the County of Renfrew, situated in the Townships of Miller and Canrobert, the Townships in the County of Addington, situated north of the Townships of Sherbrooke and Barrie, the Townships of Sudbury, Thurlow and Tyndungton,

the Township of Huron, and the Township in the

of Belmont, Alfred Argyle Campbell, Esq., or Belleville

Inspector.

No person to mine without a license.

Two kinds of licenses, one "Crown Lands Gold Licence," $2 per month, for Gold Crown Lands, and the other "Private Lands Gold License," $1 per month, for private lands, in the case of the consent of the proprietor.

Crown Lands Gold License may make out and work claim on unoccupied Crown Lands as follows:

QUARTZ MINES.

On a river or large creek, 20 feet front by 80 from the water's edge. On small creeks, 40 by 80 from centre of stream. In gully, 60 feet along same, and from hill to hill. On surface of hill, 80 feet square. In case of hill tunnel, other may grant larger claim. In bed on river or to determine size and position of claim.

A Talk About Cheese.

THURINGIA CHEESE.
(From the Evening Post.)

In Saxony they manufacture a very palatable cheese from the milk of a single cow and a patch of potatoes, in this way. The potatoes are boiled until thoroughly cooked through, then mashed, and to four pounds of potatoes add one quart of thick sour milk, with salt enough to season, and knead the mass thoroughly as you would a batch of bread dough. Let it stand in bulk four days. Then give it another vigorous kneading, divide into balls of three or five pounds weight, press these with the hand as compactly as possible into small baskets, and dry in summer in the shade, in winter by the fireplace or stove. When thoroughly dry, put the cheese into tin cans, and set by for use in a cool dry place, and they will keep in capital condition years.

SKIM-MILK CHEESE.
In all tropical countries these made of skim-milk, and of small size, keep far better, and are always more in demand, than the great new or whole milk monsters of from fifty to one hundred pounds, that the hot weather melts into mush, and very few people care to purchase. Skim-milk cheese, made small and thin, weighing from ten to twenty pounds, may be profitably manufactured by all our butter dairy men and women the year around, and as they require none of the bandaging and fussing over to keep them where and what they ought to be, it will pay largely those who conduct a butter dairy, either large or small, to turn their skim-milk into cheese. It will sell readily and rapidly, paying far better than "smearcase."

ADAM CHEESE.
Thus far the Netherlands have maintained the "call" of the markets, supplying the civilized world with what is properly known as "pine-apple cheese." Very excellent cheese it is. Too—this Dutch cheese, apple keeping in all climates capital, and always commanding ready sale at good prices. This is the Hollander's formula for making Adam cheese. It is simple enough, and the Holland pine-apple may just as easily be made in the United States, where four or five cows are kept, as at the Netherlands.

The fresh, sweet milk is curdled with muriatic acid or spirits of salt, and the curd cut and chopped and manipulated in the most thorough manner in order to expel every particle of whey; the curd is then soaked in a brine of sufficient strength to float an egg, for an hour. The brine is then worked out, and the curd subjected to a heavy pressure in iron moulds, to give the pine-apple form to the cheese. After from four to five hours pressure, the cheese is taken out and anointed with soft butter having as much fine salt worked into it as it will hold. This finished up, are set singly in rows on shelves in a cool airy place, and with a month's curing are in a fit condition to send abroad, and will keep for years in any climate.

The largest of these Dutch cheese never exceeds 44 pounds in weight, to make one of which it requires about six gallons of milk. So at any farm house where three or four cows only are kept, an Adam cheese may be made every day without interfering with other duties, and aggregate for a year would make a very respectable increase of income.

PARMANSAN CHEESE.
This cheese, celebrated for its delicious flavour and beautiful, elastic texture, is made in that Italian territory called the Ledean district, lying between Lodi and Cremona, and comprising the richest grazing portion of the Milanese department. The cows from which the Parmansan cheese is made are always kept closely guarded, and fed all the year round with green food. As the weight of these Italian cheese ranges from 150 to 300 pounds, of course there are no individual dairies that afford sufficient milk to make one, and so a whole community of Parmansan farmers club together—putting in their milk and making a cheese for the market, and then another, until every member of the company is supplied with a cheese weighing from 160 to 200 lbs., according to the quantity of milk contributed.

This Parmansan cheese combination is most likable in the United States. There are similar confederacies in two or three of the provinces of France, and at least in Switzerland, at which the famous cheese of Neuchâtel and Gruyere is manufactured.

SOME interesting experiments with Palmetto shot and shell have lately been made at Shoeburyness in the presence of several foreign officers. The strongest and thickest armour which could possibly be made was pierced with ease, and it was proved beyond a doubt that any iron ship now afloat must yield before Palmetto shells.

The Belfast newspaper announces with satisfaction the Commission have given an order to a firm of iron shipbuilders of this port for a new gun vessel. This will be, they say, the first vessel of war built in Ireland.

BROWN'S FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP,

FRONT STREET, BELLEVILLE.
G. & J. BROWN.

Founders and Machinists,
RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they are still manufacturing
All kinds of Machinery.
in connection with
FLOUR, GRIST, SAW AND OTHER MILL FURNISHINGS, &c., &c.

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines of any capacity, Engine and Wood Lathes, Iron and Wood Planers, Shaper-Machines of various patterns; also, Agricultural Implements of the most improved style and make. Their Horse Powers and Threshing Machines, with or without cleaners, are unsurpassed.

Brown's Ploughs are admitted to be of the most improved style and manufacture. They consist of some of the best patterns, and their celebrated STEEL PLOUGH is the best in the country.

Amongst their other machines may be enumerated Horse Hoes, Cultivators, Harrows, Churns, Corn and Drill Ploughs, Seed Sowers, Rollers, Straw Cutters and Stump Machines, and improved Grain Grinders and Mills.

In the Stove Department
They are unequalled. They continue to manufacture Box, Parlor and Cooking Stoves of various descriptions, and their improved "Northern Farmer" Cooking Stove is without a rival for farmer's use.

Potash Kettles cast in loam, lip up, of various sizes and of the best material.

Gold Crushers
Of the newest style and patterns made to order.

Their facilities for manufacturing are such as to enable them to successfully compete with any similar establishment in the Province.

Every description of patterns made to order. Repairing done on the shortest notice. All kinds of Brass Castings made to order.

Belleville, May 1 1D4f

The Daily Intelligencer.

WILL appear about five o'clock every afternoon (Sundays excepted) and will be furnished by Carriers at the rate of $2 a year if paid in advance, $5 otherwise. Mail subscribers $5 a year. $2 50 for 6 months; $1 50 for 3 months.

It will contain the latest telegraphic news up to the hour of going to press, including Cable despatches and the New York and Montreal Markets.

Arrangements have been made with RELIABLE Correspondents in Madoc, Bridgewater, Madoc and other points, who will furnish us with early and full information respecting the Gold Regions, and of matters of general interest.

Special attention will be paid to reporting the proceedings of Courts of Law, Corporations, Public Meetings, &c., &c., and in short, neither pains nor expense will be spared to make the DAILY INTELLIGENCER worthy of public patronage.

A large circulation has already been obtained for it, not only in Belleville, but in the various villages in the County. Arrangements have been perfected by which the paper can be obtained in Madoc the next morning after publication, at Eldorado the next afternoon, and at the other villages a few hours after its issue from the press.

As thousands of strangers will flock to the gold regions this spring and Summer, it is expected that several hundred copies will be sold daily in addition to those sent to regular subscribers. It will therefore present unrivalled advantages for general advertising.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.
A liberal scale of prices for advertisements here arranged as follows:

"BUSINESS NOTICES"—All matter under this heading, headed or solid, 10 cents per line, measured by a scale of solid million.

Advertisers contracting for any space not less than half a square can have the privilege of changing their advertisements every two weeks. Transient advertisements inserted at 7 cents per line for first insertion, and 2 cents for each additional insertion.

The Weekly Intelligencer
Is published every Friday Morning at $2 per annum if called for at the Office, or sent by mail, and $2 50 if delivered by the Carrier, payable in all cases in advance. When not paid until the close of the year, 50 cents will be added to each year's subscription. No paper discontinued until arrears are paid up, except at the option of the Publisher.

Within the past three months its circulation has rapidly increased, and the number now on our Subscription Books over 1,400. With such a large and general circulation throughout this and adjoining Counties, the WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER presents unsurpassed advantages to advertisers.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

The Old Canoe.

Where the rocks are gray and the shore is steep,
And the waters below look dark and deep;
Where the rugged pine in its lonely pride
Leans gloomily over the muddy tide
Where the reeds and rushes are tall and rank,
And the weeds grow thick on the winding bank,
Where the shadow is heavy the whole day through,
Lies at its moorings the old canoe.

The useless paddles are fully dropped,
Like a sea-bird's wings that the storm has loosed,
And crossed on the railing one o'er one,
Like folded hands when the work is done;
While busily back and forth between
The spider stretches his silvery screen,
And the solemn owl with his dull "hoo," Nestles down on the side of the old canoe.

The stern, half sunk in the slimy wave,
Rots slowly away in its living grave,
And the green moss creeps o'er its dull decay,
Hiding the mouldering dust away.
Like the hand that plants o'er the tomb a flower,
O'er the ivy that mantles a fallen tower,
While many a blossom of liveliest hue
Springs up o'er the stern of the old canoe.

The currentless waters are dead and still—
But the light winds play with the boat at will,
And lazily in and out again,
It dozes the length of its rusty chain,
And the weary march of the hands of time,
That meet and part at the moonlight shine,
And there are kissed at each turn anew
By the dripping bow of the old canoe.

Oh, many a time with a careless hand
I've pushed it away from the pebbly strand,
And paddled it down where the stream ran quick,
Where the whirled waters were wild and the stones were thick;
And laughed as I landed o'er the rushing tide,
And looked back in the broken tide,
To see that the face and body were two
Time were mirrored back from the old canoe.

But now, as I lean o'er the crumbling side,
And look below in the sluggish tide,
The face that I see is grayer grown,
And the length of time has a sober tone,
And the hands that lean to the light turn wings.

Wings grown familiar with stem and lance,
But I love to think of the hours that flew,
As I looked where the whirled water spray threw,
Ere the blossoms moved or the green grass grew,
O'er the mouldering stern of the old canoe.

The "Richmond Examiner" on England.

The following article, which we copy from the Richmond (Virginia) Examiner, we commend to the earnest attention of our readers:—

Some of our contemporaries, having assumed that Great Britain is rapidly waning in power and influence, manifest a spirit of excitation and triumph at the idea which would seem to indicate that England is never to be forgiven by Americans for putting down the rebellion of 1776. There appears, in fact, to exist in many American minds a rankling sentiment of vindictive ness and spite towards the British nation, and a strong desire to see her humbled, either by our own country, or by any country, no matter which, so the humbling be thoroughly effected.

It seems to us that such sentiments are beneath the dignity of many nations, and unworthy of educated and self-respecting Americans. To cherish resentment against England for anything in the past is puerile and absurd. If she undertook to put down our rebellion, we avenged ourselves by success. Let the dead past bury its dead. We are the children of England, and that parentage is our proudest boast. Through it we derive all in our character and history that is worth having. Through her blood in our veins we have been able to whip her by sea and land. From her loins spring all the great founders of our liberties. Our John Smiths, George Washingtons, Nathaniel Greenes, John Marshallas, John Hancocks, our Leases, Warrens, Adamses, Madisons were all her lineal descendants.
Our laws are taken bodily from her statute books; her Cokes and Blackstones sit supreme in our courts and our law officers;
our liberties—the birthright of Englishmen and Americans—were won by centuries of struggle, revolutions and steady, unintermittent royal prerogative in the motherland. We ought to be proud of such an ancestry; if we are not grateful for the importance of law, liberty and literature we have derived from it, and of the courage, pith and enterprise which our English blood has given us, we ought at least to abstain from defiling the nest where we were hatched. We know not whether the sentiment is a popular one, and we certainly do not care, but in our opinion, there is no country in the Old World whose greatness and prosperity ought to be more desired by Americans, on whose overthrow ought to cause us as much sorrow and humiliation. Why not be proud of our ancestry which has produced such men as England has produced, from SAXON ALFRED down to what legislators? What philosophers? What judges? What theologians?
What statesmen? What poets? What warriors? What sea-king? What a nation heroes, whose very Queen, in the hour of England's greatest danger, put herself at the head of the battle array, and addressed the soldiers and gentlemen about her in these right royal words: "I know that I am but a feeble woman, but I have the heart of a king; aye, and of a king of England, too."

Nor need the enemies of England lay the flattery declining to their souls, that she is rapidly declining in influence and power. That she is actually losing her power, and losing the entrance to quarrels is true enough; but it is only proof that she has proved by the teachings of experience. She has learned that war does not pay, but that peace does, and if, while other nations are dazling the eyes of fools by brandishing their swords on the slightest provocation, she steadily confines herself to that productive industry, which creates the sinews of war; she demonstrates her superior discernment of the true elements of national strength and power.

England might have taken sides in the late civil war in the United States, but she did not, many people say because she was afraid! But, during all those four dreary years, she swallowed up our commerce, and has got such a start of us that it will be long before we can recover the ground we have lost. We infer from the fact of England's keeping out of foreign wars, exactly the opposite of what her depreciators imagine. If her standing army is small, it is very nearly as large as it was when she first became involved in the great war with Napoleon. If she has no soldiers, she has money enough to buy up, as many as she wants. She is the richest nation in the world. The commerce of the whole world comes to her. Asia, America, Africa, Europe—is tributary to her. New York is but a suburb of London; California is one of her Western Indian provinces, pouring its annual tide of gold into her swollen coffers. All nations go to her to borrow money. Germans, Russians, Turks, Spaniards, Americans—all go to borrow money, either for the engineery of war, or to build railroads, public works, and other machinery of peace. She lends them all money; she pays the interest on her national debt of eight hundred millions pounds sterling; she spends, we know not how many hundred millions more upon her magnificent system of internal improvements, she throws away countless treasures upon all the little republics and revolutionists in South America and Europe, and then has money left to lend to the nations that do with. It is an old story that she is "the sun never sets upon her dominions," but it is still true, and there is no ocean that is not vexed by the keels of her ships. If her iron clad fleet is not equal at this moment to that of some other countries, it is because she is watching the various experiments, and knows that she has men and means enough, when the best models are ascertained, to distance all competitors. So far from declining in power, we believe that by prudent husbandry of her resources, she is at this moment the most powerful empire on the face of the earth, and there is no nation in Europe whose alliance is more valuable, or whose enmity more dangerous to the United States.

The English, we know, are pretty generally hated, both in England and America; but that is partly because the successful are always hated, and partly on account of the arrogance and snobishness of the lower order of English travelers in foreign countries. No nation ought to be judged by its vulgarisms and its snobs. The world has a superior type of humanity, intellectually, morally and physically, to the true English gentleman; no women more virtuous, beautiful and womanly; no homes more worthy of the name of homes. Let others denigrate and vilify the land of our forefathers as they will. For us, we are proud of it. We wish it all manner of happiness and glory. We should regard its downfall among the nations as a disastrous and final eclipse of the civil and religious liberties of mankind.

A Horrible Voyage.

Since the time, when the Ancient Mariner told the terrible tale of the curse laden ship with her crew of ghastly corpses, no more thrilling story of the sea has been related than that of the whale ship "Diana," that recently drifted into one of the Shetland Islands.

A year ago she left the Shetlands on a whaling voyage to the Arctic Regions, having on board fifty men. From that time nothing more was heard of her. The friends of those on board became alarmed. Money was raised and premiums offered for the first vessel that would bring tidings of the missing ship, but all to no avail. Hope was almost abandoned.

On the 2nd of April the people near Roma's Voe, in one of the Shetland Isles, were startled at seeing a ghastly wreck of a ship sailing into the harbour. Battered and ice-crushed, sails and cordage cut away, boats and sparrows of fuel in the terrible Arctic winter, her decks covered with dead and dying, the long lost "Diana," sailed in like a ship from Deadman's Land. Fifty men sailed out of Lerwick in her on a bright May morning last year. All the fifty came back on her on the 2nd of April, this year; the same, yet how different.

Ten men of whom the captain was one, lay stiff corpses on the deck; thirty-five lay hopelessly sick, and some dying; two retained sufficient strength to creep ashore, and the other three crawled feebly above the deck. The ship was boarded by the islanders, and as they climbed over the bulwarks, the man at the wheel fainted from excitement; one of the sick men died, as he lay, his death being announced by the fellow companion of his berth feebly moaning, "take away this dead man." On the bridge of the vessel lay the body of the captain, as it had lain for four months, with nine of his dead shipmates by his side, all decently laid out by those who soon expected to share their fate.

The survivors could not bear to sink the bodies of their comrades into the sea, but kept them so that when the last man died, the fated ship that had become their common home should be their common tomb.

The surgeon of the ship worked faithfully to the last, but cold, hunger, scurvy and dysentery were too much for him. The brave old captain was the first victim, and, by one, until the ship was tenanted only by the dead and dying. One night more at sea would have left the "Diana," a floating coffin. Not one of the fifty would have lived to tell the ghastly tale.

The Richardson Mine Case.

A special telegram from Cobourg this evening states that the Richardson Mine case was called at 5 p. m. Counsel for plaintiffs intimated that negotiations towards a settlement were in progress, and asked for one hour.

The Court therefore adjourned until tomorrow morning.

DAMAGE TO THE WELLAND CANAL.—A telegram received from St. Catharines, says: "The propeller East, bound down, carried away four gates of lock No. 17 this afternoon. The boat is jammed in the lock and leaking."

OUR MADOC SUBSCRIBERS.—We were not aware until to-day that there was any irregularity in the delivery of the Daily in Madoc. The irregularity was occasioned by the carelessness of the Stage Driver here. Arrangements have been made by which such irregularities will not occur in future.

BILLIARD MATCH.—The great billiard match between Dion and McDewitt, takes place at Montreal this evening. It will be seen by advertisement that May and Davis, at the Dufosse, have made arrangements to receive reports of the game every half hour by telegraph.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.—We learn that the officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the Trenton Battery of Garrison Artillery intend having a moonlight excursion down the Bay on Thursday evening next, the 13th inst., on the steamer Empress. The Band of the Company will be in attendance also a quadrille band. They extend a cordial invitation to the Belleville people. The Empress will call at Belleville about 7:50, and proceed down the Bay, returning about 11:50. Tickets 25 cents.

HON. J. A. MACDONALD.—This gentleman arrived at Toronto on Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. It was expected he would have reached Toronto early in the morning, and at eight o'clock some four hundred volunteers were in attendance, accompanied by the bands of the Queen's Own, Royals, and the Grand Trunk Battalion. A telegram having been received that he would not reach Toronto until in the afternoon, the volunteers were dismissed. Upon his arrival a large number of citizens, numbering over a thousand persons, were at the wharf and cheered him as he landed. This afternoon at two o'clock, a congratulatory address was presented to the Hon. gentleman, by the Mayor on behalf of the Corporation.

GRUOPS IN THE UNITED STATES.—The New York Journal of Commerce says: "never before in the history of the country have the crops given such promise of plenty. The hay crop, one of the most valuable, is now beyond reach of any ordinary calamity, and the yield will be unprecedented. The same may be said of the wheat and the corn crops." The same paper says: "The effect of such a supply upon the finances of the country will be almost magical, unless counterbalanced by the grossest mismanagement of national affairs. We have seen a statement in print, intended to show that it made little difference to the country whether the yield of any species of crop was large or small, since the price was enhanced by scarcity, and as much was obtained for a small return as a large one. This sophistry is too transparent to need refutation. The relief to all classes of labourers and producers to be found in the overflowing abundance now promised, never came at a time when it was more sorely needed. It should be accepted with devout gratitude, and a due acknowledgment of its divine origin. No heart should be untouched by the teeming bounty which breaks in so signally upon the general dependency."

—The premiers of the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick Governments, the Hon. Messrs. Tupper and Tilley, will arrive at Ottawa during the present week, to assist in the final arrangements for the ushering in of the Confederation, and the organization of the new Dominion.

New Gold Discoveries.

Mr. George W. Perkins, a practical miner, who has been employed for the last four weeks in prospecting, examining quartz, and sinking shafts on lots in Elzevir and Madoc, has just returned and states that he found gold in quartz on Lot 13 in the 1st concession of Elzevir and also on part of Lot 7 in the 5th concession of Madoc, known as the McIntosh lot. In order that the reality of the report should not be questioned, Mr. Perkins went before A. H. Wallbridge, Esq., a commissioner, &c., and made affidavit to the above facts.

Mr. Howe's Position.

The Hon. Joseph Howe has made another speech, and this time he exhibits himself in a character which must forever stamp his name with infamy. He is fond of word-painting, and some months ago, when he gave publicity to the following sentiment, but very little importance was attached to it. He said, "Canadian dominion (i.e., confederation) would be as distasteful as Austrian domination was to Switzerland, and if established over our people without their sanction, a Gaster from the St. Lawrence might occasionally hear the crack of a rifle, and be reminded that 'men think of their bullets when their franchises are denied.'" But this language of Mr. Howe evidently has a more serious meaning than was then attached to it. He has since repeated it in a more offensive form, using language which shows that rather than submit to a Union of the Provinces, he would plunge the country into a fratricidal war. Hear what he said in his last published speech:

"If the Canadians continue to refuse us justice we will see what is to be done next, but sufficient for the day is the evil thereof. I may be mistaken and I trust I am, but believe that under this arrangement £100,000 will be dragged out of the revenues of Nova Scotia every year and spent abroad. I am not sure that we will be content to bear it until we are reduced to milk and potatoes; before that comes we will take up our rifles. But I do say that what has happened to Ireland—the drawing of the life blood out of her—is just what is likely to happen to us. How long we will bear it is not the question now."

"God help us, if our prosperity be like that! I believe from the bottom of my heart that this union will be disastrous. At present we have the control of our revenue, our trade, and all our own affairs."

"A Voice!—Let us hold it." "Mr. Howe continued: 'Aye, hold it I would; and I have no hesitation in saying that if I were not for my respect for the British flag and my allegiance to my Sovereign, I would have the British forces withdrawn from the country, and this issue were left to be tried out between the Canadians and ourselves. I would take my son I have and die on the frontier, before I would submit to this outrage.'—(Cheers.) But it seems we have got to live in it some shape. I am not afraid of the action of my countrymen, but I look on the future with apprehension. We will, however, do our duty like men and Nova Scotians. We will stand that still; we will wear the Mayflowers in our button holes, and look after the interests of Nova Scotia."

This is the man with whom the Hon. George Brown is in league to organize an opposition party to the present Coalition Government. Are the people of Ontario willing to accept him as one of their leaders in the Confederate Parliament? We fancy they have too much respect for themselves, too fond an attachment to British institutions, too great a love for the red cross flag of England, to give any countenance to such hot-headed agitators and revolutionaries. Are the people of the Hon. Joseph Howe or the Hon. George Brown.

Westleyan Methodist Conference.

The afternoon Session of Friday was chiefly occupied in considering the answer of the British Conference to the address of the Canada Conference. From this document we observe that the Sunday Schools in connection with the British Conference continue to improve in discipline and efficiency, and now number upwards of 540,000 scholars. In their day schools there are 93,194 scholars. A large amount of surplus chapel income—no less than £14,000, has been during the year contributed towards the maintenance of members of the Society, with $50,18 on trial, showing an increase of 356 in the year.

The theological examination of those who were to be admitted into full connection, was conducted by Rev. Dr. Jeffers. In the evening the interesting service of ordination was conducted. The following are the young men who were received into full connection and ordained: Thos. Colling, J. H. Keppel, Egerton R. Young, Robert Waddell, Jacob Freshman, and John Burwash. Interesting addresses were afterwards given by several prominent clergymen. The occasion was one of deep interest to all present.

On Saturday several resolutions relating to Church management were adopted. The resolution respecting the use of unfornemented wine at the Sacrament formerly passed by the Conference, was re-affirmed. On going over the list of ministers it was found that during the year eight had died. Their names are as follows:—Rev. Dr. Horace Dean, Robert Shaw, O. H. Ellsworth, John Black, Geo. F. Playter, Thomas Campbell, Harry Beeson, and Samuel Cairns. A statement was made respecting the membership of the Church, from which it appeared that last year the members were 55,768, this year 58,360. Increase 1501.

Church of Scotland.

A considerable portion of Friday, the third day of the session, was occupied in discussing church polity, the form of process for calling and settling of ministers, and the bursary scheme. An interesting report on Sabbath Schools from the Agent, who, during the year visited every congregation within the Synod's bounds, was read. The report shows that in the year 1866, there were in connection with the Sabbath Schools of the Church 981 teachers, and 8,393 scholars, being an increase of 587 scholars, and 112 teachers over the previous year. A very interesting fact in connection with the work of Sabbath Schools appears in the report. It seems that the young of the various congregations of the Church have contributed during the year a sum sufficient for the support, clothing and education of 33 orphans in India. The report urges that while foreign missionary work is so well looked after, that more be done to promote the cause of Home missions. It was resolved that the next Synod be held in Kingston, on the first Tuesday of June, 1868.

Canada Presbyterian Church.

On Saturday the first business that came before the Synod, was a communication from the Primitive Methodist Conference, now in session in Toronto, conveying cordial fraternal greetings. It produced such an effect in the Synod, that it forthwith appointed Rev. Dr. Burns and Rev. Mr. King, as deputies to the Conference, to reciprocate the good feeling expressed by the Conference. The Synod was occupied the remainder of the day in considering returns to remits of the Synod.

Congregational Union.

Friday afternoon session was chiefly occupied in receiving and discussing reports. A paper was read on the "conduct of Public Worship." It created considerable discussion, and some of the ministers argued in favor of a modified liturgy. In the evening the Annual Missionary Meeting was held. From the reports submitted to the meeting it appears that the sum of $4,500 had been raised by the Missionary Society during the year, and that $6000 had been expended. A report of the state of the Church showed a membership of 3,554; number of places of worship, 78; increase of the membership during the year 146. For all religious purposes the sum of $54,100 had been raised in 55 churches.

Saturday forenoon the claims of the French Canadian Missionary Society were considered, and the question of the Congregational College was taken up, and steps taken to increase its efficiency.

Editorial Summary.

—A white fish was caught in Niagara River the other day, which weighed 17 lbs.

—Lake Ontario is five feet higher than it was at this time last year.

It is expected that the Greenian will resume her trips about the 1st of July.

—Hydrophobia has appeared among the dogs in Kingston. One mad dog has bitten more than a dozen dogs.

—George Baptist of Three Rivers, the largest lumberer on the St. Maurice, has sold his mills, plant, &c., to an American firm for $800,000 in greenbacks.

—Late advices from Brazil give information that cholera has broken out at Buenos Ayres, and at all the towns on the coast as far as Corrientes.

—Notice is given the Canada Gazette of application for charter by Messrs. Alex. Cowan, Montreal; John B. J. Robinson, Newark, N. J.; H. A. Hogel, New York; L. N. Benjamin, and John J. Fish, Montreal; the Company to be called "Dominion of Canada Chemical Works," for the purpose of manufacturing sulphuric acid, &c., at Brockville; the capital to be $50,000, in five hundred shares of $100, all of which is subscribed.

—The British and Foreign Bible Society circulated two millions three hundred and eighty copies of the Bible and portions of the Bible during the last year. From the commencement of the Society, fifty-two million copies have been distributed by kindred societies which have sprung from it, or have been aided by it. These have been printed in one hundred and thirteen different versions.

—The London Times of the 30th ult., says:—"An order has been received at Chatham Garrison directing the following detachments to be held in readiness for embarkation for Canada and Nova Scotia to reinforce the troops serving in British North America: 70 non-commissioned officers and men of the 20th Regiment, 91 non-commissioned officers and men of the 1st battalion of the 2nd Regiment, and 71 non-commissioned officers and men of the 1st battalion of the 15th Regiment; four officers are also placed under orders to embark with the above detachments."

The Abortion Case.

The jury summoned before R. M. Roy, Esq., Coroner, on Saturday last, to inquire into the manner in which Mary Lavelle came by her death, assembled pursuant to agreement at the Town Hall, on this morning. Mr. Roy was assisted in his duties by J. P. McDonald, Esq., Associate Coroner. The jury empanelled by Captain James, Chief of Police, consist of the following inhabitants of the Town:—John Baines, Foreman, E. W. Perry, Henry Pearson, John Doyle, Peter Zoller, Robert Gillespie, Orlando Greenleaf, E. L. Palfin, Joseph Malden, Royal McTaggart, Alexander Hutcheson, and Thomas Mchul.—Charles L. Coleman, Esq., Crown Attorney, conducted the prosecution, and George Dickson, Esq., appeared to watch the case for the accused. Michael Lavelle gave the same testimony as that recorded in our publication of the 3rd inst., varying but little from that sworn to before the Police Magistrate. One of the former witnesses, Margaret Phillips, was not available, as she is suffering from fever caused by constant attendance on her deceased sister and her unfortunate children.

Dr. Hope and Dr. Lister were examined, but their testimony being in substance what has already been published, it is not necessary to reproduce it.

At four o'clock this afternoon the inquest was adjourned for half an hour. As there are several additional witnesses to be examined, the case will hardly be got through with to-day.

New York, June 9.—The steamship Bremen from Bremen, May 24th, Southampton, May 29, and City of Paris from Liverpool, May 28, arrived this evening. The City of Paris has 990, and the Bremen 612 passengers.

Madrid Saturday evening paper relates that neither the King nor Queen of Spain, nor the Emperor of Morocco will visit the Paris exhibition.

A telegram from Brussels says, the Senate sanctions credit demanded by the government for 8,400,000 francs for the conversion of French loans, as well as the loan of 60,000,000 francs.

Intelligence from Candia through Greek sources announces two engagements on the 5th and 6th, resulting in favor of the Christians. Omar Pasha was stated to be marching on Heraclea, devastating the country on his passage. The Eastern Provinces are in complete revolt.

Fresh insurrectionary movements had broken out at Bregia; 6,000 troops were to leave Tunis on the 13th, to quell the revolt which was unwarranted.

Princess Mary of Teck, was delivered of a daughter on the 26th May.

The Reform Bill was making rapid and satisfactory progress in Committee of the House of Commons. The Daily News says the object of reformers has been attained. Almost everything that the government originally proposed is gone. Almost all that the opposition insisted on has been adopted.

Intelligence from Candia states that Omar Pasha returned there on the 23rd, after burning 55 villages, without, however, obtaining a successful result against the insurgents.

—The English Bible Society has a building in the Paris Exhibition in which it gives away to every passer by a French Translation of one of the Gospels if he be French, a German one if he be German, an Italian one if he be Italian. This zeal rather amuses the French than edifies them. Not content with this distribution, the Society employs a man in Turkish costume to stroll about the building and clip here and there little tracts into the hands of the visitors.

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.

A man named Robert Sole, lately moved here from Ottawa, summoned Edward Maloney for an assault, and the latter retorted by a similar complaint. It appears that Sole rented a house from Maloney in the Grove, and pending the arrival of his wife and children, kindly sheltered a young girl of 18, named Alice Denis from the capital of the new Dominion. This course of procedure aroused the virtuous indignation of the landlord, and never having enjoyed the blessings of tenant right in the "ould sod," he denied it to Mr. Sole, and enforced his view of the case by flinging an iron "spider" at the head of his tenant, who returned the compliment by an unfriendly "dig in the ribs." The matter ended in a compromise. The "fair lady" left. The landlord and tenant came to terms, and the Police Magistrate fined them both for disturbing their peaceable neighbors.

DISORDERLY.

Mr. James Lannigan having been affected by the heat of the weather, which was increased by drinking too much ice water, was committed to the care of Sergeant Roche, and next morning paid $5 to the Town Treasury as a small donation to that interesting financial department.

ASSAULT.

Two men from Ox Point, named McDonald and French, differed about the precise quantity of alcohol in the cherry whiskey sold at Mr. Scovill's tavern, and arguments having led to blows, they were ushered immediately into the presence of Mr. Bartlett, who decided the dispute by fining the parties. They paid the amount, and after partaking of another glass of the disputed whiskey, left for home with an occasional sigh after the dollars so foolishly expended.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, TUESDAY, JUNE 11.

Single copies of the "Daily Intelligencer" can be obtained at J. C. Overell's Book Store, Belleville.

CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.—Saturday was chiefly occupied in considering the report of the French Mission Scheme, and the report of the Committee on Hyman Book.

DRILL ASSOCIATION.—The Official Gazette of Saturday contains the following order: "The Drill Association is hereby authorized order: Belleville, in the Regimental Division of Hastings, under the command of Major T. C. Wallbridge, to be composed of passed cadets of the Military Schools, and to be styled the 'Belleville Cadets Drill Association.' We are glad to see these associations organized, as it is the best means that can be adopted by which to keep alive an interest in drill."

FAMINE IN THE WEST OF IRELAND.—The Rev. Tlarneg, Catholic Priest at Tukey, County of Galway, Ireland, describes the most direful and widespread distress in Conemara, in the western portion of the island, and shows how famine money received from America ought to be used, instead of being bestowed upon Fenian agitators. He says: "It is painful to recall that we have a recurrence of the great distress which struck down so fearfully the people of Ireland in the famine years of 1847 and 1848. There is at present a distress of a most alarming nature, and which, if not met at once and relieved, will place before our eyes some such heartrending scenes of starvation as we witnessed in the former years of famine. I myself have seen numbers of people who have not tasted food for two days. This has been occasioned by a severe winter and failure of the crops."

The Richardson Mine Case.

This case, which has been the topic of conversation for some months past, has at length been terminated by the rival parties coming to terms, and mutually agreeing to enter into partnership, and working the mine jointly. The terms upon which this arrangement has been effected are as near as we can learn as follows:—

The Richardson Mine property is divided into three parts. The mine itself, with a certain portion of land together with the buildings erected, and land since obtained, are to be held at a stock value, to be owned jointly by Messrs. Lombard and Hardin and the Belleville Company. The land lying to the East of the mine containing about nine acres, is to be owned by the Belleville Company, and the land to the West of the mine, about six acres, to be the property of Messrs. Lombard and Hardin. The mineral right of Mr. Powell over the balance of the farm to be held in common by the Belleville Company and Messrs. Lombard and Hardin. Each party to pay their own costs, and the Belleville Company to pay a certain consideration for their share in the property. This agreement was made a decree in Chancery this morning when the Court opened in Cobourg.

This vexed question of ownership having been now set at rest, we expect ere long to hear of work being pushed on as rapidly as possible, and a new impetus given to mining operations in Madoc and adjacent townships.

County Court and Quarter Sessions.

The County Court and Quarter Sessions for this County opened to-day at noon, the Hon. Judge Sherwood presiding. There is not much business before the court, there being only some fourteen civil and three criminal cases. The following gentlemen compose the Grand Jury: John Brenton, Foreman; Hallett, J. J. Atkins, Richard Hulme, R. C. Allan, Wm. J. Hadgins, Wm. Brooks, Jacob Hamby, P. J. Bonesteel, Samuel Innes, R. L. Conners, Denis L. Ketcheson, D. R. Carr, Robert Lyon, Henry R. Canfield, Thomas Maybee, B. N. Frankie, John McLaughlin, Hugh Graham, Geo. S. McKennie, John Hogie, Samson Rutherford, Thomas Hallett, Wm. Wallbridge, Francis.

Two or three undefended cases were disposed of.

Canada at the Paris Exhibition.

The Canadian department at the Paris Exhibition is spoken of by nearly all the correspondents as a great success. The correspondent of a Portland paper, who pronounces the American display as a failure, says of Canada:—

"The Canadian department is very fine, much better than could have been reasonably expected from British North America. This may be attributed in a very great measure to the indefatigable efforts of Hon. T. D. McGee, Dr. Tache, Joseph H. Daly, and others of the Canadian Commissioners who have given it their whole personal attention, which has resulted in a great success. Canadians took upon their show with pride and satisfaction, and that justly too, whilst we think the least said about ours the better. The Emperor paid the Canadian department a very handsome compliment for its completeness and the general display of arts and industries of that country. He was particularly attracted by Notman's superb pictures, and rewarded that artist with an order for copies of a number of his pictures. Mr. Notman stands as one of the heads of the profession in the photographic art, and this pleasing little compliment of the Emperor bestowed upon him is but a just tribute to his genius. Notman's photographic galleries in Montreal have long been considered one of the most interesting museums of the kind in North America; they are much frequented during the summer months by tourists, who witness all the most beautiful scenes of the wilds of that region clothed in their summer and winter garb."

Grand Trunk Railway.

From a report just issued by the Directors of the Grand Trunk Railway, it seems that a practical arrangement will shortly be arrived at with respect to the better equipment of the Road. At a conference recently held, between the directors and the Postal and Military Bond-holders, the following resolution was adopted: "That it be recommended that powers be applied for in the ensuing session of the Canadian Parliament to convert the Postal and Military Bonds (say) £1,200,000, into Equipment Mortgage Bonds, bearing a fixed rate of interest of (say) 6 per cent, and to raise a further sum of £480,000 Equipment Bonds for the purpose of the Company; the whole issue of these Equipment Mortgage Bonds then being £1,700,000, payable 1st, out of the Postal and Military Revenue; and 2nd, if need be, out of the general net income." "That the Act be subject to the consent of Postal and Military Bond-holders, and to a vote of three-fifths of the Bond and Stock-holders, present at a special meeting." "Also that powers be applied for to change the name of the Company to the Canadian Railway Company. By this arrangement the Company would receive an amount of funds which would go far towards the provision of an efficient rolling stock, while at the same time the preference capital would not be increased. Mr. Byrnes, in his late report to the company, satisfactorily showed that with an improved equipment—with increased rolling stock—the road was capable of earning a much larger income. The road is now worked to the utmost capacity of its rolling stock, and it is found utterly impossible to accommodate all the business which lays within its reach. This being the case, it is of very great importance that additional stock should be provided."

The Billiard Match.

The great billiard match for the championship of America, and a purse of $1,000, came off at Montreal on Monday evening between Joseph Dion and McDevitt. The match was contested with great spirit and some runs were remarkably good. McDevitt won the choice of balls and lead. A good deal of interest was manifested by billiard players in Belleville, and at both Mr. Davis' and Mr. Shaver's billiard rooms, telegrams were received every half hour, announcing the progress of the game. The first report, which was received at 9:25, gave Dion 245 points, and McDevitt, 158. At 10:15, Dion was 575; McDevitt, 261. At 10:45 the score was Dion, 642; McDevitt, 522. At 11:15 was Dion, 684; McDevitt, 576. Shortly after this Dion went in and ran the game out, making 616, the largest score ever made in a match. A large number of persons were present, and at the close the young Canadian was loudly cheered on all sides.

FROM MADOC.

From our own Correspondent.

Madoc, June 8th.

A sad accident occurred in the Allan settlement last night, which has cast a gloom over the whole neighborhood.

Mr. Samuel Allan had to be returned home to-morrow evening, when going down a hill, about half a mile from his home, the horses became unmanageable, and ran away, throwing Mr. Allan out, and one of the wheels passed over his neck, breaking it, and causing almost instant death. Some persons were behind the wagon and saw the whole occurrence, but were unable to render any assistance. Mr. Allan was a son of the late Wm. Allan, and was among the first settlers of this Township. He will be much missed by his family and neighbors.

FROM BRIDGEWATER.

BRIDGEWATER, June 8th.

The weather has not deceived us this time, but remained fair during the whole week to the satisfaction of all; everybody is congratulating everybody else on the reasonable weather we now are getting. Farmers have been working hard, and have for the most part finished up their spring work, and then those who think they have any kind of "indications," are going to see what they are like below the surface; sensible men, they have thought of the crops first, and not allowed the yellow fever to predominate over all else. Mr. F. Collins is making preparations to-day to begin mining.

Mining news has for the most part been very quiet this week, or possessed such a sameness that I think it hardly worth mentioning beyond the fact that they are all working, and appear to be well satisfied with the progress they are making. Some who were compelled to leave off during the heavy rains on account of their mines filling with water, have been engaged in emptying them after waiting a day or two to see what the weather really was going to be.

The miners who are working for the Mechanics Mining Company, came down here last night and leave again to-night; they state that they have struck a very good lead, which they are following up with every prospect of ultimate success. There are several companies scattered round here that are all at present to have good indications, but have got no great depth yet.

They also bring an account of one of those sad accidents which are constantly arising from the carelessness of men who getting used as it were to the danger of the article of risk altogether. A man named Mollineux and another, after drilling a hole in a rock, had placed in a charge of powder, and were "tamping" it down with an iron bar, striking it against the rock which was of a flaky character, so that when the tamper, a spark was ignited, an explosion followed, and Mollineux had part of his jaw carried away, and the other man whose name did not transpire, was buried beneath the debris. The news was brought to us by a letter from a man who saw the accident happen. It may be that the account is very much exaggerated, or may be worse than it is reported. Let us hope the former is the case; but it is most reprehensible for men to endanger their lives, and those of others, by such unsafe practices as these. A copper bar is the only safe article that can be used in operations of this kind, and every care and precaution ought to be taken to guard against accidents.

The body of Charles Kenney, who was drowned on the 29th of last ultimo, was found on Saturday last, close by where he was supposed to have fallen in. A coroner's jury brought in a verdict of "accidentally drowned."

A fire took place just out of the village of this afternoon, in a shanty occupied by a boring man, named Sam. Mowers. How it originated is a mystery. The man was away at work, the wife was transacting business in the village, and the children were playing in a field close by and saw the flames, they raised an alarm, and one of them, a little heroine nine years of age, ran into the burning house and rescued a child aged four years from the bed which was on fire, and the burning roof falling on them all the time. No assistance was at hand, and everything was burnt up, and the man with his wife and eight children were rendered homeless. A subscription was immediately set on foot and liberally responded to.

It is also my painful duty to record one of those awful visitations of Providence, which "in the midst of life we are in death." Samuel Allen, of the Allan settlement, was here on Friday last, trading, accompanied by his nephew; on the way home the horses took fright and ran away, Samuel was thrown out, and the wheels of the wagon passed over him; his nephew who was on horse back being hurried to his assistance only to find that he who a moment before had been in all the health and strength of manhood, was now lying at his feet a corpse.

I had in giving an account in my last of the minerals in this township, that I omitted to state that there are large quantities of phosphate of lime to be found.

The road now to be made good between here and Madoc, is so much needed, and is a step in the right direction. The traffic in these parts is likely to be very great this year, and good roads are much needed. I speak feelingly on this subject, having been jolted over some scores of miles of rough roads, and uncovered corduroy in this country, and it is expedient not only that the road should be repaired, but made substantially good at the same time.

The Abortion Case.

The inquest in this case was adjourned until this evening. The following is a portion of the evidence:

GEORGE JAMES, sworn.—I am Chief of Police. I was present when the deceased made her declaration before Mr. Bartlett, Police Magistrate of the Town of Belleville, saw her, repeatedly since and on the evening of her death, she was utterly unfit to repeat any connected words, on the two last occasions I saw her she did not reply to the questions I put to her. I saw her sister Margaret Phillips last night and she is unable to attend to give evidence. When the Police Magistrate took her declaration she had the impression she was at the point of death, and it was impossible she could attend at any time at the Police Court to give evidence since—the charge made against Mr. Waldron was procured in violation, the information was taken first, and then the declaration.

Dr. RUFUS HOLDEN, sworn.—I was called in reference to the deceased on Thursday fortnight last, 29th May, by Dr. Hope, together with Dr. Lister. I found the woman in a very low state; she appeared in a very exhausted state from some cause; she could speak with difficulty. I examined her and found without doubt that she had a miscarriage. I never saw the deceased before or since. I asked her what was wrong, and she said, "they have killed my child," or "killed my baby;" I did not think I considered I considered the woman in a very precarious position; it appeared from the result of abortion; my impression, from her causes, was that it had been brought about by drugs. I cannot think that what I saw and heard that it was brought about by natural causes. I believe it was from the effects of drugs administered. I thought during the consultation that the woman was in a dying state at the time. I asked the nurse where the medicine was, and she said the doctor had taken them away.

Cross-examined.—I do not know what medicines were given. A woman that has once had a miscarriage is more liable to have it again. It would have been proper to give an opiate to prevent an abortion; it would be proper treatment so far as I saw. I did not see anything in the case but what might be produced from natural causes. I was present when the Police Magistrate took the information but not the deposition.

Re-examined.—If I had not been told by the deceased or nurse I could not have told it was the action of drugs; it might have happened by different causes.

Wm. HOPE, recalled.—My impression is that the declaration was taken in a very low state of the deceased, that in all probability her case would have been the same if she had the opinion that the case would end fatally; so long as she could speak her words were, "I will die," or something to that effect. During the declaration I did not think she would die within a few hours, but I would not have been surprised if she had. I was called upon by Dr. Lister, and thought it my duty to go and see her; she had a miscarriage, and I saw her afterwards, and she was in a very low state, and I found Dr. Lister and Dr. Holden, and Dr. Hope went up to see her, and had a consultation, and they were in a very low state, and I went into the room to see her, and asked what was the cause of her illness; she also wished to see an information against any person who had killed her. I took an information produced marked A, sworn to and read over to her; she said, they have killed my child, and they have killed me. "She remonstrated" were the words in the information explained to her, she approved the whole of the information read over to her, and she made her mark to it and swore to it. After taking the information I issued a warrant, and it was issued at 10 o'clock. At three o'clock in the afternoon of the same day I went up again, and took the deposition, in company with Mr. Hope and Capt. James, marked B, then a further declaration the following day, marked C, read over to her carefully, and she made her mark to it. The question was put to her by me, Dr. Lister and Dr. Hope, said she might die any time. I asked her if she was in a very low state of her recovery, she said, no, I will die any day. Upon the firm belief that she had no hopes of her recovery I took the declarations marked D, and she was quite sensible, the second day she was in a little stupor, but still she was sensible, and repeated all she said the day before; from that time to the day she has been totally unable to appear before me to give evidence.

Cross-examined.—In the afternoon of the first day I went up to see her, and I saw her, I thought she was better than when I took her information in the morning. The charge in the information was procured in violation of the declaration was a general declaration; she stated all that the declaration specified; she gave her testimony disconnected. Dr. Hope asked her several questions, and her answers were taken as embodied in the declaration; he was not present when the latter part of the declaration was taken, on the 24th. She was not asked any questions regarding future reward or punishment, regarding her future state; Rev. M. Strennan, P. P., left the house as I was going in. After his visit she made the declaration.

Mr. DICKSON objected to the information and declaration being read.

MARY LAVELLE, states.—For some days I had been complaining of chills. I was about two months gone in pregnancy. On Monday last, the 20th inst., my husband brought in a tall dark man, a little lame, and he asked me how many children I had. I told him five. I told him I was in the family. He said I must get rid of the child before I could get well. He mixed some medicine and gave it to me, and gave orders to my sister to keep the remaining portion. It was on the forenoon of Monday that I saw him. When he came into the room, my sister was with me; he told her to go out and shut the door. On Tuesday morning a young man came to see me, and gave me a bottle with a red mixture, and a powder; he gave me the powder, and told me to take four drops of each, and to take one of the bottles four times a day. The young man went away and came back in the afternoon with the other man that was with me on Monday. He came in and shut the door. He asked me if I was well. I understood him to mean whether I was feeling or not. I told him I was not. He said I could get rid of the child, and I would be better. On the night of the same day, the second man came with a bottle to me. During the night I had awful pains in my back, in the lower part of my bowels, and in my legs. On yesterday, Wednesday, about breakfast time, the young fellow came with two other bottles and said they were sent by his brother, the tall dark man. I sent for the doctor, who was the flowing commenced, about two o'clock, and when he came, I said, "Doctor you have killed my child." He laughed and said, "were enough others dying about it. He then gave me a cup full of medicine, gathered up all his bottles and took them to the other, who had the baggy on his back, he lifted up the bed-clothes and looked at me. On this morning the tall man came again and said I was going to get well; he went away and I have not seen him since."

Mineralogy.

NUMBER VI. For the Daily Intelligencer.

HAVING in my former letters sufficiently dilated upon gold, for the present at least, I will now proceed to the consideration of Silver.

Silver is unquestionably the metal next in consequence to Gold, for though other metals, such as platinum, magnesium, palladium, &c., far exceed it in value, weight, and aluminum and one or two others equal it in that respect, yet some of these are so scarce as to be mere curiosities, and the others require a tedious and expensive process to reduce them to the metallic shape; while silver, from its intrinsic qualities, its comparative abundance, the ease with which it is reduced from the ore, and the important part which it plays in the commerce of the world, by its adaptability for coinage, assumes an importance only second to that of gold, which is just about twenty times its value.

Silver assumes many shapes, in consequence of its affinity for, or disposition to unite with sulphur, arsenic, selenium, antimony, chlorine, and iodine, besides the readiness with which it forms alloys or mixtures of various proportions with lead, copper, bismuth, gold and even iron, so that the miner who is not familiar, at least with its commoner ores, is much more apt to be deceived by the resemblance which several mineral compounds bear to silver, than he would describe a few of the known ores of silver, and give their chief characteristics in a plain and simple manner as I can, so that persons who have not had opportunities for learning to distinguish them, may at least be able to decide what is not silver.

1. Native silver. This occurs sometimes in masses, but more generally as thin thread-like filaments penetrating pieces of arsenic copper, but sometimes in the same description of rocks which are not siliceous, spreading over a surface of fracture in a sort of network, or like the root fibres of a plant. It is distinguished from other white metals by its brilliancy, and by being soft enough to cut with a knife, and to bend out flat without breaking. It dissolves in nitric acid.

2. Silver glance. Silver and sulphur. Lustre, metallic; colour, blackish lead gray. On charcoal before the blow-pipe boils up and yields a small amount of silver in a short time. Dissolves in nitric acid, leaving a deposit of sulphur.

3. Brittle silver ore, silver, sulphur, and antimony. Lustre, metallic; colour iron black. Before the blow-pipe it gives off fumes of antimony and the peculiar smell of sulphur, and with soda it gives a bead of silver. Dissolves in nitric acid. If a piece of clear bright copper is immersed in the solution, it will be covered with silver in a short time.

4. Horn Silver. Silver and chlorine. Lustre, like rock, colour, gray, greenish, turning brown by exposure when it looks like wax. If a piece of clear bright iron be moistened by breathing a few times on it, and then rubbed with this ore, it will become coated with a thin film of silver. Horn silver is as soft and tough under the knife as horn itself, and will not dissolve in aquafortis (nitric acid).

5. Dark red silver ore. Silver, antimony, and sulphur, colour black or dark crimson, when powdered, crimson. Before the blow-pipe melts, gives off antimony and sulphur and fuses to a bead of silver. Dissolves in heated nitric acid.

6. Light red silver ore. Silver, arsenic, and sulphur, colour bright red, approaching scarlet. Before the blow-pipe on charcoal gives fumes of arsenic (distin guished by a smell like that of leeks or onions, which also takes place when the ore coarsely powdered is thrown on a hot stove) and sulphur.

There are also several other varieties of silver in which the pure metal varies from 35 to 77 per cent, but which are so rare as to be valued chiefly as curiosities.

I have not in the course of my practice found any of the above ores coming from the back country, though I have found native silver in small quantities on three several occasions, in other minerals, from Belmont, Lake and Madoc. Silver, however, exists in the ores of antimony, bismuth, copper and lead, and when these metals begin to be worked, the percentage of silver will form an important part of the profits of the Canadian miner.

I have also found silver in several specimens of galena (lead and sulphur), once as high as seven-tenths of one cent of the contained metal, which constitutes a very rich lead, being not less than 87 per cent to the ton.

Also in a mineral composed of antimony, lead, arsenic, and sulphur, in which the silver amounted to nearly six per cent of the whole. I have had repeatedly brought to me pieces of mica, white iron pyrites, mispickel, and even specular iron, under the full impression that they were silver-ores of very great value, and the persons who brought them, went away very much disappointed, because I

BOSTON, June 11th.—The race for $7,500 today between Blackstone Belle to harness, and John Stewart to saddle, three miles and repeat, was won by Belle; time, 7:58 and 7:56.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 8th.—The United States ship of war, Janet, reports twenty-one cases of yellow fever, and six deaths during the voyage from Panama.

NEW YORK, June 12.—There were 36,119 emigrants arrived at this port during the month of May.

A Washington special says, "The present jury in Surratt's case are over two-thirds Catholics. Judging from appearances Surratt would fare better by relying upon their ignorance than upon the intelligence of another party selected from leading citizens by the marshal.

Mr. drakes team, "Bruno" and "Brunette" yesterday, on the Fashion course, beat the famous time made by Bonner's team, 1 of a second; they made the mile in a road wagon, 2:25.

FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The Herald's Peru letter of 22nd May, says the revolution was assuming a decided shape.

The English mail steamer Lima from Valparaíso for Panama was seized by thirty discontented Peruvians off Aquique, carried into the small port of Mylones de Pessaga, diverted fifty cases of her cargo containing American rifles and then allowed to proceed on her way. Considerable excitement ensued among the authorities on hearing of this, and the steamer Mitro with 600 men and 10 pieces of artillery was dispatched to Arica immediately, for the purpose of chastising the Peruvians.

The Cholera in Buenos Ayres was decreasing.

The allied fleet was at Valparaíso on the 10th of May.

Now a little of the knowledge indicated above would have saved those persons the expense and fatigue of a journey to get these specimens tested, for all the ore proper of silver are cut with a knife, whereas the deceptive substances brought to me are all, except the mica, hard enough to strike by steel.

I should also mention that silver forms a constituent of the beautiful grey copper ore, brought by the Hon. Billie Flint from the township of Elizov.

WELLAND CANAL.—The break in the Welland Canal is not so serious as at first reported.—A telegram states that navigation will be resumed to-day.

TELEGRAPH TO MADOC.—The telegraph line has been completed to Madoc, the first message passing over the wires to-day. The wire is being extended to Bridgewater, and by Saturday next it is expected we will have telegraphic communication with the latter place. This line will be a great convenience to business men in the gold region, and we have no doubt will soon be profitable to the company. A special telegram from our correspondent at Madoc will be found in another column.

INQUEST.—Michael Madden, 35 years of age, was found dead yesterday morning in the back part of Stephen O'Brien's dwelling house. It appears that he was employed as cook in a shanty belonging to J. Walsh on the Kingston road, not far from the hop yard. He left the shanty on some pretence or other on Monday afternoon, the worse of liquor, and the next morning was found by Stephen O'Brien leaning with his back against the kitchen door; this was about half past four, after being out all night, as is supposed. O'Brien took him into the back part of the house, and left him there lying on his back, but did not take any particular notice of him supposing he was drunk, as he often came to the house in the same state. At about half-past nine they found he was dead. He has no relations in this country. An inquest was held on the body before Dr. Power, and the jury returned a verdict of "died from excessive drinking."

MILITARY DISTRICT OF NORTHERN NEW YORK.—The Buffalo Courier says: "The military District of the Northern Frontier, which is under the command of Brevet Major-General Barry, U. S. Army, extends along the Canada Frontier from Erie in the State of Pennsylvania to Plattsburg on Lake Champlain, the northern border of the State of New York. It comprises the military posts of Erie, Fort Porter, Fort Niagara, Fort Ontario, Madison Barracks, and Plattsburg Barracks. The U. S. regular troops which at present are stationed in the District, are the 43d Regt. of Infantry, and Batteries L of the 1st Artillery, and M of the 4th Artillery. In the event of any emergency occurring within the limits of his command, which may demand their presence and services, Major-General Barry is authorized to call upon the U. S. Troops which garrison the Forts in the harbor of Boston and New York, and also those upon the coast of New England generally. The commanders of the U. S. war steamers McNichols and Perry upon Lake Erie, and of the Chase upon Lake Ontario, have received orders to co-operate with Gen. Barry whenever he may find it necessary to call upon them for that purpose."

Church of Scotland.

Monday was chiefly occupied in discussing matters of church polity, the applications of ministers desirous of retiring from the active duties of the ministry, and the qualifications of ministers. The form of process for the calling of ministers was considered, and the clause requiring the signature of forty families, was amended, by leaving the number indefinite. The report of the Examining Committee excited considerable discussion. Rev. Dr. Cook expressed strong repugnance to the lowering or setting aside the curriculum of ministerial study. Organs and fine buildings might retain the weak-minded and frivolous members in the absence of other attractions, but many of the well-informed and intellectual, and others would leave the church if the Minister should not possess mental power and high culture. The report after some discussion was adopted.

News has just been received by the DAILY INTELLIGENCER of the settlement of the Richardson Mine Suit. Very great satisfaction is expressed therat by all parties.

Stages came in full to-day.

Gold Mining Territory is looking up.

Mr. McMahon, owner of Lot 18 in the 8th Concession of Madoc, is just in. He reports having found gold on his farm.

Moore sold to-day three acres for $3,000.

Congratulatory despatches have just passed between Stirling and Madoc.

"All right, De Sautey."

Canada Presbyterian Church.

On Monday the instrumental music question was again brought up, and a motion enjoining the session of Knox Church, Montreal, to discontinue the use of the organ till the next meeting of the Synod, was carried.

An overture from Woodstock was presented, praying that parties engaged in vending and selling intoxicating drinks, be excluded from the communion. A resolution was passed earnestly recommending Ministers and people to oppose by every legitimate means the manufacture of and traffic in strong drink; but declined to sustain the question of making the manufacture or sale of intoxicating drinks a matter of communion.

On Tuesday, the report respecting Knox's College and the question of the establishment of Montreal College were taken up.

From the report it appeared that for Knox College $1,240 was received, more than during the years 1865 and 1866, showing that financially the college was in a flourishing condition. A committee was appointed to report upon the College, to be considered on Wednesday. A resolution consenting to the establishment of the Montreal College was passed, and a Board of Management appointed.

The report on Foreign Missions showed that the Missions under the fostering care of the church were progressing favorably.

Wesleyan Methodist Church.

The question of qualifications of candidates for the ministry was the first business taken up on Monday, and after a lengthy discussion the following resolution was adopted:—

Resolved,—That nothing in our present course of study shall be introduced to prevent a district meeting in special cases from recommending a candidate to the Conference for reception on trial, after examination by the chairman before the district meeting on the subjects of the preliminary portion of the course of study.

The report of the Book Committee which represented that institution as in a prosperous condition, was considered and adopted in the afternoon. Dr. Jeffers was re-elected editor of the Christian Guardian by a large majority. A public meeting was held on Monday evening which was greatly attended. The occasion was one of large interest.

Congregational Union.

Monday afternoon was occupied in discussing and disposing of the Missionary Report. In the evening a public meeting was held, at which addresses were delivered by foreign representatives. On Tuesday forenoon motions were made respecting standing committees, in favor of the widow's and orphan's fund, and in favor of total abstinence from intoxicating drinks. The next meeting was appointed for Hamilton on the Thursday after the first Sabbath in June, 1898.

An Interesting Suit.

A case of a somewhat novel nature, and possessing much interest to mercantile men, was heard at the Chancery sittings in Cobourg last week, plaintiffs in which were Messrs. Dun, Wiman &amp; Co., of Montreal and Toronto, proprietors of the Mercantile Agency, and the defendants Messrs. J. M. Bradstreet &amp; Son, who have a similar concern in New York. The plaintiffs sought an injunction to restrain defendants from issuing a book of "Commercial Reports" of the credit and capital of Canadian merchants, which plaintiffs alleged was almost wholly copied from Dun, Wiman &amp; Co.'s book of a previous year. The witnesses examined and internal evidence adduced went strongly to show that the allegation was true, and the defendants, finding they could not evade the charge of piracy, sought to justify themselves by pleading that Messrs. Dun, Wiman &amp; Co. had not copyrighted their work. This point is to be argued before the Chancellor at Hamilton, on the 18th inst.

Whether this plea of the defendants be sustained by the Court (which is doubtful) or not, it seems a dishonorable proceeding on the part of the defendants to so appropriate the results of the labor and expenditure of their older and longer established opponents and palm it off as their own.

"Opposition may be the life of trade," but if the Messrs. Bradstreet seek to establish themselves here, and worm themselves into the confidence of the business public by the cheap system of adopting and promulgating as their own that which belongs honestly to others, they will find it a less operation, and that they have over-estimated the gullibility of our business community. So glaring was the piracy on the part of the Bradstreet Company, that the typographical error in Dun, Wiman &amp; Co.'s book were copied in almost every instance. The most glaring case of that of copying the name of a place called 'Apricot,' which has no existence, but which had been put into Dun, Wiman &amp; Co.'s book as a trap, and which Bradstreet &amp; Son appropriated as genuine, with all its particulars. Whatever the decision of the Court may be, the exposure which has taken place must ruin the reputation of the house of Bradstreet &amp; Son.

Chancery Decision.

READ, et al. vs. SMITH.

Judgment has been given in the above important suit, which was heard and argued at the late Chancery sitting here. It will be remembered that it involved the title to a valuable property on the hill, East Belleville, which A. L. Smith, of this Town, was endeavoring to secure to himself. The Court, however, has given judgment adversely to Mr. Smith; the plaintiffs securing their title to the property on payment to Smith of the amount he paid Rutland and some portion of the costs. We shall endeavor to procure the judgment and publish it in full, as it involves many important points.

The Abortion Case.

The Jury in this case met last evening. Some additional evidence was produced by the Crown Attorney. The Jury not having returned a verdict at twelve o'clock, they were locked up for the night. At eleven o'clock to-day, they were still unable to agree, and it being evident that they would not agree upon a verdict, the Jury were dismissed after being bound over to appear at the next Assizes. We could not obtain the evidence in time for publication to-day, but will publish it to-morrow. Waldren was remanded by the Coroner.

County Court.

WEDNESDAY, June 13.

TO AMEND.

Mr. Robertson applied to amend an order of dismissal in the case of Litchford vs. Lloyd. It was laid over till to-morrow morning, the Judge not having his notes in Court.

A BATTLE HORSE.

FANNING vs. STEWART.—This was an action brought by Walter Fanning against Dr. Stewart, for the value of a horse, which Fanning purchased from Stewart, alleging that the horse was not what it was represented to be. He also claimed damages for keeping the horse, and lost sustained from the horse being baulky.

JAS. KELLOGG, sworn.—Lives with Fanning, have worked for Plaintiff several months; run for the Bus. Know Dr. Stewart; was present when Fanning bought a horse from Dr. Stewart in April last. Fanning asked if she was all right, that he wanted a horse to drive any way; Dr. Stewart replied that she was all right every way, and he had no fault whatever with her except that she would shy at a piece of paper; Fanning replied that was all right, and under these circumstances he would take her. Fanning paid for the horse for the mare. Don't know whether Fanning paid for the mare. The mare was not used until Mr. Ramsay hired her. Dr. Stewart said he had no way to keep a horse that summer, as Mrs. Stewart was going away. Have seen her baulk on the front street, when before a wagon. Fanning and I went up to the Dr. to give up the mare. Fanning demanded his money, as he was not what he represented her to be; Dr. Stewart told him he did not want the mare, and to try and sell her to someone else; that she did baulk with him and Mrs. Stewart once at Murray's Hill. Didn't hear any other made by Stewart to Fanning if he would keep the mare. We left the mare at the Dr.'s house tied to a post; during the night she came back to Fanning's. Fanning and I went to the Dr.'s, and Fanning told him he would charge him for the way of the horse as long as she was there. Defendant said she had baulked when drove with a Dutch harness, that she must be driven with harness; Fanning said he would not use harness. Defendant said he did not know whether she would drive in double harness. Plaintiff told him when he bought her that he wanted her to drive any way.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jellett.—Have seen the mare driven by Dr. Stewart, Mrs. Stewart and the boy. Fanning uses Dutch harness. It is not cheaper to keep a horse at pasture than in a lively stable?

MR. DOUGALL objected to this question.

THE JUDGE ruled it was a proper question, but noted the objection.

WITNESS.—Don't know.

JOHN J. RAMSAY, sworn.—Am a clerk in Mr. Stewart's hired two or three horses from Fanning, hired mare referred to by last witness; was to be killed, Francis Tremaine, and then home; drove a stilling in a buggy, ordered the mare to be well fed, when I again wanted to start the mare would go, but she would not in every way of starting; we got her to start by turning her round, after exhausting a couple of hours, could not pursue his journey. On my return from Birling she baulked again, and when we tried to start her again, she backed into a ditch, she was very baulky.

RICHARD SOLE, sworn.—Saw the mare baulk when at the Ashery after school; she was driven by Dr. Stewart's servant man, she went 10 or 12 feet and then stopped; it was 15 or 20 minutes before she started again, after part of the load was thrown off, she started and then baulked again, she had lame harness on, saw her baulk before when driving up the hill.

ROBERT DAVY, sworn.—Know the mare, saw her baulk when owned by Dr. Stewart; it was an obstinate baulk. Dr. Stewart told me that a person in uniform could not ride her, as she would lay down with him.

WILLIAM KELLY, sworn.—Saw a black mare with Dr. Stewart, he was driving her, she stopped, it was about a year ago.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jellett.—Don't know that that was a baulk.

R. PRICH, sworn.—Know the time Ramsay had the mare—it was two days after Fanning had her, when she was returned; she baulked at the gate. Fanning told the Doctor to take the mare home as she was no good to him. Defendant told him to keep her for a few weeks; that all she wanted was to be worked, that he knew she would not go with Dutch harness, and that Fanning might send for his harness. Fanning sent up for the harness; put her before the harness, but she would not go; she put the Doctor's harness on her and she would not go; she is a damage to Plaintiff.

W. H. SCOTT, sworn.—Hired the mare from Fanning; a lady rode her; that day when she went to Murray Hill she stopped; witness then gave her to Mrs. Murray's man, to take her back to Fanning's; but she baulked for about half an hour.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jellett.—Have seen Mrs. Stewart ride her often; never saw her baulk then; when she baulked she had a curb bit.

JAS. LISTER, sworn.—Know the mare; saw her stop once and baulk; don't know what it might have been from seeing something on the street.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jellett.—Have known her for about three years, have seen her repeatedly when driven and rode; never knew her to baulk.

JAMES SHANNON, sworn.—Saw the mare refuse to go when on the way to the station. Mr. Jellett moved a non suit, there being no evidence of sale; and if there is evidence of sale, it is evidence of a warranty or concealment at the time of sale; no money was paid, nor delivery made.

Mr. Dougall contended that Balger's evidence showed that a purchase was made and the money demanded, which was evidence to go to the jury, and that he would swear himself that Dr. Stewart acknowledged he received the money.

A. R. DOUGALL, sworn.—I wrote a letter to Dr. Stewart afterwards served him with a writ. Dr. Stewart voluntarily told me that Fanning had given him $80 for the mare, and then did not want to keep her, and wanted his money back; but would not give it, he asked Fanning to take his harness and blanket, and try to get rid of her. I then cautioned him not to tell me his case, as I did not wish to hear it.

This closed the evidence for plaintiff. Mr. Jellett contended that there was no evidence of actual sale, and no non suit. The Judge ruled that there was not sufficient evidence of sale. Mr. Dougall refused to accept a non-suit. Mr. Jellett said he would not call any more witnesses. He objected to Mr. Dougall addressing the Jury, first because he was a witness in the case, and second, because the Judge had ruled there was no evidence of sale. The Judge could object to Mr. Dougall going to the Jury. He had the right to sum up. Mr. Dougall then at some length addressed the Jury.

He was followed by Mr. Jellett in a short address. The Judge addressed the Jury, telling them that there was no evidence to justify a verdict for the Plaintiff. Mr. Dougall took objection to the Judge's charge, which were noted.

The Jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

QUEEN vs. EDWARD FRANKLIN.

The Grand Jury presented Edward Franklin for misdemeanor for cutting timber on a road allowance.

AUDITING OF ACCOUNTS.

The Court then proceeded to the Auditing of Accounts, and the proceeding of further business was adjourned till to-morrow morning, at 9 o'clock.

A widower stepped into a store in a Western city, where none but mourning gloves were sold, and inquired for slate-colored gloves.—The over-licke clerk informed him that only black gloves were sold in that room; for slate-colored gloves he must step into the "mitigated affliction department."

—Mr. Youatt, the famous Veterinary Surgeon, who has been bitten eight or ten times by mad animals, says that crystals of nitrate of silver rubbed into the wound will positively prevent hydrophobia in the bitten person or animal.—People will do well to cut out or preserve Mr. Youatt's recipe.

—The Hamilton Spectator says:—"A terrible accident occurred about five o'clock yesterday, at the drive, Master Rong Wills, by which the engine tender, Frederick Williams, lost his life. It appears that the deceased was engaged in oiling the bearings of the engine when a sudden rush of steam coming into his face caused him to step back hurriedly and he fell into the fly wheel which was revolving at a considerable velocity. The unfortunate man was carried round upon the wheel and literally torn in pieces, his remains being scattered in all directions."

Tobacco water will destroy the aphids, or plant lice. Gardeners find their greenhouse plants need to be submitted to a deluging of this wash occasionally, to place them in a condition to become healthy and vigorous. When applied to fruit trees, if coarse water tobacco is used, add one pound of copperas to five gallons of the wash. Plug tobacco contains copperas in quantities sufficient to kill any animal, who has not accustomed himself, by slow degrees, to its use.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

PERRY DAVIS' VEGETABLE PAIN KILLER.—We ask the attention of the public to this long tested and unrivaled Family Medicine. It has been favorably known for more than thirty years during which time we have received thousands of testimonials, showing this medicine to be an almost sure remedy for diseases caused by, or attendant upon—

Rheumatism, Colds, Coughs, Fever and Ague, Headache, Biliousness, Pains in the Side, Back and Limbs, as well as in the Joints and Limbs; Nausea and Rheumatic Pains in any part of the system; Toothache and Pains in the Head and Face.

As a Blood Purifier and Tonic for the Stomach it seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Kidney Complaints, Sick Headache, Piles, Asthma, Catarrhs, Ringworms, Boils, Pustules, Wounds, Old Sores, Swelled Joints and General Debility of the System.

It is also a prompt and sure Remedy for Cramp and Pain in the Stomach, Painter's Colic, Barbers, Dryers, Summer Complaint, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum, Scalds, Burns, Sprains, Bruises, Frost Bites, Chills, as well as the Stings of Insects, Scorpions, Centipedes, and the Bites of Poisonous Insects and Venomous Reptiles.

See Directions accompanying each bottle. It has been used in every variety of climate and by almost every nation known to Americans. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the Missionary and the Traveller, on sea and land, and no one should travel on our lakes and rivers without it. Price, 15 cts. 25 cts. 50 cts. per Bottle.

PERRY DAVIS & SON, Manufacturers and Proprietors, 320 St. Paul Street, Montreal, C. E.

American Invoices—Discounts.

QUEBEC, 6th March, 1863.

IT is directed by the Hon. The Finance Minister, that heretofore Weekly Notices be published and furnished to Collectors of Customs, as to the rate of discount to be allowed on American Invoices, which is to be in accordance with the price of gold as represented by Exchange, at a rate equal thereto. Such notices to appear every Saturday in the Canada Gazette.

R. S. M. BOUCHETTE.

OTTAWA, June 8, 1867.

IN accordance with the above Order, Notice is hereby given that the authorized discount is declared to be this day 26 per cent, which percentage of deduction is to be contained until next Weekly Notice, and to apply to all purchases made in the United States during that week.

THOMAS WORTHINGTON,

3D-14f Assistant Commissioner of Customs.

QUEEN

INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, - - - $10,000,000.

FIRE AND LIFE.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

THE principles on which this Company is founded center all the elements required to develop the benefits of Life Assurance, and afford every facility to intending assurers.

One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Deed of Settlement to Ten per Cent of the Net Life Income. This most important restriction shows that the interests of participating policy holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management

Must Largely Influence Profits and Bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1868, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.

SYNOPSIS GOLD MINING ACT OF 1864.

27 and 28 Vic. Chap. 9. and the

Gold Mining Amendment Act 1865,

29 Vic. Chap. 9.

THE Gold Mining Act of 1864 provides that Governor

in Council may appoint Officers for Divisions.

Two Divisions created in Lower Canada, and the

Inspector, St. Francis de la Pointe, and St. Francis

Gold Mining Division, J. K. Ginn, Esq., Gold Mining

Inspector, St. Lawrence, 16th July, 1864, amended 28th

July, 1864 and 23rd Sept. 1865.

One Division created in Upper Canada by Proclamation 21st March, 1867: "Quebec Gold Mining Division," containing the Townships of Barre, Clarendon, Pain-crest, Miller and North and South Canada, in the County of Frontenac, the Townships of Miller and

Renfrew, situated north of the Townships of Miller and

Canine, the Townships in the County of Addington, situated north of the Townships of Stoddard and Barre, the Townships of Sidney, Thurlow and Tyndal, the Township of Belmont, and the Township of Belmont,

County of Perth, situated north of the Township of Belmont, Alfred Argy Campbell, Esq., of Belleville

Inspector.

No person to mine without a license.

Two kinds of licenses, one "Crown Lands Gold License," and the other "Private Lands Gold License," $1 per month, for private lands, the miner first obtaining consent of the proprietor.

Crown Lands Gold License may make out Work claim on unmined Crown Lands as follows:

ALLUVIAL MINES.

On a river or large creek, 20 feet front by 50 from the water's edge. On a smaller stream, 10 feet front by 20 feet front. In all cases, 50 feet along same, and from hill side to hill. On surface or hill side, 40 feet front. In case of full tunnel, officer may grant larger claims. In bed of river officer to determine size and position of claim.

QUARTZ MINES.

To each miner, 100 feet along lead by 100 on each side

from the centre of the lead. For companies, 25 feet along lead for every additional miner, but not to exceed 900 feet altogether.

Claims to be classed by the officer, and to be laid out in conformity with the provisions of the Act, and to be loaded under the surface by lines vertical to the horizon.

No person to occupy more than one claim on Crown

Lands at one time.

Discoverer entitled to free licence for one year in manipulation by Act.

Party who has been between claims on Crown Lands, party removing party will to construct a new mode of access to water.

Crown Lands licensees not to cause damage to others.

General use of water reserved, opposite claim on Crown Lands.

Registration of claim on Crown Lands temporarily unavailable, allowed for $1. Province to claim to be marked.

Penalty provided for removal of stakes on claims.

All licensees to make returns.

Quartz crushing machines to be licensed. Fee $5 per month. Books to be kept and returns furnished.

Act extends to parties mining near Gold Mining Divisions.

Persons working under Gold Mining Act (only one such claim, viz., for the Signatory of Richard-Vaudreuil in the District—consent of the Division created, and royalty

since committed to fees under Gold Mining Act.)

Governor in Council may make regulations.

Officers may convict on view.

THE GOLD MINING AMENDMENT ACT OF 1865.

Repeals clause in Gold Mining Act of 1864, providing that no licence for gold shall be granted for exploring for gold until the precious metal is discovered.

Enacts that Taverne and its provinces in previous Act

may be applied to territory covered by Mining Patents.

The Curd Mill as a Means of Improving the Texture of Cheese.

Dairymen are rather slow to adopt new notions. It is some three years ago that we suggested that the Cheddar shaped cheese be made at factories, since more remunerative prices would be obtained than from the old style of cheese at 120 to 150 lbs weight, then commonly made. A few factories at first adopted our suggestion, and found ready sales for their cheese at an advanced price, the majority, however, could not see the advantages of the small size and Cheddar shapes, until they found that the market would not take their large cheese unless at reduced rates. A great many thousands of dollars would have been saved to dairymen, had they adopted our suggestion in the first instance, for they waited and waited until doubly convinced they were losing money and then made the change.

In our addresses before the cheese-conventions, we recommended the use of the curd mills at factories. A very few may have introduced them, or proposed to do so, and yet the majority of manufacturers seem to hesitate in regard to their utility. From our observations abroad in the manufacture of English Cheddar cheese, we are convinced that the use of the curd mill and the English mode of salting, which we do in securing that close compact texture which is characteristic of this style of cheese. When the curds are put to press for a short time, and then passed through the curd mill and salted, a more uniform incorporation of the salt is effected, and cheese-makers can better regulate the proportion since by the American process, we can never know the quantity of whey in the curd, and the whey carried off by salt means in pressing. There is no equality, therefore, of the cheese being uniform by this process.

The English cheese-makers say that if the curd is salted before being pressed, the hops or ground in the curd mill results has the effect of giving a skin to each of the particles of curd, it comes in contact with, which prevents them from intimately uniting, and although the curd may be pressed together and become good cheese, yet it never becomes a close smooth, solid mass like that which is first put to press, then ground in the curd-mill, and salted, but is of a loose texture, and crumbles when cut.

A great deal of our factory cheese is porous, and in consequence will not sell at top prices. The question of "what makes porous cheese" has been discussed over and over again, and still produces no uniform conclusion to be made, and will continue to be made so long as manufacturers continue to adhere to old methods.

If manufacturers will read our remarks on Cheddar cheese making in the "Report of the American Dairymen's Association," just issued, they will learn, in perfect detail the method pursued by the Cheddar dairymen of England for manufacturing their high priced cheese.

Factories should introduce the curd mill at once, and improve the texture of their cheese, since good prices are to be maintained only by an improvement in the goods manufactured.—Ohio Herald.

TOBACCO FOR LICE ON ANIMALS AND PLANTS.—Messrs. Editors:—In your paper of April 4th, a correspondent inquires, "What is the best method of killing lice on calves and cattle, and will the same thing kill lice on dogs?" I have found by experience that a strong decoction of tobacco, will destroy vermin on either animals or plants. I have used it extensively during many years, for destroying ticks on sheep and lambs; have dipped thousands of them in tobacco water, or steam or water, in water, and have found it an effectual cure for the scab, which disease is caused by the working of an insect or mite in the skin of the sheep. It is a sovereign remedy for the blue lice on cattle and horses.

Almost every tree or plant is infested with an injurious insect, peculiar to itself, which preys upon its substance, and will, if in sufficient numbers, destroy its vitality. The hop, in sections infested with the aphid, is frequently either wholly or partially destroyed; when, by one of two thorough applications of tobacco water, by means of a force pump or garden engine, as they commence their work, the whole aphid army might be swept away. When the vine is trained low, upon seven feet stakes and twine, a garden engine is unnecessary.

Tobacco water will destroy the apple or plant louse. Gardeners find their green house plants need to be submitted to a deluging of this wash occasionally, to place them in a condition to become healthy and vigorous. When applied to fruit trees, the coarse waste of coppers to free gallons of the wash. Plug tobacco contains quantities sufficient to kill any animal who has not accustomed himself, by slow degrees, to its use.

Be temperate in diet. Our first parents ate themselves out of house and home. May be applied frequently either whole or in pieces, if rigorous. BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, JUNE 14.

Single copies of the "Daily Intelligencer" can be obtained at J. C. Overell's Book Store, Belleville.

CHURCH OF SCOTLAND.—The Synod of this Church, which has been in session in Montreal during the past week, adjourned on Wednesday, having had a most harmonious and satisfactory meeting.

COUNCIL OF MINISTERS.—An important Council of the leading statesmen of Canada, and the Lower Provinces, is to be held in Ottawa, next week. Hon. Mr. Tilley, Tupper, and McCully, are expected in Montreal to-morrow.

AN EDITOR ARRESTED.—The Editor of the Cornwall Freelancer, was indicted for a malicious libel, whereof he was taken to his heels and run away. But the constables were on his track, and succeeded in arresting him at Prescott, on Wednesday, and took him back to Cornwall.

BAILEY'S CIRCUS AND MENAGERIE.—This Mammoth concern is advertised to be held next Thursday, the 20th inst. It comprises four different exhibitions, and judging from what the press say of it, it will be the best exhibition of the kind that has ever appeared in Canada. The addition of the menagerie, will, no doubt, attract a large number of persons who do not usually attend such shows.

REFORM CONVENTION.—The C. O. R. F. has found out that his game of reorganization won't work, and he intends trying a grand Reform Convention, after the fashion of the memorable Convention of 1859, to see if he cannot more effectively carry out his purpose. He may succeed in gathering together a large number of aspirants for political honors, office seekers, &c.; but the more sensible portion of the people have had enough of that sort of thing, and will stay at home.

A ROW.—During the excursion from Trenton, last evening, a row occurred on board the boat near Belvidere, and subsequently at the dock at Belleville, where fists and stones and knives were freely used. Nose-bled faces, eyes were blackened, and contusions were figured. As to the cause of the row, we have heard different reports; but will wait for more reliable information before giving currency to them. There were a large number of ruffians and roughs on board, and as they had a plentiful supply of whiskey, some kind of a "demonstration" was unavoidable. Captain Day and those under his command, we are happy to say, did all in their power to prevent disturbance, and none regret it more than they do.

Grand Trunk Railway.

An adjourned meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway Company was held in London, on the 30th ultimo. The object of the meeting was to allow of the preparation of a financial scheme by which money could be raised to provide additional rolling stock, and other accommodation for the increasing traffic of the line. The plan suggested was adopted by the Bondholders, and will no doubt be carried into effect as soon as necessary legislation has been obtained.

The Montreal Gazette says: "We understand that arrangements have been made for the immediate supply of a portion of the additional rolling stock asked for in Mr. Brydges' report to the Board at the last semi-annual meeting. It is stated that a considerable number of engines are now being made in England, which it is expected, will be placed upon the line during the present year and be available for the fall traffic. The stock of cars is being put into thorough repair wherever such is required, and considerable additions are being made to their number. We understand also that 7,000 tons of rails of the very best mode of manufacture are now being made in England, and will all be shipped during the present season. These rails are heavier than any which have yet been laid upon the Grand Trunk line. They are all guaranteed by the makers to last a certain number of years, and great care is being taken in their manufacture, so as to meet as far as possible the severity of our climate. The rolling mill at Toronto is also busily employed re-rolling old rails, and it is understood that in about 14,000 tons of new rails will be laid this year upon the portion of the railway in Canada. It is interesting to gather from the report of the proceedings of the late meetings of the Company in England, to lay annually during this and the two following years the quantity of new rails above mentioned.—This extent of work, with the large additional quantity of rolling stock to be put upon the line, will place the Grand Trunk in a first class condition in every respect, and greatly add to its present incalculable advantage to the progress of the country. Some of the rails from England are now on their way, and the first that arrive will, we understand, be laid upon the line east of Montreal. The entire line is said now to be in very good order throughout, and all trains running with promptness and regularity."

The Richardson Mine.

We understand that the Directors of the Richardson Mine, yesterday complied with the terms of the General Act, incorporating joint stock companies, and they are now regularly and legally incorporated under the name of the "Richardson Gold Mining Company." By-laws were adopted for the management of the company. The Directors in accordance with the decree of the Court of Chancery, are Messrs. Benjamin Lombard, Seth W. Hardin, Francis M. Annaby, Thomas Kelso and James Glass.

The Board appointed the following officers:—

PRESIDENT.—Francis McGarrity, Esq.
SECRETARY.—James Glass, Esq.
TREASURER.—Andrew Thomson, Esq.

It was decided by the Board that the four barrels of quartz and earth now at Rochester, should be taken to New York and assayed by the Wycoff process, the object being to find out what description of machinery will be requisite to separate the gold.

We understand the greatest unanimity prevails amongst the Directors, and Company, and that within three weeks active operations will be commenced at the mine.

Church of England Synod.

The Synod of the Diocese of Toronto in connection with the Church of England, met at Toronto on Wednesday, the 12th inst. There was a large attendance of clerical and lay delegates. The Bishop of Niagara delivered the opening address.—He alluded to the Ritualistic movement in England, condemning it strongly. After a two days discussion, the following motion, respecting Ritualism was carried by acclamation:—

"That this Synod most strongly disapproves of the innovations in ritual which have been condemned by the Convocations of Canterbury and York, and do hereby having been raised as to the competency of this Synod to deal with the question by canon, the Lord Bishop of this diocese be requested to appoint a committee, consisting of four clergymen and four laymen, to draft a memorial on the subject of ritual to the Provincial Synod, to be reported on at the present session; and that it be an instruction to such committee in that memorial to condemn the innovations above adverted to, in the plainest language; and, pending the action of the Provincial Synod in the matter, this Synod deprecates in the strongest terms any attempt on the part of any of our clergy to introduce them into this diocese."

County Court.

ASSAULT.

Z. F. Lloyd was indicted for having on the 1st day of January last, assaulted and beat Selim Pettit.

S. PETTIT, sworn.—I live in Smithville West to the Post Office on the 1st of January last, for a letter; went into the January where the office is kept; when I went in I saw prisoner and a girl sitting together; as I went in I met John Palliser and others coming out; Palliser took hold of me and turned me round, when prisoner jumped up and struck me in the face, striking under Palliser's arm; I went on, paid no attention to him, having understood that he intended to whip me. I turned to go out when I passed the door, prisoner threw up his arm in the attitude of striking; when Palliser took hold of his arm, and in pulling it away got his hand cut. Mrs. Duffy then came up and asked prisoner to be taken to the Post Office, as she was a lady. He came up again and said I was a good Templar, and that I must fight, then the crowd or run. I refused. He then cuffed me on both sides of the face, and then he came at me, and I struck him and knocked him away; he then came at me again and we had a tussle. I threw him, and he got my thumb in his mouth and my finger being uppermost, it slipped into his eye; he then turned me, and I got my thumb in his eye, gave it a twist, and he cried out. Will you all stand round and see me murdered? I then went and separated us and they me out of doors. I did not say a word to him, until he struck me.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wallbridge.—Mr. Duffy was not there, Miss Conolly was there. He struck me before the girl went for the letter; I don't know whether Lloyd came out alone; I had no pistol; I have a small knife; I had not the knife open, nor in my hands; I did not strike at him with the knife in my hands; gave as a reason for stopping, that I thought his eye was rung out. Never told Albert Wicket, that if the spring of my knife had been strong enough, I would have cut his jugular vein; know John Gilchrist, never told him that he, witness, had a knife, and that if Defendant had struck him, he would have used it. Never told Orin Baldwin that Lloyd had had me fined for selling liquor, and he would have satisfaction.

JOHN PALLISER, sworn.—Was present at Duffy's on the 1st of January; met Pettit coming into the room, took him then, and went out into the bar-room, afterwards met him in the bar-room, when Lloyd ran against us, Pettit said "Don't do that," Lloyd threw off his coat, and took hold of Pettit, and told him to get round the stove; saw Lloyd take out his knife; I took hold of him; he jerked it down away, and cut my hand; I then went away and got my hand dressed; when I came back, I saw them have hold of each other down on their knees; they got up and Pettit struck him; they then clinched; Pettit struck him; Lloyd turned him, when Pettit called out, take him off; I took him off, and some others put Pettit out. Heard no threats to kill by Lloyd. Lloyd said "Kill me, I want to die." I came out alone; Mrs. Duffy was in the room.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wallbridge.—Did not see Lloyd strike Pettit, when he came out. He struck me as much as Pettit; I thought nothing of it.

ROBERT THOMPSON, sworn.—Was present at Duffy's, at the time referred to. After Pettit went into the sitting-room, saw Lloyd give Pettit a shove; after Pettit came out, saw Lloyd shove him again; Pettit told him to behave himself, or he would get hurt; Lloyd then took off his coat; Pettit then took his knife out, opened it, and held it in his hand; the next instant, Lloyd came in, Lloyd had Pettit against the wall with his knife out, and threatened to take his backside out, and cut his throat; Palliser then seized him; they were then parted; Lloyd then went round the stove, and slapped Pettit's face, and told him to get or take a whipping; Lloyd then took hold of him.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wallbridge.—The shove did not hurt any one.

C. VAN ALLEN, sworn.—Was at Duffy's on the 1st of January; was in the sitting-room when Pettit came in.

The evidence of this witness was in most respects similar to that of the other cross-examination; he said Lloyd did not strike Pettit while in the sitting-room.

SIMEON ASHLEY, the next witness, corroborated the evidence of Thompson as to the row in the bar-room. Witness said during the fight his dog and Pettit's dog pitched into Lloyd and separated them. Lloyd came at me and I warned him not to. He persisted and I took this stick (displaying a good sized hickory cane) and whopped him. He came at me again, and I gave him another blow which he paid attention to. I was then put out of the room. I was fined for what I did.

This closed the case for the Crown.

For the defence the first witness called was

Mrs. ELLEN DUFFY, sworn.—Is the wife of Mr. Duffy, tavern keeper. Pettit came into the sitting-room. Miss Conolly, Van Allen, Lloyd, Geo. Spencer and Albert Rose were in the room. Lloyd did not strike Pettit in the room. Lloyd had asked us to take something to drink; we refused, but said we would take some candies. Shortly after Lloyd went out as I supposed to get candies.

Cross-examined by Mr. Coleman.—There was considerable drinking going on that night, being New Year's night. Lloyd was pretty merry. I was sitting with a cat on my lap, rocking it. Lloyd did not leave the chair while Pettit was in the room.

DORRIS JANE COSOLY, sworn.—Was at the tavern; Pettit came in and asked me if there was a letter for him. Lloyd was sitting there, Pettit said "Good evening Mr. Lloyd," Lloyd turned in his chair and said "Don't know you, Mr. Pettit. Lloyd did not strike Pettit in the sitting-room."

Cross-examined by Mr. Coleman.—I was eating candies when Pettit came in. I knew there was no letter for Pettit.

JOHN VAN ALLEN, sworn.—Was at Duffy's tavern. I was at the sitting room door when Pettit came out. Sam Lloyd came out; Albert Rose had been in the room when he came out in fun. As they came along Lloyd kind of rubbed against Pettit. Don't think it was done with any harm. Pettit struck up on Lloyd's shoulder. Lloyd said, "Don't do that." I saw Pettit have a knife in his hand. I told Lloyd to be careful as Pettit had a knife. Lloyd then took off his coat and walked up to him with his knife and said to Pettit, "It's kinfing you, want to have it?"

Cross-examined by Mr. Coleman.—I have told I know of it. When Lloyd touched him, Pettit put out his hand and touched him, telling him to keep off. Don't remember ever saying to Mr. Ashley that if Pettit had killed Lloyd he would have been a right. Don't believe I ever said so. Did not tell anybody that I was out half the time the row was going on.

ALBERT ROSS, sworn.—Corroborated the evidence of the previous witnesses.

ALBERT WICKETT, sworn.—Evidence was similar to that given by previous witnesses.

JOHN GILCHRIST, sworn.—Know Pettit; saw him about a month after the fight, he told me he had his knife out, and that he told Lloyd to keep off or he would hurt him.

Orin Baldwin wished to be excused as he did not wish to make Pettit mad against him. This was overruled and witness was sworn.—Met Pettit on the street, and he told me he had his knife out and calculated to stick him with it; that Defendant did not know he had it; that Lloyd had had his (Pettit's) wife fined for selling liquor without license, and he would have revenge. Lloyd came to my house the night he had had the fight and was all blood. He had a cut near the ear, it was the cut of a knife. Don't think it could have been done with his nails; examined it closely and asked how he got hurt. Heard Pettit had cut him with a knife. Witness replied that was what he expected, as he had heard Pettit threaten him.

Mr. Wallbridge addressed the jury on behalf of Lloyd, and Mr. Coleman on the part of the crown.

Verdict given on the second count, of striking with the bar-room.

Lloyd was sentenced to pay a fine of $3, and the cost of the suit, in all $53.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

SUIT FOR WAGES.

THOMAS E. KELLY.—An action for wages, Plaintiff sued for balance of ten months wages as miller, amounting to about $140.

LANSON J. LOOMIS, sworn.—Am a Millwright. Know Thomas, heard a conversation between Plaintiff and Defendant. Thomas was to have $25 per month for the first six months, and $25 per month for the next six months, and a house free, the house is worth $2 per month. The mill is in Dartford, Northumberland. Thomas commenced in September last. He was at work in February last. Thomas said one day he would not go out to work in the rain. Kelly did not furnish Thomas with a house while witness was there.

Cross-examined by Mr. Douglass.—Heard Kelly ask Thomas if he had not been hired for 12 months; Thomas said he was hired for 12 months; Kelly said he was hired for the mill and see that the millwrights did the work properly. Heard Kelly ask Thomas if he was not to work round the mill, until the mill began running. Thomas assented to this. Have worked for several years at millwright business. Plaintiff claimed to be a first class miller. Kelly wished him to draw timber for a floor, it was necessary to have the timber drawn to keep the men at work, on this occasion he did not do it. Thomas was idle about the mill part of the time, there was not work all the time.

Mr. Jellett objected to such questions, on the ground that he had nothing on the record to justify the asking of such questions.

Mr. Douglass, replied that he could cite a case where a man left before his time expired, and that he had a right to show negligence.

Examination continued.—Never saw him idle half a day.

By Mr. Jellett.—Thomas was not there to direct the millwright.

NATHANIEL B. DORLAND, sworn.—Knew Plaintiff and Defendant, am a Carpenter, worked for Kelly; worked in the mill after it commenced running; thinks Thomas commenced about the latter end of June. Thomas left Kelly in the first part of April; know that Thomas worked late sometimes, sometimes till 11 and 12 o'clock, and once till 3 in the morning. Thomas boarded with me; Kelly said he would pay Thomas' board when the mill commenced to run; heard Kelly say Thomas did not like to work under another miller, and asked me to advise him to go to another mill, but if he did not wish to go, he (Kelly) would keep him; that he was satisfied with him; heard Kelly say he thought he had as good a miller as the first one he had.

Cross-examined by Mr. Douglass.—There was a run of stone idle; don't know whether Thomas could set it running or not; was called to assist in making some little change in one of the bolts.

HENRY CUNNINGHAM, sworn.—Live in Dartford, went there on 18th March last, think Thomas was working for Kelly for three or six months after that time. There was dispute between Kelly and Thomas about some boom timber; Kelly got in a rage and told Thomas if he went into the mill again he would put him out; Thomas did not work any more after that at the mill.

Cross-examined by Mr. Douglass.—This dispute was on the Boom; Kelly was drawing cedar, and Thomas doing nothing; don't know what the dispute was about; was 4 or 5 rods from them, suppose the dispute was in reference to assisting in getting the boom timber. Kelly asked for the key of the mill, and Thomas refused to give it up; Thomas had not been dismissed then; Thomas gave a reason for not giving up the key it was after this that Kelly told him to go; saw Kelly take off the lock with his hands, the door was not locked, the lock hung in the staple.

By Mr. Jellett.—Thomas said he would not give the key until settled with.

JOHN PARKER THOMAS, sworn.—Wrote to Kelly; had a conversation after with Kelly; Kelly appeared to be willing to settle, and pay him what he owed him.

Mr. Douglass objected on the ground that, as there was no settlement, a conversation between an Attorney and a person who was sued could not be used.

Examination continued.—No settlement took place; we took both sides of the account. Heard Kelly say he would not pay him by item. He admitted that the first was correct, and that Plaintiff worked a certain time—that he promised to provide him a house. Plaintiff has charged the whole month of April; but Kelly objected; witness charged $25 per month; but Kelly would only admit $20; Kelly said he had a contra account, which they examined. There were other items which Defendant said he would bring in on the 27th of April; he did not come; met him on the 3rd of April, when he said $15 would cover the contra account, he had at home; he then said he would come down on the 6th of May, but did not come; there was no settlement.

This evidence was ruled out as not admissible on the ground taken by Mr. Douglass.

The Court then adjourned till to-morrow morning, at half-past 9 o'clock, when the case was to be resumed.

American Despatches.

FEARFUL RAVAGES OF THE CHOLERA.

NEW YORK, June 14.—The Herald's Rio Janeiro correspondence of May 7th says cholera was raging in the Brazilian camp on the river Platta. Nearly 200 men had died in four days. Two thousand troops had been despatched to Corinto, to restrain the population from destroying the Hospitals. General Moniz had 10,000 men at Corinto; and it was rumored he had declared against the alliance in Buenos Ayres. The streets of the city were filled with funerals, and people were dying of cholera on the piers, about the door steps and everywhere. Crowds were rushing away and every little hamlet in the interior was crowded with refugees.

FROM MEXICO.

The Herald's San Luis Potosi correspondent of May 20th, says to-morrow Maximilian, Miram, Megia and Castello may very possibly be sentenced to be shot. Maximilian has offered to abdicate and use his influence to cause immediate surrender of Myres. In return he asked the lives and safe conduct of the country of himself, officers and troops, and Generals Megia and Castello. These proposals were rejected and the Emperor, Miram and Megia were placed in separate cells and a court martial organized to try them. If sentence is passed it will undoubtedly be death, and the fate of Maximilian will be shown by his chief officers. Notice has been served upon the President that Maximilian deserves the jurisdiction of the Court on the grounds of International law. Ima government, he says, recognized by every power in the world, except the United States, and the nation. They may be tried by a legal Congress of the nations. The ministry have been in deliberation all night. What the result will be no one ventures to predict.

NEW YORK, June 14.—It is stated the Loyal League last night made another attempt to expel Horace Greeley, but failed.

ON EARTH.

New York Circus!

From the Hippodrome Iron Buildings, Fourteenth Street, New York.

L. B. LENT, - - - Director.

On Friday, June 28.

THIS well known Troupe, the reputation of which will be familiar to all who are in the habit of visiting the city of New York, is permanently located during the greater portion of the year at its Colossal Iron Buildings, occupying a frontage of one hundred and twenty-five feet on Fourteenth Street, opposite the Academy of Music, and is universally acknowledged to surpass in the number and talent of its Artists, the beauty and thorough training of its Performing Horses and Ponies, and the splendor of its wardrobe and paraphernalia any similar exhibition ever brought before the American public. As the position of this celebrated metropolitan establishment as the leading Circus of America, is too firmly established to be seriously questioned in any quarter, it is only necessary to state that the entire Mammoth Company of the New York Establishment will appear at each representation, and that the performances will be found more varied and brilliant than anything hitherto witnessed on this side of the Atlantic.

The New York Circus is now on its second annual Summer Tour by Railway, visiting principal towns only, and is fully endorsed by the entire press of New York as well as the leading journals of all cities in which it has appeared, as infinitely superior in all respects to any Circus that has ever been seen on this Continent.

THE GALAXY OF STARS comprised in this Mammoth Company includes

Mlle Carlotta de Berg,

The most dashing and daring Equestrienne the world has ever produced, from the Cirque Napoleon, Paris, whose extraordinary and unprecedented style of Equestrianism, so different from anything of the kind that has preceded it, never fails to inspire the wildest enthusiasm.

NOTHING TO COMPARE WITH IT has ever been attained by any other lady rider in any age or country, and no words can do justice to the Wondrous Skill and Daring displayed by this beautiful, accomplished and fascinating Artist, whose achievements on her swift running courser, at once terrific and enchanting beyond description.

EL NINO EDDIE,

THE CHILD WONDER.

The most extraordinary youthful prodigy of whom we have any account, although a mere child, SUZUKI'S RUNDON ON THE TIGHT ROPE, and is the most graceful juvenile rider of the age.

The world renowned

Runnels Family.

From the principal Amphitheatres of London, Paris, Vienna and St. Petersburg, who, as professors of the Classic School of Gymnastics are without rivals on earth, their great act of CLASSIC GYMNASTIC GROUPINGS, having been acknowledged in all the capitals of the Old World to be the very perfection of physical culture and artistic grace.

James H. Madigan,

The champion Somerset Rider, who has no equal on this continent for feats of desperate daring, together with the Greatest Force of Daring Riders; Accomplished Acrobats; Classic Gymnasts; Comical Clowns; Slack Rope Vaulters; Posture Masters; Equilibriumists; Vol-tigeurs; Tumblers and Pantomimists, ever brought together in this country, involving a great expenditure for salaries than is incurred by any four travelling companies, and embracing more first class Artists than can be found in any Circus in the World.

County Court.

FOURTH DAY, FRIDAY, June 14th, 1887. Judge Sherwood presiding. THOMAS vs. KELLY.—This case was resumed. Mr. Douglas moved this morning for a non-suit on the ground: That the action is on the common counts only—the billing for 12 months certain, as well as after the mill commenced running; and to do any work for the mill commenced running. The evidence shows, however, in referring to the common counts for past unpaid service. The common counts for past unpaid service. The action should be for wrongful dismissal. Mr. Douglas argued his points at length when the Judge said it was better to go on with the suit, with leave to move in term. ROBERT GARTSWAIN, sworn.—Know how working for Kelly, commenced working as miller on the 12th March, when I went into the mill. Question.—When you went into the mill did you find things wrong? Mr. Jellitt objected, to such questions, as irrelevant to the issue. The Judge ruled that if the evidence was to show that plaintiff was properly dismissed, it was admissible. Examination continued.—Found most of the things wrong in the mill. It was the millwright's duty to have them right. Plaintiff asked defendant why he did not tell him that the work was not properly done. Plaintiff replied that he thought it would be to no use. Defendant told plaintiff was to have charge. Plaintiff replied that he would not have me or any other person over him. The mill was then shut down. Plaintiff demanded a settlement. Defendant said he was ready. They went into the office. Plaintiff started the mill at 10 o'clock, and moved the mill. I then took charge and Kelly and Thomas were trying to settle. At night Thomas locked the mill and took the key with him to his boarding house. Next morning I went to the mill; he told me he would keep the key until Kelly settled with him. They tried to settle for some time but did not, Thomas keeping the key in the mill. I asked the men were doing nothing in the mill—Kelly was drawing timber and asked Thomas to assist. Thomas said that he would not, that his place was in the mill. I offered to go as we were doing nothing, but Kelly said I should not, that my place was in the mill. We were doing nothing at the time. Thomas kept the key, locking the door whenever he went to his room. Kelly called on the staple with a pickaxe, and put a new one in Thomas asked me to trade keys; this was after the lock was forced. The mill was not in good running order. I did not think plaintiff worth $200 a month. Was present when the plaintiff and defendant attempted to settle. Saw them have their accounts. Plaintiff made no objections to defendant's account, only to loss of time in one month. Mr. Jellitt objected to the evidence as being inadmissible. The Judge overruled. Cross-examined by Mr. Jellitt, asked a Millwright: When Thomas went away he took the key but left the door open. JAMES KELLY, sworn.—Know the parties was at the mill on the 3rd of August. Don't know Thomas's writing. ROBERT GARTSWAIN, recalled.—To prove certain facts in the defendant's account. B. MANTLE, sworn.—Worked for Kelly two months before Christmas. Thomas told me he was hired by the year. Know Thomas often referred to the mill, and ground work for three months, said he was hired to work in the mill, said his boots would leak. Some other evidence was given on matters of account, when the respective counsel addressed the jury. Verdict for plaintiff of $110.54. J. Parker Thomas, Attorney, and R. P. Jellitt, counsel for plaintiff. A. R. Douglas for defendant.

FROM TORONTO.

TORONTO, June 15th.

Reports here today, made by one in good position to know, that the last of July, the dibernians of this city are going ostensibly on an excursion to the Falls; but in reality to meet a large party of Fenians, who are ready to invade this country. More truth in this than people are willing to admit.

At the last meeting of the Hibernian Society of this city, a letter was read from Hon. George Brown, asking the Roman Catholics to support the Clear Grit party at the approaching elections.

FROM OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, June 15.

A Cabinet Council was held yesterday, and today.

Snider-Enfield breech loading rifles, are to be exchanged for those now in hands of Volunteers, at once. Depot for this district will be at Kingston. The Official Gazette contains a lengthy order respecting the exchange.

Total Revenue of the Province for May, $1,063,307; expenditure, $957,373.

CRICKET.—A match was played yesterday between the Belleville and Pictou Cricket Clubs, which resulted in a victory for the latter by 57 runs. The game was decided by the first innings.

MILITARY FOR CANADA.—We learn from the Army and Navy Gazette of the 1st inst., that the 28th Highlanders, at present forming part of the garrison of Gibraltar, are under orders for Canada. Also, that an order has been received at the headquarters of the 1st division of the Depot Brigade, directing detachments of Field Artillery to be held in readiness to embark for Canada, for the purpose of augmenting the Royal Artillery Forces serving in the new Dominion. These movements don't smack much like the withdrawal of the regular troops from Canada, as asserted by a contemporary not long since.

Wesleyan Methodist Conference.

The debate on the question of dividing the Wesleyan Methodist Conference was concluded on Thursday evening, and the proposal was rejected by a vote of 162 against the division, 128 voting in favor of it. A resolution was introduced by the Rev. H. Christopher relating to the operations of the Bible Society, and complaining of the circulation of the metrical version of the Psalms by the Society. A conversation ensued, and the subject was referred to the Conference.

Dr. Taylor moved to lay the subject over for one year, with a pledge to this Conference that he would, if spared, bring the deliverance of the U. C. B. Committee.

The amendment was lost, and the motion prevailed, which was as follows:—

Moved by Rev. H. Christopher, and seconded by Rev. Thomas Harburt, and Resolved, That whereas the Conference claims to be second to none in its regard for the principles and aims of that noble and benevolent institution, the British and Foreign Bible Society, and has ever prized the opportunity of exhibiting that regard by co-operating with its Canadian auxiliary, the Upper Canada Bible Society. It is with deep regret we learn that, for questionable reasons, the Board of Directors at Toronto have, by official circular to the branches, so interfered with the broad catholicity of that institution as necessarily to alienate several denominations from our ranks, and now, I think with much reason, regret that so preferential a concession to a single denomination, as the permission to the branches to sell its denominational psalmody, should be permitted to do violence to the sympathy of other and no less influential sections of the Christian Church.

The number of weeks reported during the week ending 15th May, has been 45, making for the present year a total of 1,305.

Canada Presbyterian Church.

On Wednesday afternoon it was decided to hold the next meeting of Synod at Montreal on the Tuesday after the first Sunday in June, 1868. Resolutions to place the Kankakee mission (Rev. Father Chignigny), in a better condition were adopted.

According to reports submitted on Thursday, there was an increase of 19 ministers during the year; increase in the number of families, 4,792. The increase in communicants over last year was 2341. The reports from the mission fields were in the highest degree gratifying. The number of Scholars reported in connection with Sabbath Schools and Bible Classes is 29,319; these Sabbath Schools have in their libraries, 61,850 volumes; in addition to this there are congregational libraries, consisting of 11,048 volumes. The financial condition of the Church was very satisfactory; the Stipend Fund shows a very gratifying increase. The question of marriage with deceased wife's sister was considered, and it was decided to leave the further consideration of the subject until the next meeting of the Synod. The Synod adjourned on Thursday.

Destructive Fire.

This morning about half past two o'clock, a fire was discovered in the bindery of Mr. E. Harrison, Front street. The alarm was at once given, and in a few minutes after the steam fire engine was on the ground with steam up ready for action. She was at once placed on the bank of the river in rear of Ritchie's store, and two branches of hose attached. Those in charge managed the steamer admirably, and she did excellent execution. Indeed, had the firemen had to depend upon the hand engine, we should have had to deplore a much more serious loss, as it would have been impossible to have kept the fire from destroying the buildings adjoining on the north and south sides. As it is the fire has been very disastrous, involving a loss of from $15,000 to $20,000.

The fire had got considerable headway when first discovered, and the combustible material in the bindery increased its ravages so rapidly that in a few moments it had communicated to the Daugerren rooms of Mr. Boyce, and the law office of Mr. A. R. Dougall, on the same flat. Scarcely anything in the bindery was saved. The furniture, instruments, &c., of Mr. Boyce were all destroyed, and we regret to learn that he was uninsured. His loss is about $1,000. Mr. Dougall succeeded, with the assistance of friends, in saving his valuable Law Library and nearly all his papers.

The ground floor was occupied by Mr. Harrison as a Book and Stationery store, and by Messrs. George Ritchie & Co., Dry Goods Merchants. A considerable portion of the goods in both stores was taken out and removed, but of course in a somewhat damaged condition.

The upper portion of the building was thoroughly gutted; the lower portion, owing to the continuous supply of water, was not so much damaged. The building was owned by E. Harrison, Esq., and was partially insured in the North British and Mercantile Co. His stock was insured in the same company. Mr. Ritchie's loss is covered by insurance in the following companies: Western of England; Commercial Union; London Corporation, and North British.

We regret to learn that a serious accident happened to one of the sons of Mr. Harrison. While assisting in removing goods he was overcome by the smoke, and before he reached the door, fell from exhaustion. He was at once removed to the Anglo-American Hotel, where medical aid was procured, and everything was done that could be to relieve his sufferings. At last accounts he was still very low, but a great improvement had taken place in his condition, and hopes are entertained of his recovery.

James T. Bell's Esq., Letter.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

The letter in Thursday's Daily Intelligencer, by Mr. Bell, to the Hon. A. Campbell, I read with pleasure and to profit. Although I am not a practical miner, yet I feel a lively interest in the search being made in the back country for gold, and other minerals. Since gold was discovered, I have not failed, by ought that I could reasonably do, to further the development of the same, and I know that through my public lectures in different parts of the Province, during the past winter, I was the means of persuading many to visit the gold regions. But then, and now, I think with Mr. Bell that the placer digging will be few and poor. At that time I hoped for a liberal policy from the Government, and I was much disappointed when they ordered a tax to be levied, especially so early. The very nature of the gold deposits called for a bonus instead of a tax. Hence, I for one, feel thankful to Mr. Bell, for calling the attention of the authorities to this matter, and I do sincerely trust that every encouragement will be given to the sacrificing spirit, and noble hearted men, who are so earnestly testing our supposed mineral country. Time enough to tax when men begin to get their piles. I know from conversation, as well as by letters that the present policy has retarded very seriously the work. No doubt the Hon. Minister of Crown Lands, has done intentionally the best, but practically his policy is a failure, and unless there be a liberal change very soon, I am afraid, the whole thing will be jeopardized. In the multitude of counsel there is safety. I have read Mr. Bell's letters on mineralogy and trust he will give us more.

Yours respectfully,
 JOSEPH WILD.

Telegraphic News.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

DUBLIN, June 14.—The trial of the Fenian Walsh and a number of his companions, who has been in progress before the Special Commission's Session, in Limerick, has resulted in the conviction of all the accused. The supposed Fenians who landed and were captured a short time ago at Dangerron, were subsequently taken to Waterford and confined in goal there. This week they have been undergoing a preliminary examination, and the testimony given so far, shows that four of them had served as officers in the United States army during the late rebellion. Yesterday, while the prisoners were being conducted from the court house to the goal, in charge of a strong police force, a crowd of their sympathizing friends gathered from all parts of the city, and made a fierce attack upon the guard with the intention of effecting a rescue. A fight ensued, during which some thirty of the police were injured. One of the attacking party was killed, and six are known to have been wounded by the fire of the guard. The latter made a stout defence, and succeeded in safely depositing their prisoners in the city prison, when the mob dispersed.

LONDON, June 14.—It is reported that the negotiations which for a long time have been pending between the Cabinets of Copenhagen and Berlin, with reference to Schleswig, have been concluded, but the result at which the two Governments have arrived has not yet been made public.

Despatches from Athens report that many volunteers have left Greece to reinforce the ranks of the Christian patriots in Candia, and large volunteer camps have been established in the island.

American Despatches.

FROM CHINA.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—The steamer Colorado has arrived at this port, in twenty days from Japan, and brings Hong Kong dates up to May 25th, Shanghai, May 19th, and Yokohama, Japan May 25th.

A cable has been ordered in England for a submarine Telegraph Cable between Hong and Shanghai.

RACE.

NEW YORK, June 15th.—To-day Dezter and Lady Thorne trotted their third match for $2,000, two mile heat. Dezter won in two straight heats, time, 4:51 and 5 minutes one and a half seconds.

IMPORTANT INVENTION.

BERLIN, June 15.—An important invention for substituting Petroleum for Coal in steam navigation was tested on board the Government steamer Potosi, yesterday. Steam was got up in 25 minutes and the Potosi proceeded 35 miles in one hour and fifty-five minutes, consuming but four barrels of oil. With coal she would not exceed 8 knots per hour. Government engineers expressed themselves surprised at the result, which will create a great revolution in navigation.

MURDER.

PHILADELPHIA, June 15.—Yesterday, while some boys were drinking from a hydrant in front of some new buildings, one, aged five years, was instantly killed by a brick thrown by a workman. The murderer was arrested.

By Mr. Jellett.—Am not a surveyor; R might stand for road; it is what is put upon points; will not swear that there was a surveyor. Franklin was before the Magistrate, but was not convicted, nor sent to trial. There appeared to have been two surveys, as marks had been made twice on the same trees, traced the line of the road, as No. 3 went, told Franklin I did not know that it would make any difference if he drew the balance, which had been cut away.

GILBERT SHART, sworn.—Was with O. R. Ketcheson when he went to count the number of trees cut; it was a week ago yesterday, on the road allowance between the 16th and 11th concessions, counted 125 stumps, some were 44 inches through, thinks the trees taken off the allowance were worth $40, we could trace the road allowance easy enough.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jellett.—One tree I think was 30 inches through.

HENRY ROOKS, sworn.—Was with Franklin when he cut the timber on the road allowance, helped to cut the trees; Franklin said he had as good a right to the timber as any one; the men talked about it; saw the blaze; never was in with me; we cast it over one day and thought it was about 120 trees.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jellett.—Daniel Sleeper, Bill Derry, and Wm. Finny were working there; don't know where the line runs.

Mr. Jellett moved to quash the indictment on the ground that one was made out, because the property in the timber is in the right of the Crown, and not in the Township of Huntingdon. There has been no By-Law passed to preserve the timber. No unlawful intent charged in the indictment.

The Judge recommended that the question of fact as to the criminal intent and value of the timber should be left to the Jury.

FOR THE DEFENCE.

W. FERRY, sworn.—Was in Franklin's employment; were cutting on east half of lot three in the eleventh concession. Could not tell when they got to the road allowance. Could not tell where the line was. Franklin did not know what another where the line was; run from the west post with a pocket compass to find the line, so as not to trespass upon others. Don't know the value, as I don't know what the timber is any allowance. Don't remember the conversation spoken of by last witness on the next lot.—Land could be bought for $3 an acre, with cedar on it as good as ash.

Cross-examined by Mr. Coleman.—Think he was cutting on No. 3, in the 11th concession; was there when Ketcheson came and told Franklin he was cutting on the road, saw marks but could not tell whether they were lines or not.

J. J. HASLET, sworn.—Am a surveyor, swears to a certain document.

W. EVO, sworn.—Was teamster drawing timber. Would not give over $5 for lot standing; would get as much for that amount; there are over a hundred acres there; just as good.

Cross-examined by Mr. Coleman.—A 1,000 ralis is not worth much. Have no recollection of having told him that Franklin said he had as good a right to the timber as any one.

B. SANDERS, sworn.—I examined the land and found old stumps as well as new; the value of the cedar on the lot is worth $6 or $7; don't know where the line is.

C. L. COLEMAN, C. A. for the prosecution; R. P. JELLET for defence.

BURGLARY.

QUEEN OF THOMAS JOHNSTON and WILLIAM VALLEY.—The prisoners were indicted for breaking into the shop of P. H. Hambley and stealing money therefrom.

P. H. HAMBLEY, sworn.—Have a shop on Front Street. Was awake on Thursday night until 3 o'clock, went down to the shop, carrying a lamp; on entering the shop found a chair against the door; was the last to leave the shop, and thought it strange it should be there; examined the side door and heard a noise; opened it and shouted police, three or four times, then shut it and bolted it, then roused the house; examined the cellar, then returned to the shop and found one of the tills broken open and the money that was left gone; examined a large drawer, where the cash box was kept during the day, and found it open; then found that an entrance had been effected through one of the back windows. In the morning one of my young men went out and found a brace, saying he found it near the gangway. The drawers had been opened, on either side of the lock, and the wood chipped off. There was a tract on the table near the window through which the entry was made. Took the brace to the old saw, and he said that the brace was the same as the one that was used by Capt. James in the morning. During the day, on hearing that one of the Police Force called on me, I went to see him and asked him what he had to say. On the Sunday following Sergeant-Major Foxton called on me and asked me if I had any suspicions, and after a conversation steps were taken to arrest the prisoners. After some conversation between Sergeant-Major Foxton, the prisoners and myself they confessed being the parties, and were arrested shortly after.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jellett.—When arrested they were in my dining-room; it was understood between Foxton and myself that they should be there; it was understood that Capt. James would be with hearing. I gave prisoners to understand that I did not wish to do anything further in the matter if they would confess. Foxton said that from some remarks between himself and Benson, one of them asked if he thought I would settle the matter if he made a confession. I acquiesced in the idea that they should appear before me to make the confession, on the idea that I would settle it. I know that they were aware that Capt. James was to be there to arrest them.

By Mr. Coleman.—Anything that Foxton was told by prisoners was not obtained through anything that I had said.

GEO. JAMES, sworn.—Am Chief of Police of Belleville. On Friday morning 9th April, last, Hambley came to my residence and informed me that his house had been entered that morning and his tills forced open, and money and other property taken, as the same name Hambley was a brace, which he stated was found at the outer door by one of his men. He went to his house and found his tills, large and small, one had been forced open, and the contents of a bit or auger on either side of the lock; asked him how much money had been taken. He said about a dollar in small notes, and accompanied him to an inner room near the bar, and found one foot-pair had been pointing towards the window. Made enquiries the next two days. On the following Sunday evening about eight o'clock, Hambley called upon me and told me that prisoners had acknowledged it, and wished me to accompany him to his residence. I went to the back window of Hambley's house, the window was open and the curtain thrown back, I heard voices inside and listened, and I heard the voices of Hambley, Foxton and Johnston, one of the prisoners. Hambley expressed a wish that prisoner would make a clean breast of it. Foxton then remarked if the money is returned, Hambley would not press the matter against them. I then went into the house and entered the room where they were. The conversation ceased when I entered. I asked Valley what his name was and where he came from. He replied it was William Valley, and he came from Ottawa. I said there has been a robbery committed in this house within the last few nights, and from positive information received, I believe you are the parties who did it. I then cautioned them not to make any statement or admission in my presence. I shall have to use it against you, and that the less you say, the better.

I said there was a robbery committed in this house within the last few nights, and from positive information received, I believe you are the parties who did it. I then cautioned them not to make any statement or admission in my presence. I shall have to use it against you, and that the less you say, the better. After a pause Valley said, I acknowledge to have been one of the parties and came here to try and settle it with Mr. Hambley. Johnston said it was all the fault of drink. I then arrested them, and Hambley said might not let charge be withdrawn against them. Then I said I had nothing to do with that. I then took them to the jail.

Cross-examined by Mr. Dickinson.—Heard Foxton holding out the inducement already detailed. Hambley made arrangements with me to come to the house, and described the particular window to which I was to go, and I did not know what another where the line was; run from the west post with a pocket compass to find the line, so as not to trespass upon others. Don't know the value, as I don't know what the timber is any allowance. Don't remember the conversation spoken of by last witness on the next lot.—Land could be bought for $3 an acre, with cedar on it as good as ash.

PETER FOXTON, sworn.—Am Sergeant-Major of the Mounted Police. The two prisoners were part of the Mounted Police under my command. Went to see Valley, and asked him if he had heard of the reports about him, he said he had, and had been advised by one of the men to meet his horse and go away. I told him to stand his ground. Had some conversation with him about the robbery; he would not admit it at that time; went and asked Hambley if he had any suspicion of the party, he replied that Valley and Johnston were the only persons in that room the night before. Told him that Valley had given money to Johnston, and that he was one of them. Hambley said he did not wish to punish them for reasons given, and that if I would go and tell them if they would come and make a clean breast of it, he would not push the matter. I would tell them; Valley replied, I was one who went in. They then went with me to Hambley's, and Johnston there said, I am the other. This was after I told him that the money was not his. Then Captain James came in; I went to Hambley.

Cross-examined by Mr. Dickinson.—The confessions were made under the promise that they would not be prosecuted. This ended the case.

Mr. Jellett asked if there was any evidence to go to the Jury.

Mr. Coleman thought there was some slight evidence.

THE JUDGE.—If there is any evidence at all, it is very strong evidence. He then informed the Jury that the evidence produced on the part of the Crown, having been procured through and promise to prisoners of not prosecuting them, could not be received, therefore, they were not to be admitted. Valley replied, I was one who went in. They then went with me to Hambley's, and Johnston there said, I am the other. This was after I told him that the money was not his. Then Captain James came in; I went to Hambley.

PRESENTMENT.

We, the Grand Jurors of our Lady the Queen, beg leave to present: That we have examined the old saw, and he said that the brace was the same as the one that was used by Capt. James in the morning. During the day, on hearing that one of the Police Force called on me, I went to see him and asked him what he had to say.  THE principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required
 to develop the benefits of Life Assurance, and afford every facility to intending assured.
 One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Deed of Settlement to Ten per Cent of the Net Life Insurance. This most important restriction shows that the interests of participating policy holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management

L. B. LENT, Director.

On Friday, June 28.
 THIS well known Troupe, the reputation of which will be familiar to all who are in the habit of visiting the city of New York, is permanently located during the greater portion of the year at its Colosseum Iron Buildings, occupying a frontage of one hundred and twenty-five feet on Fourteenth Street, opposite the Academy of Music, and is universally acknowledged to surpass in the equanimity and talent of its Artists, the best and thorough training of its Performing Horses and Ponies, and the splendor of its wardrobe and paraphernalia any similar exhibition ever brought before the American public. As the position of this celebrated metropolitan establishment as the leading Circus of America, is too firmly established to be seriously questioned in any quarter, it is only necessary to state that the entire Mammoth Company of the New York Establishment will appear at each representation, and that the performances will be found more varied and brilliant than anything hitherto witnessed on this side of the Atlantic.

The New York Circus is now on its second annual Summer Tour by Railway, visiting principal towns only, and is fully endorsed by the entire press of New York as well as the leading journals of all cities in which it has appeared, as infinitely superior to all respects to any Circus that has ever been seen on this Continent.
 The GALAXY OF STARS comprised in this Mammoth Company includes

Mlle Carlotta de Berg,
 The most dashing and daring Equestrienne the world has ever produced from the Cirque Nepoleon, Paris, whose extraordinary and unprecedented style of Equestrianism, so different from anything of the kind that has preceded it, never fails to inspire the wildest enthusiasm.
 NOTHING TO COMPARE WITH IT has ever been attained by any other lady rider in any age or country, and no words can do justice to the Wondrous Skill and Daring displayed by this beautiful, accomplished and fascinating Artist, whose achievements on her swift running courser are at once terrific and enchanting beyond description.

EL NINO EDDIE,
 THE CHILD WONDER.
 The most extraordinary youthful prodigy of whom we have any account, although a mere child, has been seen in the world. He is the most perfect juvenile rider of the age.

County Court.

FIFTH DAY.
SATURDAY, June 15th, 1867.
QUEEN vs. FRANKLIN, Trespass—In this case judgment was reserved till next court, might be argued. Franklin gave bail for his appearance.

DISCHARGED.
Mr. Gilbert made application for the discharge of one Sharp, who had been confined for not procuring bail to keep the peace. Prisoner was brought up and discharged.

EMBEZZLEMENT.
QUEEN vs. GEORGE WASHINGTON DAVIS. The prisoner was indicted for embezzling certain property entrusted to him by the Hon. Billis Flint.

A discussion arose between Mr. Jellert and the County Attorney; Mr. Jellert alleging that there being but two acts of embezzlement charged in the indictment, the prosecution should be confined to the proving of these two acts. Mr. Coleman argued that he had the right and power to prove any number of acts of embezzlement. The Judge decided in favor of the view taken by Mr. Jellert.

JAMES HARRISON, sworn.—Live in Bridgewater, manage the business of Mr. Flint at that place. Employed prisoner as harness maker for Mr. Flint in 1855; was to receive $1 a day and board. Mr. Flint supplied tools and stock. There was a book kept to keep the accounts of the harness shop; in separate from other accounts. He went to work under this agreement. His instructions were to give no harness except ordered by Mr. Flint, or on an order. Prisoner rendered accounts in connection with the business to the of goods sold. An account was put in which is in his hand writing. Prisoner was authorized to give articles of night harness for men known to be in Mr. Flint's employment. It was his duty to render an account of all business done; he did not render any account of money, pistoles and butter received from Simon Howe.

Q. Did he give a return of articles received from Barry?
Mr. Jellert objects to the answer, having given evidence of an act of embezzlement of property and money received from Simon Howe, cannot now give evidence of any act of embezzlement of chattels delivered by Robert Barry or any other person.

The Judge sustained the objection, stating that he could only give evidence of one act of embezzlement of chattels and one money, but might proceed with the examination and then elect which two he would take.

Examination Continued.—Did not render any account of money or articles received from Barry; rendered no account of goods or money received from one Kindin or James W. Hicks.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jellert.—Davis was in charge of the shop for about sixteen months; he had others working with him; had a file upon which to put the accounts of the harness shop. There were two in the shop; never had a settlement with prisoner; he was a married man, his wife came to the village and they set up house keeping. Davis hired assistance; don't know that men ever got goods on a bill; don't know that any of the men under Davis got more than $1 a day.

Remember giving Davis money to buy hair; don't know that he ever rendered an account for board; don't know that rent was paid for the shop; an entry was made in the books, but it was a mistake. Davis worked late and rendered an account for extra time. A good deal of business was done, but no settlement. The way we do is to give a bill for the week's work, which was current for goods. Davis did sell with out an order. Had no authority to buy and sell by the bargain. The contract was not strictly adhered to; Mr. Flint frequently cautioned him. Heard Davis had a cow which Kindin sold him for harness. Had no bargain with prisoner as to board after he and his wife had set up house-keeping; never had any squabble with prisoner. Davis put the prices upon the harness; Ross grumbled about the price charged by Davis for harness. Ross is Flint's foreman.

Remember of prisoner complaining of things being charged twice in the harness shop book. Mr. Flint complained of the manner in which the business was done, and that Davis was not distinguished. Have asked Davis over twenty times for a settlement.

By Mr. Coleman.—Mr. Flint told me repeatedly not to charge things to Davis.

EDWARD HARRISON, sworn.—Have been a clerk and book keeper in Mr. Flint's store in Bridgewater. The harness shop was Mr. Flint's establishment. Heard Davis was at Nelson's. He told me that Davis would quit work; that the shop was Flint's; heard several conversations about the bargain; he was to work for wages; since then Davis rendered no account for the harness shop; this was in February last; when I was taken stock in the harness shop I asked Davis, if there was anything more to be put in the inventory, he said there was nothing; he said that he was found in a small desk he left in the shop, some tools and a memorandum which I believe to be in his own hand writing, showing $133 50 worth of work; which had been appropriated to his own use, not given in. Prisoner afterwards gave a memorandum of accounts to the harness shop. Prisoner when in the office, I told him if he had anything further to report, to do so, as it would be to his advantage; he then said there was something due the shop; he gave me the memorandum.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jellett.—Never heard Davis claim to have an interest in the shop. Merrell is Book-keeper, and still in the employment of Mr. Flint.

HON. BILLA FLINT, sworn.—I am the owner of the harness shop; Harrison spoke to me about Davis, whom he said wanted to go to work; I replied it must be for wages; my reason for this was that I had been "bitten" by allowing others to run accounts. Davis went to work. I was afterwards disatisfied with the manner in which the shop was turning out; prisoner said it was on account of the bad stock with which he had been furnished by Empey, that he could not make the shop pay. Any stock he got was charged on the harness shop book against the shop. Davis said if he got good stock he could make it pay well; I told him I would furnish him with the best stock I could get, that I was anxious to have as much harness made up as I could by the winter as I was going to do a large business in the spring. Asked him how many sets of harness he could make up to 12 sides of leather; he said 4, that it would take a week to make up a set. Asked him how much he would require weekly to support his family, he replied $5 a week for the present as he had a cow and some potatoes. I told him I asked such questions as I intended to instruct the Book-keeper not to pay any more, that if he could leave the balance until spring probably he could have enough to commence business on himself; that whenever he was able to stock the shop I would get it for him and give him as much work as he would give me at Belleville prices, but he must understand that I would not advance $1. He professed to think that by spring he could stock the shop on his own account, when the present stock was done.

Some more as I wished to get a large stock on hand by the winter on account of the shanties. Cautioned him against letting anything go out of the shop without my consent or an order from Harrison. He went to work, got a due bill that afternoon; if the shop did not pay I said I would close it. Continued to furnish much harness he wanted. Davis had his own eave answer. Ross came to town and told me he could not get what he wanted at Bridgewater; I then came to the conclusion of closing the shop. Early in January I found that stock had been taken and that there was no return; stock was given after that to Davis which he had used. After the shop was closed prisoner asked me to settle; told him I could not but as I was going away, told him he had been selling harness and appropriating the proceeds to himself; he denied this, afterwards admitted selling a set to Kline. He never owned the business, nor any part of it.

ROBERT NELSON, sworn.—Am in Flint's employment, was with Harrison when the stock was taken, and was told by Mr. Flint to lock the door and give him the key. Before leaving the shop a person made a purchase and paid $6, which he handed to me to give to Mr. Flint, as he said it was not his, and said if Mr. Flint would not let him work in the shop, he would drive the wheelbarrow prisoner taking wood. He replied I must furnish wood and light.

Cross-examined by Mr. Jellett.—Never made any exchange of old dollars for new ones; might have told one Clapp to go and make the change.

JAMES N. HICKS, sworn.—I reside in Elzevir, know the prisoner, purchased an old collar and sweat pad from him last July. Next bought a check. Got him to mend my harness in first part of the winter. Got two halters just after harvest; paid $2 for them. Previous to that I let him have some eggs on account of harness work; turned in a basket and a half potatoes last January. Had no orders from Harrison or Flint to get them. Got a check and martingale at another time; do not remember the full amount of the account.

JOHN KINSLIN, sworn.—Live in Hungerford, know prisoner; purchased a pair of doublet set of harness; paid $25 for them; think it was the latter end of September; turned out a pair of harness and turnips for me. I got some other straps and paid for them in turnips. This ended the case for the Crown.

Mr. Jellett contended that no case had been made out that the evidence showed that the prisoner had no authority to sell, and had exceeded his duty, and received the following from the books: "Where the master's goods are sold without his authority, and their price embezzled, the state does not apply."

The Judge had not looked at the case cited, and thought it best to proceed with it, and he would look into the points.

JOHN CARLTON, sworn.—Am a harness maker; worked in the shop in Bridgewater, in June and September, at $9 a week in June, and $18 a month in September; boarded with Davis in September; was paid by him in spring money and two pigs; some of the goods Davis got me, others I got at Flint's shop; on Davis due bills and orders, and then handed them back to Davis; did not pay Davis for work; Davis was acting as manager, made harness, needed harness, and sold harness; we worked over hours.

Cross-examined by Mr. Coleman.—Prisoner lost time breaking colts for Mr. Higginbottoms. By Mr. Jellett.—Helped to make the harness sold to Hicks; it was sold openly in daylight.

WILLIAM DAVIS, sworn.—A half brother of prisoner—worked for him a year ago last spring when prisoner's wife came, he boarded with them, continued there as long as he remained there. The first time I went there I got paid out of the store; the last time prisoner paid me, he had five persons working in the shop at one time; he had an apprentice. Prisoner paid some of them. He wanted Flint to put in a window, but he did not want to put one in himself at his own expense. Prisoner got a cow from Archambau, and sold it Mr. Flint.—Thought prisoner was the master until the cow was closed; got cash from Davis. Asked Edward Harrison who was going to pay me my wages, and he said he did not know.

Cross-examined by Mr. Coleman.—Prisoner gave Archambau harness for the cow, and sold her to Mr. Flint; took money for articles and gave it to Davis.

By Mr. Jellett.—It was after the trouble that Jackson Harrison and Flint got away. Carlton recalled—I hired with Davis both times and did not know Flint in the transaction.

Geo. W. Woods, sworn.—Am a harness maker; worked for Davis; he paid me in due bills on Flint's store.

Cross-examined by Mr. Coleman.—Part was paid in orders.

JOHN MCNEILLEN, sworn.—Brought Knight to work in Davis' shop. Davis gave me money to get articles in Belleville for the shop. Wood gave me a due bill, signed by Flint for five dollars.

Woods, recalled.—Prisoner boarded with us and paid me in Flint's due bills. Think I did not own prisoner anything when he came to board with me. Can't say that it was turned.

DYIN. PRISONER, sworn.—Have known Davis for six years; knew him first in Pictou, is a man of good character. This ended the case. Mr. Jellett addressed the jury on behalf of the prisoner, and Mr. Coleman for the crown. The Judge charged the jury, and said after a short absence returned a verdict of Guilty. Mr. Jellett asked to have the sentence delayed, as there were points which he wished to argue. The Court then adjourned till Monday morning.

SIXTH DAY.

MONDAY, JUNE 17.
QUEEN VS. GEORGE WASHINGTON DAVIS.—In this case Mr. Jellett withdrew the objections he intended taking to the indictment, and Mr. Flint intimated that he did not wish to have the prisoner punished too severely. The Judge, under the circumstances, and considering the length of time that the prisoner had already been in goal, sentenced him to twenty days confinement in the common goal of the county. The Court adjourned sine die this forenoon.

FROM MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, June 17.

The Diocesan Synod of Montreal met this afternoon. There is a large attendance.

Thomas Workman has issued his address.

Programme for the celebration on 1st of July is published. There will be illuminations, and all announcements that can be thought of.

Mr. Cartier arrived to-night.

Wool.—There has been an advance in the price of wool, buyers offering as high as 31 cents for good, clean washed.

LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW.—This Review for April, contains the following papers:—

Character of George the Third.—See Faith and Fidelity.—Antiquary of a Physiologist.—Westmoreland.—The Poetry of Seven Dials.—Du Chatter's Recent Travels.—Curious Myths of the Middle Ages.—New American Religions.—Railway Finance.—Wellington in the Peninsula.—The Four Reform Orators. Republished by Leonard Scott & Co., New York, at $3 a year.

MILITIA ORDERS.—An order in the official Gazette of Saturday, says: "All future candidates for admission to military schools, if volunteers, shall be required to forward the certificates of consent from the respective commanding officers with their applications for admission, instead of producing them before the Board of Examiners, as heretofore." Another order says: "With reference to general order No. 1, of 7th inst., the assembly of the companies of scattered battalions at their respective headquarters, on 1st July, is to be understood as being purely voluntary, as no expense of transport for any such purpose will be borne by the Government."

Volunteer Inspection.

Lieut.-Col. Jarvis, Assistant Deputy Adjutant General, commences a tour of inspection this week. He will inspect No. 1 Co., (Belleville Rifles), 49th Battalion, in Belleville on Tuesday, June 18th, at 3 p.m.; the Madoc company on Wednesday, the 19th, at 2 p.m.; on Thursday, the 20th, the Stirling company at 10 a.m.; the Sidney company at 2 p.m., and the Trenton at 6 p.m. On the 21st, the 15th Battalion, and at noon on the 22nd, the Tyendinaga Co's.

We hope there will be a full turn out of all the Volunteers of this county.

The Gold District.

The settlement of the Chancery Suit has inspired fresh confidence in the gold regions, and land in the vicinity of the Richardson mine has advanced in price considerably within the last few days. The number of strangers visiting the gold regions during the past week has greatly increased, much to the satisfaction of stage proprietors, some of whom were beginning to think their occupation gone.

We occasionally hear of new gold discoveries, but the precious metal is not found in large quantities. Operations still continue at the various shafts which have been opened, and gold in small quantities is being found at most of the mines. On Saturday Mr. Moore sold nine acres, on lot 17, in the fifth concession of Madoc, for $9,000, to Messrs. Clarke, Blackburn & Co., of Toronto.

Wesleyan Conference.

On Friday the last day of the session, Dr. Ryerson and Dr. Jeffers, were appointed delegates to the General Conference of the M. E. Church in the United States.

Rev. Dr. Taylor was appointed a delegate to the Eastern British American Conference.

Rev. George Douglass gave notice that at the next Conference, he would move the following resolution: "That the Wesleyan Methodist Conference in Canada shall be altered in the form of its general government as to be composed of three annual Conferences and one general Conference."

Rev. Dr. Taylor was elected co-delegate.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted. Resolved.—That this Conference having received for several years past the most courteous and prompt consideration from the President and Managing Director and employees of the Grand Trunk Railroad, by which the institutions of the Wesleyan Church have been greatly benefited, through facilities of travelling, extended to the Laity of her communion, as well as to the Ministry; therefore, it is unanimously resolved that the President convey to them our warmest acknowledgments and grateful appreciation of the advantages conferred upon this body by the liberal policy they uniformly practised.

The following Ministers were nominated as clerical directors of the Wesleyan Female College, Hamilton; the President of the Conference, Dr. Wood, Dr. Ryerson, S. Rose, Dr. Rice, Dr. Nelles and R. Jones.

The Board of Examiners for the Belleville Division is composed of the following Ministers:—Revs. R. Jones, G. R. Sander, G. B. Ryckman, B. A. James Gray, J. A. William and Prof. Burwash.

The Conference is to meet next year at Kingston on the first Wednesday.

The following are the stations on the Belleville District:—

Belleville—John Walton, Eliza Tennant.

Andover—James Thompson (Belleville).

Pelee—George R. Sanderson; Cyrus R. Allison, superannuated; Daniel McAllen, Gilbert Miller, James Peck, superannuated.

Milford—Thomas Cobb.

Sidney—Edward A. Ward, Edward Morrow, M. A. John Lever, superannuated (Belleville).

Stirling—George Carr.

Marmora—Archelus Doxsee.

Frankford—George M. Meacham, B. A.

Trenton—Amos E. Russ; Wm. Young, superannuated.

Shanawelt—Garrett T. Dingman.

Denerville—Robert Robinson.

Hungerford—Daniel Ryan, Jacob E. Howell, B. A.

Bridgewater—Samuel Cullen.

Finlon and Addington Road—John Corbett.

Madoc—John English, one to be sent.

Bancroft—Robert Godfrey.

Denbigh—Charles Perry.

Maynooth—Wm. Sutton.

G. R. SANDERSON, Chairman. JAMES PRESTON, Financial Secretary.

Appeal—Court of Revision.

A somewhat interesting appeal case was heard by Judge Sherwood this morning, arising out of the action of the Court of Revision in the township of Madoc, this year. It appears from what was brought out in Court that after the Assessors returned their roll, the Court of Revision passed a resolution, declaring the Assessment of 1867 too high, and that it should be so altered as to correspond with the Assessment Roll of 1866, except in cases where the property had increased in value, by buildings being erected thereon. Upon this resolution the Court proceeded to make certain changes in the Roll, among others in the amount for which the property of Mrs. Russell, situate in the Village of Madoc, had been assessed, but in doing so they gave notice to the party interested. Against this action of the Court of Revision, Mrs. Russell, through her agent, appealed, and the Judge decided in her favor, and reduced the amount to the value put on by the Assessors of 1866. C. Groom, Attorney; R. P. Jellett, Counsel for Mrs. Russell. Mr. Holland for the Township.

Editorial Summary.

—Mr. McGee is to be opposed by ex-Mayor Rodier.

—Two Frenchmen were drowned by falling off a raft near Ottawa, a few days ago.

—The cost of Russian America to the United States, taking the whole territory, is about three cents an acre.

—It is said that the leading members of Knox Church, Montreal, will secede rather than remove the organ.

—On Thursday night the grist mill of M. G. Morin, at St. Pie, Lower Canada, was destroyed by fire, and five men lost their lives.

—The companies of the 100th regiment stationed at Ottawa have returned to Montreal.

—The United States have now five newspapers in the United States, and talk of starting one at Philadelphia, where they have none.

—Ripe peaches are to be had in Memphis at fifty cents apiece. The peach trees in the peach sections of Maryland are loaded down with young fruit.

—Mr. Thos. Workman is to oppose Hon. Mr. Ross in the Centre Division, Montreal. Mr. Workman is a strong opponent, but Mr. Ross, being the stronger, will win.

NUMBER VII.

For the Daily Intelligencer.

SIN.—Besides the metals of which I have already treated, gold and silver, there are several others, the working of which will be the subject of the present number. The owners of the metals and to the Province at large. And it is of them that I now propose to treat.

Leaving out iron until a future opportunity, when I may be able to give it that attention which its economic importance demands, the metal which next claims attention is copper; indications of which abound in all directions in the northern townships of this and the adjoining counties.

Copper is, next to iron, perhaps the most widely diffused of all the metals, being found in all the so-called systems of rocks, from the granite to the chert, running through the primary, transition and secondary formations, with the exception of the coal measures, unless, indeed, the mines of Wexford, in Ireland, be considered to be long to the lower members of the carboniferous (coal bearing) strata, rather than to the old red sandstone, or Devonian formations, and much of the copper ore attributed to the Copper is even found in workable quantities among the boulder and drift deposits, and it is yet a mooted point among geologists whether, like iron, its deposition is not still going on.

A metal which is of such general occurrence, of course presents itself in many forms, and under many different and dissimilar appearances. Not only does it combine with the usual mineralizing agents, sulphur, arsenic, selenium, silicon, oxygen and the acids, but it enters into composition with most of the other metals, and forms an ingredient in many of their ores. I shall not attempt to follow the metal through all its combinations, but shall only give the prominent characteristics of some of the more plentiful, and therefore the more valuable, of its ores.

1st. Native Copper. Easily distinguished by its peculiar color, being the only metal which presents a red color in its metallic form. It is found in great abundance and in large masses on the shores of Lake Superior, in volcanic trap, where it is penetrated by native silver, and the only metal of thread-like filaments, spangles, stars and nodules. It appears to be scarce, however, in this district, the only instance in which it has come to my knowledge of its being found being in Belmont, where a fragment was ploughed up a few years ago in a field near the Crow Lake ore bed, and as that was in the superficial soil, most likely it had been carried thither by the agency of ice, or whatever it was that brought the boulder down from its remote original site, to spread the debris of its disintegration over the face of our fields. Attempts have been made, indeed, to palm specimens from Lake Superior upon eager mine hunters as the veritable products of our own rocks, but they were too transparent to deceive any but the most ignorant and incautious.

2nd. Copper Glance. Glassy copper ore. Copper and sulphur. Color and powder, blackish lead grey. Before the blowpipe boils up and fuses, giving a bead of metallic copper. Dissolves in heated nitric acid, and the solution when cooled gives a brown precipitate of copper, and the liquid above it is a blue color, which is the color of copper in solution. It is a valuable ore, and is found in large quantities in the district.

3rd. Copper Pyrites. Muddy, copper, iron and sulphur. Color, brass yellow; powder, greenish black; surface often tarnished, displaying various prismatic colors. Resembles gold more closely than any other ore, and is often mistaken for the precious metal, from which it is easily distinguished by crumbling to pieces when cut with a file. Acts much the same as the last described ore with nitric acid. Plentifully diffused over the district.

4th. Grey Copper. This is a compound substance, being composed of copper, sulphur, antimony, zinc, arsenic, silver and sometimes gold, although the whole of these ingredients do not always occur in the same specimen. The color and appearance are sometimes like galena, and sometimes like silver. Gives off sulphuric, arsenical and antimonial fumes before the blowpipe, and ultimately fuses to a bead of copper. Dissolves in nitric acid, and gives a brownish green solution. Some fine examples of this ore have been brought from Elzevir by the Hon. Billa Flint.

5th. Malachite. Green carbonate of copper. Copper and carbonic acid with water; color, a very vivid light green, with darker shades in spots and bands. Forms a beautiful material for ear rings, snuff boxes and other ornaments. In Russia, where it is found in large masses, it is used for mantelpieces, tables and even for palace gates. Occurs in this district in small masses, accompanying other ores of copper.

6th. Variegated Copper Pyrites. Copper, sulphur and iron. Color, copper red, pinchbeck brown, or dingy purple. Before the blowpipe becomes magnetic. Dissolves in nitric acid.

Most of the above ores are blotted with bright green on the outside, and contain silver in varying proportions. Some of them contain gold and platinum. They are all found within our district. There are several other ores of copper, but as they are chiefly valued for their rarity, it is not necessary that I should notice their length.

Yours very truly,

JAMES T. BELL.

POLICE COURT.

JUNE 17, 1867.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

Pat. Lawler, after a year's absence from the Police office, made his appearance there this morning, having been arrested by the Police for drunk and quarrelling near the "Western House." He was fined and committed for thirty days in default.

ASSAULT.

Mrs. O'Neil missed her little boy from bed and board for a few nights, and ultimately heard that he had been taken to the Police office, where he was being held for a fine. A collision took place, and Mrs. O'Neil received the worst of the light from her little boy's face, for the moment. The battle scene was transferred from the classic "grove" to the market square, and in an upper room the Magistrate fined Miss Mrs. O'Neil one dollar and costs, with the notice that she should refrain from embroiling herself with married folk.

DEATH.

Mr. and Mrs. DONOVAN, two men named Brookridge and Lynch, were summoned for assaulting a man named John Canfield, a game connected with the Church of England, and that of Rome were tried upon both sides, from "arguments Ormard assisting Archdeacon," "apostolic knocks," and then an appeal to the law, but before the parties appeared at the tribunal of justice, they became good neighbors, threw religion to the dogs, and were henceforward as our Scotch friends call it, friends.

PRISONER'S CIVILITY.

Captain James prosecuted Benson Stinson for tortious driving through Front street. He was fined one dollar and costs.

QUITTING SERVICE.

Edward Franklin of Madoc, presented James Rogers for leaving his employment. He was directed to return to it under a penalty which he promised to do.

ASSAULT.

"Brother Buckley" a few evenings since was specially invited by his neighbor Alexander Orr to step into the street for the purpose of receiving a kick in a peculiar portion of the body. This, the worthy tailor declined; but another himself with a saw, he advanced to the fight. "Alick" had a north of Ireland swagger, and much to say for himself. On the worst of it. He appealed to the law, and Mrs. Orr stated in Court that Buckley was jealous of her husband. No mention was made of the assault, when a fine of one dollar and costs was imposed.

WAGES.

M. J. Ellerbe summoned C. Horton for wages, and also for assaulting him at the Anglo-American Hotel. A cross case of abusive language was also made; but the several parties declined to prosecute except in the case of assault, when a fine of one dollar and costs was imposed.

FROM OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, June 18.

The Grand Orange Lodge met to day in the Court Room. Hon. Jno. H. Cameron in the chair. Bro. Andrews, of Nova Scotia, in the deputy chair. The attendance is large.

Lord Monck has entrusted Hon. John A. Macdonald with the formation of the new Privy Council, which will be composed of Messrs. Macdonald, Campbell, Howland, Macdougall, Cartier, Bellevue, McGee, Galt, Langevin, Tilley, Tupper, Smith and Henry.

The Maritime Ministers are expected here on Wednesday next.

FROM BRIDGEWATER.

(By Special Telegram to the Daily Intelligencer.)

BRIDGEWATER, June 18, 4 p.m.

The telegraph was completed on Saturday night, and is now in full operation. It is reported that a nugget of gold weighing fifteen ounces has been found on the Bald Mountains, east of Kalamander.

THE LANCET HOUR for June has been received from Overell, who has all the other English periodicals for this month. Lancet Hour is one of the best of the English monthlies, and this number is full of choice reading, and profusely illustrated.

THE AMERICAN CASE.—Mr. Dickson on Friday last, made application to one of the Superior Court Judges at Toronto for a writ of Habeas Corpus for the discharge of Walden, who was committed by the Coroner for trial at the next Assizes. Mr. Justice Hagarty to-day granted an order for his discharge on his own recognizance.

LONDON SOCIETY.—We have received from W. C. Hewitt & Co., Toronto, the June number of this excellent monthly. It is beautifully illustrated, and contains some very entertaining literature. The principal articles are:—My escape from Hydrophobia; the Star-Union Game; the Last Run with the Star hounds; still Unmarried; playing for High Stakes, etc.

No. 1 Co., 49th BATT.—It was expected that Col. Jarvis would have inspected this Company to-day at 3 p.m., but at 4 p.m. he had not arrived. The men mustered well, there being 40 men in the ranks. After waiting until 5 p.m., the Captain Hamby took the Company up on the plains west of the river, where they went through a number of movements in a highly creditable manner.

REDUCTION IN POSTAGE.—The Post Master General of New Brunswick, in his annual report, recommends that the Provincial postage be reduced from five to three cents on letters, and that the postage between the Province and the United States be five instead of ten cents. This is a very important movement in the right direction, and although it will not be competent for Local Legislatures to deal with the question, the recommendation is timely, and the Federal Government will confer a boon upon the country if it will adopt the recommendation. Another great advantage to the community would be the abolishment of postage on newspapers, at least in the counties in which they are circulated.

THE NEW YORK CIRCUS.—It will be seen by advertisement that the great New York circus is to visit Belleville on Friday the 28th inst. The New York and American press speak of it in very high terms, not only for the excellent and varied character of its performances, but also for the care taken by the proprietor to do away with the objectionable features sometimes observable in circuses. No "side shows" are consequently allowed to travel with or perform in conjunction with Mr. Lent's circus, and care is taken to put down smoking, etc., so that ladies and children can readily attend without being subjected to inconvenience. The price of admission is fixed at the low sum of twenty-five cents, and abundant sitting room provided for all. To meet the wants of the luxurious who desire something more yielding than the soft side of a board, reserved carpeted seats may be obtained for an extra quarter of a dollar.

—The National Typographical Union in session at Memphis, have passed a resolution requesting every printer to set 1,000 ems on the anniversary of Artemus Ward's death, towards building a monument to him; also a resolution allowing proprietors of newspapers who are practical printers to become members.

Political Matters.

Political matters have been remarkably quiet in this County for some time past—so quiet indeed that strangers might imagine that the people were indifferent to the great changes which are so soon to take place in our Government, and unmindful of the responsibilities which such changes will necessarily involve. The fact is, however, the people are neither indifferent to these changes nor insensible to their responsibilities, but there being no political questions to agitate the community, they can see no good reason why they should embroil themselves in a political contest which would necessarily continue some two or three months. With remarkable unanimity the people of Central Canada accepted Confederation. With the same hearty unanimity they will support and strengthen the men who have been instrumental in bringing about Confederation, and their first efforts will be to establish the New Dominion upon a firm and enduring basis. They have no sympathy with the insane movement of the Hon. George Brown. They have no wish to stir up feuds and strife and bitterness, which have long since been buried in oblivion. Questions which formerly separated parties have been settled, and the attempt to renew the heart-burnings of old political contests, is looked upon by every true friend of the country as unwise, impolitic, and in the highest degree reprehensible.

The disfavor with which Mr. Brown's movement is looked upon in this County, will best be seen by a brief narration of what has taken place within the last few weeks in connection with a portion of the Reform party here. Not long ago Dr. Hope, a prominent leader of that party, addressed letters to a number of gentlemen in Belleville, Sidney and Trenton, requesting them to meet for the purpose of reorganizing the old Reform party. So little faith had he in restoring the old party lines that he included in his invitation a number of prominent gentlemen who have for the last seven or eight years acted with the Coalition party, and also gentlemen who have always been known as Conservatives of the old-fashioned stripe. How these gentlemen were to reorganize the old Reform party was probably best known to the gentleman who originated the movement, but it was not so easily seen by the gentlemen to whom invitations were sent. However, a meeting did take place, presided over by a prominent Conservative, but which was so insignificant, so far as numbers were concerned, that the meeting was adjourned to Saturday last. The result of the second meeting was little better, so far as numbers were concerned. At the first meeting there were only about a dozen present; at the second there were fifteen, all told. The "promoters" were asked some significant questions about the basis of the party, what it was they proposed to "reform," and what now divided parties—questions to which the "promoters" could not give a satisfactory answer. And the result was that in order to get up any enthusiasm at all, it was found necessary to change the name of the party. So a third meeting was decided upon, and with a view to embrace all within the party, the "Liberal Electors" are invited to attend meetings at Coleman's Hall, Belleville, and at the Town Hall, Sidney, at 3 o'clock, P. M., and at Trenton at 7 o'clock, P. M., on Saturday next, to select delegates to nominate candidates. So utterly hopeless was the attempt to restore the old party lines, that the word "Reform" was dropped, and the word "Liberal" substituted—a term sufficiently comprehensive to embrace all old Reformers and Conservatives. The result of the movement is so far significant that it shows that the people of this County have no sympathy with the course pursued by the Hon. George Brown, and that the attempt to reorganize the party upon the basis proposed by that gentleman, has proved an utter failure.

As Conservatives and Reformers alike profess to be Liberals, we presume the meeting in question will assume a different character from that first contemplated, and that all will unite to select such men for their representatives as will best promote the welfare of the country.

We observe that a number of the electors of Sidney not liking the secrecy which characterized the movement of Dr. Hope, have requested the Reeve of that Township to call a public meeting of the electors to nominate candidates. In compliance with that requisition the Reeve has called a meeting at the Town Hall, Sidney, at 2 o'clock, P. M. on Saturday next for that purpose.

—The Sackville, N. B., Border says that the Herring Fishery along the Gulf shore, this season, is yielding abundant returns to those engaged in it. Towards the close of last week fish were sold at 6 cents per hundred. Fish, it seems, are plentier than salt.

Town Council.

SATURDAY EVENING, June 15th.

PRESENT.—His Worship the Mayor, and Messrs. C. G. LeVesconte, Jas. Sutherland, A. Robertson, R. H. Jones, Jas. Kennedy, Capt. McIntosh, R. Tannahill, V. Foster, T. Holden.

The meeting was called by His Worship the Mayor at the request of the Mayor's Committee, for the purpose of submitting an agreement and lease from the Corporation to A. L. Bogart, Esq., for the Ferry between Belleville and Ameliasburgh, the lease to extend over a period of 15 years, from the 1st day of January, 1888.

The By-Law and Lease were laid before the Council and read over by the Clerk. Moved by Mr. Sutherland, seconded by Mr. LeVesconte, That the Draft of the Lease respecting the Ferry now read be approved, and that the amount of the security to be given for the due performance of the conditions of the lease shall be the sum of $6,000, provided that the lease be made subject to the right of the Council to order the discontinuance of trips on Sunday if they think it advisable.—Carried.

The By-Law was introduced and read a first time. Moved by Mr. Sutherland, seconded by Mr. Robertson, That the Rules of the Council be amended to have the By-Law read a second and third time and passed.—Carried.

In Committee of the Whole, Mr. Foster in the chair, the By-Law was read clause by clause, and subsequently passed and numbered 172.

The Mayor wished to state to the Council that he had given instructions to the Engineer, Mr. Rankin, to leave the Engine on the bank of the river on Saturday until the following morning in case the fire should break out again.

Mr. Tannahill said parties should be prevented from driving waggons and other vehicles along the street during fires, if they drove over the hose and materially injured it, and suggested a large sign with a Notice, to be placed at each end of the street, and used during fires.

Mr. Robertson said he would bring the matter before the Committee on Fire, Water and Gas, with a view to carrying out the suggestions of Mr. Tannahill.

Council adjourned.

County Council.

TUESDAY, June 18th, 1887.

The Council met pursuant to adjournment at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

PRESENT.—His Honor the Warden, Hon. B. Flint, Messrs. Tumbly, Gaborie, Wood, Orr, Daly, Cummings, Norman, Conley, Wallace, Frizell, Frizell, Anderson, Eno, Appleby, Armstrong.

The Minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

The Warden addressed the Council, and stated that the chief business before them was that of equalization. As no special session had been expressed with the equalization of last year, it would be for them to endeavor to arrive at an equalization which should be fair and just to all parties. His Honor intimated several other topics, among others the establishment of a House of Industry. He also stated that the finances were in an unsatisfactory state, as not less than $25,000 were owing to the County from the minor municipalities. His Honor then read a statement of the several amounts due, handed in by the County Treasurer.

The Warden read a communication from the Clerk of the County of Welland respecting a petition to Parliament to limit the rate of interest in this Province.

The following petitions were presented: From Mrs. McKinney, praying for remuneration of $40 for last year for services.

Also from twenty taxpayers in Rawdon and Huntingdon, praying for repairs to road in 8th concession, between Rawdon and Huntingdon.

Also from Eugene McCarthy, praying for aid, having broken his leg while working on one of the piers of Trenton bridge, and being unable to maintain his family.

Also from John G. Rhodes, for $5 for damages done to buggy on Bridgewater and Queensboro roads.

Also from J. W. Turner, for $7 for damages to wagon on same road.

Also from John A. Dowler, for $15 for damages done to buggy by falling over embankment near Stirling bridge.

Also from Orleans Road and 130 others, for $500 to repair, Shannonville and Hungerford Road.

Also from Abraham Bouck and 25 others, praying that the County road between Madoc and Bridgewater may be properly located between lots 2 and 3 in the 3rd Concession of Madoc.

Also from the Governors of the Kingston General Hospital, asking for a contribution to the fund of that Institution.

His Honor read a report from the County Surveyor.

Also a circular from the Board of Prison Inspectors, respecting sanitary conditions of Gaols and Common Prisons.

Mr. Tumbly moved, seconded by Mr. Kerr, That whereas a sum of money levied on the Township of Hungerford by the County Council of 1886, is in excess of what it should have been, as shown by the report of the County Valuers, in the sum of $355 37.—Resolved, that said sum be credited to said Township of Hungerford on account of their taxes.

Mr. Appleby said this resolution could only be looked upon as an application for a grant of that amount.

Mr. Kerr said they did not look upon it in that light.

Mr. Gaborie did not care in what light they looked upon it so that they granted the money.

On motion made and seconded, it was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Council adjourned until tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

FROM MARMORA.

From our own Correspondent.

MARMORA, June 12, 1887.

Now that the hurry of sowing and planting is over, people are again turning their attention to the state of affairs under the earth, in the hope that something may "turn up" to their advantage. Metals and minerals, in all states and stages, are brought to light in a remarkable state of confusion and of conglomeration, but how to sort them out, or separate them, or ascertain their importance or value, is a matter surpassing the ability and even the comprehension of the mining community. The "philosophers stone" of the ancients is much needed, in order to transmute the wonderful contents of nature's laboratory. Fire and water have assisted in producing that which now becomes exposed to the eye when the massive rocks, with their intermediate strata, are exposed to view. Vast chemical changes and modifications have also taken place upon the earth's surface, down to its centre; for no doubt the same law of progression is acting upon all matter, and has been doing so from its formation. The scream of the steam whistle may now be heard in the first time. The herald of civilization, and of further changes not yet clearly or perfectly apprehended. In a few weeks it is confidently expected that the Cobourg and Marmora Railroad will be sufficiently enhanced to admit of passenger traffic, and the transportation of minerals. Wonderful alacrity has been displayed by the gentlemen connected with the undertaking, and in a few months from the commencement of labor much more has been accomplished than could reasonably have been anticipated.—Whether a line of road from here to Belleville will ever be opened, is now a very doubtful matter. It seemed likely enough at one time; in the days when "Red Hematite" was in the ascendant; but now that "Black Hematite" has seized hold of the "iron horse," and (driven by Yankee capitalists) has superseded the parliamentary exercises of all our honorable members (Upper and Lower House included), we must be content with our present prospects, and be thankful for any help whatever.

Marmora, June 12th, 1887.

FROM BRIDGEWATER.

From our own Correspondent.

BRIDGEWATER, June 14th.

The weather during the week has been very fine, and everything in the way of vegetation looks most promising; but now we want, or fancy we want, a little of that rain at which a fortnight ago we were grumbling. Such is man—always complaining. It is evident that our being contented to take things as they come will be accomplished simultaneously with the millennium.

We shall soon have telegraphic communication, via Madoc, with the rest of the world.

The instruments for operating are all here, waiting for the wires to be attached to them.—This is expected to be accomplished by to-morrow night, as they are but a short distance from us now. It will be a great accommodation to farmers, miners and business men here, and will, I have no doubt, be appreciated and patronized. The erection of the poles has been attended by but one accident. Patrick Kehoe, 10th concession Madoc, while chopping yesterday to clear the way for the posts, had a tree fall on him, which caused a compound fracture of the leg. Medical aid was obtained from Madoc as speedily as possible, but it is feared that amputation will have to be performed. They say that "misfortunes never come singly." This is the third time I have had the painful task of recording accidents. This case does not stand alone, either. A messenger was sent for the doctor who resides here, to attend to Kehoe's case, but he was called away to Mr. John Byrne, of Hungerford, who had broken his arm, consequently he was unable to go.

Some of the mounted police have been here, for the purpose of inspecting the mine and obtaining specimens to send to head quarters.

In the Barry mine they have met with such encouraging indications that they have now two gangs of men at work—one in the day, the other at night. It was reported here this evening that gold had been found there in paying quantities, but I cannot vouch for the truth of it at present.

Mr. Keller, first concession, has commenced mining with very favorable prospects, some specimens of quartz which he exhibited here being pronounced by judges the "right sort of stuff."

Some men have been working on Mr. French's farm at Elinton and have found gold, which was exhibited here, but they have ceased working there at present, having to and open up on another place, according to the covenant of a lease they hold.

The Greenwood Company lot 4, first concession, found gold yesterday visible to the naked eye, in black decomposed quartz, four feet from the surface.

Messrs. Harrison & Breeze have again commenced working their mine, and their confidence in ultimate success is strengthened the deeper they go.

A stranger arriving here and searching about would perhaps be surprised to see so many mines apparently deserted, but this is accounted for by the fact that during the heavy rains, when one place got filled with water, the miner would at once take up another, "to see what it was made of," and as they were compelled to leave some dormant; but as the Richardson mine case is settled, should it prove as rich as reported—and I, for one, have no reason to doubt but it will—why not proceed and excavated men will begin to come into these townships in larger numbers than ever (there will be no vacant mines then) and as there is a want of men, it is well to develop the mineral wealth of this section of the country, and will, I think, silence the croakings of the western press.

Riots at London and Birmingham.

BIRMINGHAM IN POSSESSION OF THE RIOTERS.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

VIENNA, June 17.—Orders will soon be issued from the War Office to stop all work on the fortifications of Vienna. Extensive reforms are to be introduced in the discipline and management of the Austrian army.

LONDON, June 17.—Midnight.—In the House of Commons to-night the protracted discussion on that portion of the Reform Bill which provides for the redistribution of Parliamentary seats, was concluded. A division resulted in a majority of eight in favor of the Derby Disfranchisement Government, whose plan is accordingly adopted. The Atlantic and Great Western shares, 20.

LONDON, June 18.—1 a.m.—A Reform meeting attacked a Tory meeting at St. James' Hall, stormed the platform and erected a flag supported by a liberty cap. There was much fighting, and many arrests have been made.

LONDON, June 18.—Information has reached here of a very formidable anti-Popery riot in Birmingham to-day. Two streets have been taken possession of and completely sacked by the rioters, who are out in great force presenting a very formidable appearance.

The Roman Catholic Chapel has been attacked and is threatened with demolition. The most intense excitement prevails, and further serious trouble is apprehended.

3 p.m.—At this hour the rioters are in possession of the City. All efforts to preserve order and peace have proved futile. Large bodies of troops have been sent to the scene with orders to put down the riot at all hazards, and stop further destruction of property.

LONDON, June 18.—noon.—Cotton quads and unchanged. Uplands, 11½; Orleans, 21½; Corn—38c for mixed Western. Other articles unchanged.

GLASGOW, June 18.—The Aoadia, from New York on the 1st, has arrived.

American Despatches.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The steamer Tarifa, from Liverpool on the 4th, has arrived. News anticipated.

HAVANA, June 12.—There was an extensive conflagration last night at Guanabaca. A whole block of a quarter was destroyed. Ten or twelve persons are reported dangerously injured.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—A letter from Querétaro states that the General-in-Chief on the 24th ult. issued the necessary order for the trial of Maximilian, Miramon and Mejia. Maximilian has received permission to telegraph to the President in Mexico to request him and Don Maria Riva Palacio to act as his defenders. The telegram was forwarded.

Arrival of the Persia.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The steamship Persia brings Paris papers to June 8th inclusive. The Lithographic establishment of the Immaculate Conception at Medina, has been destroyed by fire, and religious books valued at 175,000 francs burned.

The Sultan of Turkey is expected in Paris, July 1st.

Garibaldi being indisposed, had left Florence for Caprera.

Arch-Duchess Matilda, died at Vienna, on the 6th of June, from the effect of bruises recently received.

The Sultan was to leave Constantinople for France in the Imperial yacht, accompanied by the Turkish ironclad Toupin, and screw line of battle ships. A French and probably English squadron, would escort him to Toulon.

PARIS, June 8.—Today the bill for reorganization of the army, was presented.—Liberal members propose to reduce the army to 340,000.

It is rumored that Juarez demands two and a half million sterling, for the ransom of Maximilian.

Queen Victoria has written an autograph letter to the Emperor, congratulating him on the success of the exposition, and expressing regrets that she would be unable to visit the exhibition with customary ceremonies; but the letter leaves it to be inferred that she will visit Paris incognito.

The Prince of Wales is expected here in a few days.

There is no longer doubt about the evacuation of Luxemburg within a fortnight.

The Dorset Chronicle says: The Fenian Burke is to be transported to the Island of Portland.

A despatch from Constantinople reports that in connection with the proposed law, in regard to foreigners, there had been some disturbance in that city, and some arrests.

New York Circus!

From the Hippodrome Iron Buildings, Fourteenth Street, New York.

L. B. LENT, - - - Director.

On Friday, June 28.

THIS well known Troupe, the reputation of which will be familiar to all who are in the habit of visiting the city of New York, is permanently located during the greater portion of the year at its Colossal Iron Buildings, occupying a frontage of one hundred and twenty-five feet on Fourteenth Street, opposite the Academy of Music, and is universally acknowledged to surpass in the number and talent of its Artists, the beauty and thorough training of its Performing Horses and Ponies, and the splendor of its wardrobe and paraphernalia any similar exhibition ever brought before the American public.

As the position of this celebrated metropolitan establishment as the leading Circus of America, is too firmly established to be seriously questioned in any quarter, it is only necessary to state that the entire Mammoth Company of the New York Establishment will appear at each representation, and that the performances will be found more varied and brilliant than anything hitherto witnessed on this side of the Atlantic.

The War of 1812-14.

(From the "Volunteer" Series.)

General Hampton, who succeeded to the command of the American forces destined for the invasion of Lower Canada, having transported them across Lake Champlain endeavored to push on towards Montreal at the head of some 5000 men, with ten pieces of artillery, but was met at Chateauguay four corners by the gallant Colonel DeSas-berry and 300 brave French Canadian Militia and completely repulsed. Obligated to fall back on Hamilton, they were so harassed by their active assailants that it was found advisable to put them into winter quarters. This, by far the best managed and most gallant action of war, delivered Lower Canada from fear of invasion, and valley of the Champlain for this decade a descent on Kingston. After considerable discussion between himself and General Wilkinson, it was determined, at the suggestion of the latter, to leave this post and all others in Upper Canada, in the fall, to push for Montreal by way of the St. Lawrence, and co-operate with Hampton in his attack thereon. With this intention he embarked nearly 10,000 men or upwards of 300 battalions, and escorted by a division of gunboats, dropped down the St. Lawrence on the 3rd November, and having made a portage above Ogdensburg to avoid the gorges of Fort Welland, landed between 3,000 and 4,000 men at the head of the Long Sault rapids, on the Canadian shore. Here they were met at a place called Cryer's Farm, by some 800 men, about half of which were regular troops, the remainder Militia under Lieut. Col. Henry Morrison, Pearson and Fenwick, and finally defeated in one of the best fought and most scientific actions of the war. Close on this disaster came the news that Hampton had been obliged to look to his own safety, and place his troops in winter quarters, so that Montreal, thanks to DeSasberry and the gallant French Canadians, had to be posted to a more favorable time.

This foolish and injudicious movement having terminated so disastrously for the Americans, the British were enabled to assume the offensive and drive them from fort George on the 10th December, but the general officer (McClure) commanding the United States army previous to the evacuation, barbarously set fire to the village of Newark, or Chateauguay, and the loss of 400 women and children of shelter in the middle of a Canadian winter, stores and equipment for troops, legitimate objects of destruction in the hands of the enemy, and which this he pleaded the orders of the Secretary at War. In retaliation for this,
Fort Niagara was surprised on the 18th December, and all the towns on the American frontier laid in ashes.

Disastrous and disgraceful as the campaign of 1812 was to the British, its termination, so far as Canada was concerned, was entirely in their favor, and with all possible advantages which could be secured.

Great exertions had been made on both sides for the prosecution of the campaign of 1814. A new and energetic officer, Sir George Drummond, had assumed the command in Upper Canada, towards the close of the last campaign, and operations were pushed on under his directions with vigor and celerity. In Lower Canada the defeat of Hampton and Wilkinson seem to have paralyzed the enemy for beyond an attack on a block-house at La Cote, which resulted in their repulse, no effort appears to have been made to retrieve their reputation as soldiers, or achieve any part of the object for which the war was undertaken.

On the British side, several daring actions were achieved, reflecting great credit on the individual officers who planned and executed them, but beyond reaching the enemy's salutory lessons, were of no moment in the issues of the contest. The campaign was opened by an attack on Oswego, which took place on the 26th of May. The fort was taken, the main object of the expedition was not attained. The British squadron had obtained a preponderance on Lake Ontario by the construction of new vessels during the winter, and the enemy were obliged to keep at a safe distance.

On the 3rd of July, the American forces, under the command of General Brown, crossed the Niagara River above and below Fort Erie in force. The fort was under the command of a Major Burke, of the 8th Regiment, with a detachment of 70 men. It would have been impossible to have made a prolonged resistance, but General Riall to concentrate his troops and repel the invasion if the defence had been prolonged for a few hours. The fort was disasterously surprised without firing a shot. The enemy immediately advanced on Chipewa, and were attacked by General Riall with a force numerically inferior, and after severe loss in a prolonged contest was forced to fall back towards Burlington Heights. After an advance on Port George, General Bloor fell back upon Chipewa, on which Riall immediately put his advance in motion to pursue him, and on the 25th July came up with him at Lundy's Lane, where the hardest fought action of the war occurred.

The American forces exceeded 5,000 men, and were opposed for the first three hours by 1,600 militia men and regular troops. The whole British troops engaged numbered less than 3,000 men; yet the Americans were defeated with a loss of 1,500 men in killed, wounded and prisoners. Both their generals were wounded. The former retreated to Fort Erie, having destroyed their stores and camp equipment by throwing them into the river, and not deeming themselves safe, entrenched that position against the British, who immediately invested the works. On the night of 14th August, a desperate attempt was made to storm these works, which resulted in the repulse of the British with a loss of 600 men and officers, principally in killed, by the explosion of a magazine. Notwithstanding this loss, and it was severely felt, the investment was so close that the American forces could hold no communication with the country beyond.

The post at Michilimackinac being reinforced early in the summer, Lieut. Colonel McKee was despatched to capture the post of Prairie du Chien, on the Mississippi River, which he successfully effected the evening of the 14th July. Thus the whole territory north of Lake Erie was in possession and under the control of British influence.

In the months of July and August, a reinforcement of 10,000 men from the army of the Garonne—old soldiers of Wellington's troops—arrived in Canada. Sir G. Prevost determined to invade the State of New York by the valley of the Champlain, and to this end endeavored to create a panic sufficiently able to cope with the American militia already in its waters.

Between the Commander-in-Chief and Sir James L. Yeo no cordiality of feeling appears to have existed. With the malice of small minds, the latter in endeavoring to thwart the measures of the former inflicted great loss and lasting disgrace on the arms of his country; in fact, a much worse or more imbecile man could not have been selected for the post he filled.

An application for rendering the equipment of the squadron on Lake Champlain effective was met by the answer that it was 90 men over its complement, and a most efficient and judicious officer, Capt. Fisher, who had, by great exertion, nearly completed the preparations for putting the flotilla into service, superceded, and Capt. Downie appointed in his stead. The natural results followed, with a courage worthy of a British seaman, but totally devoid of the caution necessary for the success of a naval operation. Downie fell gallantly confronting the foe; and his squadron ill-fated, badly arranged, and worse commanded, were obliged to surrender to the enemy, while a gallant army, foiled in the moment of victory, by the defeat of their naval force, were compelled to make a precipitate retreat with loss of five hundred men. Thus disgracefully terminated the attack on Plattsburg, the success of which would have enabled the British to dictate peace in New York. On the afternoon of September 17th, the garrison of Fort Erie, numbering over 5,000 men, attacked the British lines, but after a brave contest of three hours, were driven back with a loss of over 600 men. Four days afterwards General Drummond raised the siege, and fell back upon Chipewa. Sir James L. Yeo, after much exertion, completed a new ship of 100 guns, and gave him such a decided preponderance on Lake Ontario as to compel the Americans to evacuate themselves to the security of Sackett's harbor, and rendered any communication between their army and fleet impossible.

Under these circumstances General Brown was compelled to evacuate Fort Erie, which he did on the 5th November, having first destroyed all the works at that port. This was the last event of the campaign; and, as far as Canada was concerned, the war, peace being re-established by the treaty of Ghent, of which official intelligence reached the Colonial Legislature on the 1st March, 1815. It is a remarkable circumstance, and one of which the people of these Provinces may be justly proud, that at the close of this war the enemy was driven from every foot-hold in the country, and not one rod of its territory remained in his possession. Thus terminated, after a three years struggle, a contest unexampled in the annals of modern days for the disproportion numerically, and in resources of the combatants. For the vigor and pertinacity of the resistance offered, and for the humiliating and disastrous defeats inflicted on the aggressors, who were obliged to retire from the contest without securing one of the objects for which this unjust war was undertaken.

Single copies of the "Daily Intelligencer" obtained at J. C. Overell's Book Store, Belleville.

FROM OTTAWA.

OTTAWA, June 20.

Messrs. Tilley and Mitchell, from New Brunswick; and Tupper and Archibald, from Nova Scotia, arrived last evening. Conference with Canadian Ministers will probably commence to-day.

The Grand Orange Lodge adjourned yesterday.

The Grand Lodge will meet next year at Halifax, N. S., July 1st, 1868.

DISAPPOINTMENT.—A telegram was received yesterday evening, stating that Lt. Col. Jarvis had been delayed above, and the Volunteers in this County would not be inspected this month. The Companies at Madoc, Stirling, and Sidney would not receive the intimation in time to prevent their turn-out to-day, and the non-arrival of the inspecting officer will be a great disappointment to them and an annoyance to others. No cause is given for the delay.

READ THE ADVERTISEMENTS.—The man who does not read the advertisements in his paper can never be said to be well informed. The advertisements indicate not only the business enterprise, but the enterprise of the advertiser. When you see a man who advertises liberally, you may be certain of finding a good stock of goods in his store, that he keeps up with the market, and sells cheaper than those who do not advertise. If you want good bargains, always patronize those who avail themselves of the advantages afforded through the advertising columns of their paper.

NO. 7 AND 8 COMPANIES, 3RD BATT. G. T. R. B.

NO. 7.—These two fine Companies were in spected yesterday at the Belleville Station, by Lieut. Col. Brydges, commanding the Brigade, who was accompanied by a brilliant staff, composed of Lt. Col. Galloway, Brigade Major; Lt. Col. Spicer, 4th Batt. (Artillery); Lt. Col. P. S. Stevenson, 5th Batt.; Shelden, 3d Batt.; and Bailey, 2d Batt., and Captain Hannaford, G. T. R. Engineer Company. The men mustered well, there being about fifty men in each Company. After receiving the reviewing officer with a general salute, a number of Battalion movements were gone through, and considering that these Companies were only formed last year, they were very well performed. Col. Brydges afterwards addressed them. In the course of his remarks he said he was happy to have had the opportunity of seeing them, and a finer body of men it had not been his good fortune to see. He was also glad to see that they were acquiring proficiency in their drill. He was sure they would all be pleased to learn that within a very few days the breech-loading rifles would be served out, and he hoped to see some of them take part in the forthcoming Grand Trunk Rifle Matches early next month, in Montreal.

The Maritime Provinces.

From our exchanges in the Maritime Provinces, we glean a number of interesting items. The St. John Telegraph has information from private sources in the United States to the effect that the Government at Washington are anxious to bring about a renewal of the Reciprocity Treaty with the Colonies; that a Mr. Young, of the Treasury Department, Washington has been appointed a Special Commissioner to enquire into the matter; and that in addition to enquire into the feelings of the people in reference to Annexation to the States, Mr. Young is said to be a Nova Scotian, but is now an American citizen. It is further stated that Mr. Young is at present somewhere in the Provinces prosecuting his enquiries. The fact that Mr. Derby's mission last year turned out to be as much political as commercial, would seem to justify the assumption that Brother Jonathan has something besides the interests of Trade in despatching this new Commissioner.

The people of Prince Edward Island are quite wrathful that a formal demand has been made upon them by the Imperial Authorities for the payment of a sum amounting to nearly five thousand pounds sterling, alleged to be due to the Imperial Exchequer for the forage and maintenance of the troops now stationed there, up to the 31st Dec. last.

The Sackville Borderers says: "The herring fishery along the Gulf shore this season is yielding abundant returns to those engaged in it. Towards the close of last week fish were sold at the Cape for five cents per hundred. First, it seems, are plentier than suit."

A valuable Copper Mine has been discovered in Newfoundland. Chambers' Journal of the 25th May says: "Among other geological facts worth notice is the surprising yield from a copper mine in Newfoundland. When, last year, a few specimens of copper ore from the locality were exhibited at the conversation of the President of the Royal Society at Burlington House, no one anticipated the discovery that has since taken place. At the depth of seventy feet, while sinking the shaft, miners came upon a lode of rich ore, four feet thick; a level was then run at right angles in the direction of the lode, and at a distance of eighty feet another and richer lode was struck, ten feet further there was another twenty feet thick, and ten feet still further another of four feet. This is a most extraordinary instance of the occurrence of copper. The yield will be enormous, for the distance to which the several lodes extend are unknown, and many years may be spent before they are worked out. Specimens of the ore are to be seen in the Great Exhibition at Paris, along with specimens of lead ore, also from Newfoundland, described as rich in silver."

The Halifax Chronicle gives some interesting statistics showing the prosperity of Nova Scotia. The steadiness of the progress in the revenue is shown by taking the figures for the last five years:

Revenue from Customs.	Increase.
1862... $880,136.50
1863... 880,761.41	$23,625.41
1864... 983,398.41	128,607.00
1865... 1,040,383.73	58,215.32
1866... 1,226,198.00	185,814.27

The Chronicle says:—"Thus, so prosperous has the country been, and so great the increase of wealth, that we have been able, without any additional taxation, to develop our resources by building roads and bridges, erecting lighthouses and public buildings of various kinds, and by expending sums of money upon education, militia, and railways, that would, even to a man of progress, have seemed fabulous fifteen years ago."

"The total value of our yearly exports increased from $4,990,673 in 1854 to $8,890,693 in 1865. The value of fish exported rose in the same interval from $1,960,932 to $3,282,016, while our exports of coal sprang from $100,769 to $1,253,650. Our ship-builders, too, have been peculiarly fortunate during the past few years, and to-day our mercantile marine is only exceeded by those of three or four of the thirty-five States in the neighboring Union."

Town Council.

WEDNESDAY, June 5, 1867.

PRESENT.—His Worship the Mayor and Messrs. Robertson, Sutherland, LeVesconte, Henderson, McIntosh, Holden, Watters, Tannahill, Kennedy and Jones.

A petition from Hester Briggs for relief was read, and subsequently the sum of $15 was appropriated to pay the passage of herself and family to Detroit.

A petition for a new sidewalk on Dundas Street, Coleman Ward, was referred to the Street Committee.

A petition from Michael Malen for relief was referred to the Poor and Sanitary Committee.

A petition from H. B. Bathum & Son respecting extension of Island, was referred to the Committee on Harbor and Town Property.

Mr. LeVesconte would ask when the Council adjourned to have it adjourned to Tuesday evening next. A motion to that effect was passed.

A motion to have all claims against the Town up to the 34th inst. rendered, was adopted.

Mr. Robertson introduced a By-Law respecting dogs, which was read a first time. On behalf of the Special Committee Mr. Holden submitted the following Report respecting the Gas question, which was received:

The Committee have had an interview with the officers of the Gas Company respecting the subject referred to the Committee.

The Committee, in view of the serious loss and inconvenience which the inhabitants and business men of Belleville would suffer from the resolution of the Gas Company being carried into effect, recommend that the Corporation lease from the Gas Company for three years at a nominal rent, the lands and premises occupied by the Gas Company, together with all works, Gas Pipes, Gas Lamps, Retorts, Purifiers, Meters, in and out of use, all tools and fixtures, and all articles used or employed by the Company in connection with the Gas Works, or in the manufacture of Gas, excepting pipes not in use, Brick, Coal, Charcoal, Filings not in use, Lime and such materials as may be specified in a schedule to be agreed upon before execution of the lease, the lease to be terminated by the Gas Company on the day that the taking of lease by the Town shall not in any way prejudice or affect the claim which the Town now has against the Company upon a certain mortgage and shall not hinder or delay the Town in any remedy they may otherwise have in the premises.

Also covenant that in case of loss occurring to Town on account of operations under the lease, such loss shall become a charge in favor of the Town against the Gas Company.

The Town shall not assume any of the liabilities of the Gas Company whatever, or be liable to the Company in case of fire or explosion, or damage to the works by reason of accident.

Mr. Holden in moving the adoption of the Report respecting Gas, explained what had taken place in the conference between the Gas Company and the Committee, and showed the necessity for some action being taken, and the advantage of adopting the scheme proposed by the Committee.

The Mayor would like to have it postponed until the next meeting.

Mr. Henderson opposed the report, and moved that it be laid over until the next meeting, seconded by Mr. McIntosh.

Mr. LeVesconte showed the necessity of immediate action, and explained at some length the position of the Company, and gave his views that the Town would be the gainer by adopting the report.

Some further discussion took place when the amendment was carried on the following division:—

YEAS.—Messrs. Henderson, McIntosh, Watters, Jones, Kennedy and the Mayor.

NAYS.—Messrs. LeVesconte, Holden, Robertson, Sutherland and Tannahill—5.

By-Law 55 respecting Harbor Master, was amended so that cases under the By-Law would be tried before the Police Magistrate and not the Mayor.

Mr. Sutherland said he had intended giving notice that at the next meeting he would ask for an appropriation to celebrate the 1st of July, but as the Council had determined upon leaving the Town in total darkness on the first, he did not know whether it would be proper to do so now. He would, however, bring the matter up at the next meeting.

The Mayor was requested to issue his proclamation making the 1st July a public holiday.

Council adjourned.

County Council.

SECOND DAY—CONTINUED.

Hon. Mr. Flint desired that the County Surveyor be requested to describe the state of the road between Bridgeway and Queensboro, and also between Queensboro and Madoc.

Mr. Francis described both these roads as being in a very bad state.

The remainder of the report was read, and the whole was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Petition of John Cook and others, was referred to Committee on Ways and Means.

Petition of Abraham Boucks and others, a Committee composed of Messrs. Wood, Tannahill, and Flint, to report upon the same next session.

Report on road through Madoc village; Mr. Tannahill referred to the notice of a By-Law with reference to the matter.

Petition of Orlean Hart and others, for $500 to repair road from Shannonville to Hungerford. Referred to Committee on Ways and Means.

Committee rose and reported progress, and asked leave to sit again. Granted.

Mr. Frizzell thought the wild land funds were not in such a state as to justify the withholding of the wild land tax.

Mr. Wood read the Treasurer's statement of taxes due, and it was agreed that the subject should be brought up again to-morrow.

The Warden read the report of the County Surveyor on the water-closets in the Court House.

Moved by Hon. B. Flint, seconded by Mr. Anderson, that the Surveyor be authorized to remove one closet, and clean and arrange the other, in accordance with his report.—Carried.

Mr. Wood moved, seconded by Mr. Tannahill, that the Treasurer be directed to pay the fees of the Sheriff for services rendered half-yearly.

Mr. Wood asked for directions as to when the increase of salary to the County School Superintendents was to commence.

The Warden understood that the augmentation was to take place from the first of April.

Mr. Flint coincided with the Warden's opinion.

Council went into Committee of the Whole on Ways and Means. Mr. Flint chairman.

On the matter of the application from the managers of the General Hospital, Kingston, it was recommended that $100 be paid.

The account of Wm. Wensley, amounting to $43.30, was ordered to be paid.

The petitions of John G. Rhodes for $5, for damage done to his buggy, and of J. W. Turner for $7, for damages to wagon, were not granted.

The motion of Mr. Gabourie, that the sum of $355.27, alleged to be overcharged the Township of Hungerford on last year's assessment taxes be allowed on the taxes of the said township; and a similar motion by Mr. Conley, were laid over for consideration at the next meeting of this Committee.

The account of the South Hastings Board of Education was ordered to be paid.

Petition of John Dale and others for grant to Mr. Secord for erecting mile posts on the road to Madoc was not granted.

Account of Charles Martin for iron work was ordered to be paid.

The account of E. Harrison for stationery and Books for Registry Office, of $145.65 was ordered to be paid.

To Dr. R. Holden for examining lunatics, $10 was ordered to be paid.

E. Miles for printing and advertising, $79.85.

C. L. Coleman, fuel and office rent for Clerk Peace office, was laid over.

R. Francis for postage, &c., $8.14, ordered to be paid.

Petition of Maria McKinney for $50 for ground taken for road in Hawdon, was not entertained.

Petition of James Dowler for $15 to pay for damage done to buggy caused by falling from embankment near Stirling Bridge was not entertained.

Committee rose, reported progress, and asked leave to sit again. Granted.

The Warden informed the Council that it was necessary to place berths in the cells of the new gaol before it could be occupied.

County Surveyor to enquire cost of suitable headstuds and inform the Council to-morrow.

Council then adjourned until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock.

THIRD DAY.

THURSDAY, June 20th.

Council met pursuant to adjournment.

PRESENT.—His Honor the Warden, Hon. Mr. Flint, Messrs. Tannahill, Wood, Kerr, Gabourie, Farley, Canning, Moorman, Appleby, Conley, Walker, Hamilton, Ems-Moon, Graham, Rose, Armstrong, Frizzell, Anderson, Daly.

The minutes were read and approved.

Mr. Conley presented a petition from Wm. Mumby and other rate-payers of Rawdon, praying for aid to repair the County Road in the ninth concession of Rawdon.

Mr. Flint handed in the account of the contractors for the new jail.

Mr. Wood requested the attention of the Council to a statement made by the contractor with reference to the cost of the work.

Mr. Northcott was heard at the bar, and stated that himself and partners had incurred a very serious loss in consequence of a mistake in the calculation on the cut stone, and requested that the Council would grant them some remuneration to cover their loss.

Mr. Wood advocated liberal dealing on the part of the Council towards Mr. Northcott & Co. and proposed that the sum of $1,000 be paid to Mr. Northcott, in lieu of $800 charged for extras.

Mr. Flint, taking into consideration the peculiar circumstances of the case, and the very superior manner in which the work was executed, he would cheerfully agree to grant the sum of $1,000 to the contractors.

Mr. Flint moved, seconded by Mr. Ems, that the sum at which the Township of Sidney was rated in the equalization of yesterday, is too high, and that the same be reduced by the sum of $30,000.

Mr. Farley suggested that it be added to the equalization of Elizew.

Mr. Flint thought it should be put upon Thurlow.

Mr. Frizzell proposed to place it upon Huntingdon.

Mr. Wood did not see any reason why Sidney should be rated higher than Thurlow.

Mr. Farley did not say that Sidney should be higher than Thurlow, but he said that Sidney should be less than Thurlow; Sidney was two miles longer than Thurlow, and acre for acre the land is as good.

Mr. Daly said that the land in Thurlow is valued at $21 per acre, and that of Sidney at $19. He would move in amendment that there be added to the motion a clause to reduce the equalization of Thurlow by $50,000.

Mr. Farley would second this motion.

Mr. Wood called the members to order. Such a matter should either be referred to Committee, or laid over for the second reading of the By-Law.

Mr. Flint moved, seconded by Mr. Ems, that the Council, having received the statement of John Forin, the architect of the new gaol, hereby acknowledge their satisfaction with the manner in which the work of the oversight has been attended to.

Mr. Hamilton moved, seconded by Mr. Walker, that the sum of $481.38, overcharged by last year's equalization to the Township of Marmora, be allowed on the taxes of said township.

Mr. Kerr commenced upon the manner in which the several townships were equalized, and moved, seconded by Mr. Gabourie, that the sum of $40,000 be struck off the assessment of the Township of Hungerford and added to that of Huntingdon and Tudor.

The Warden ruled this motion out of order.

Council resumed and went into Committee of the Whole on Roads and Bridges.

The petition of W. Mumby and 70 others was referred to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Council resumed.

The Committee rose and reported, and the report was adopted.

The Committee on Ways and Means resumed.

Account of Geo. Chow, for stove, &c., to gaol, $12. To be paid.

Account of Wm. Shea, Trenton, $23.02. Ordered to be paid.

That the sum of $1,000 be granted to John Northcott for extra work on new gaol. Loss on the contract for the same.

That the sum of $28 be paid to E. Holden for desk for Clerk of County Court.

The motion of Mr. Conley, to allow on the taxes of Rawdon township, the amount rated last year above the Valuator's final report, was considered.

Mr. Wood moved, seconded by Mr. Gabourie, that in consequence any of the municipalities were equalized during the year 1866, for a larger sum than shown by the final report of the County Valuator, that the Treasurer be directed to credit such municipalities with the amount as the Clerk shall report to him as overrated.—Carried.

Mr. Forin's account for plans, specifications, and supervision of the work amounting to $1017, was presented and laid over.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.
The principles which this Company is founded contain all the elements required to develop the benefits of Life Assurance, and afford every facility to intending assureds. One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Debt of Settlement to Ten per cent. of the Net Life Income. This most important restriction shows that the interests of participating policy holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management Must Largely Influence Profits and Bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1868, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.

The Long To-Morrow

Old age, that strains the web of life,
And checks that shuttle's eager paces,
Brings rest from all the world's vain strife,
And leaves an old man to old faces
And still my heart beats warmly yet,
Although grandchildren's eyes

And I can easily forget
That eighty summers have passed o'er me.
Sweet maiden with the downcast eyes,
To whom my grandson gaily chatters,
And treasures up the low repartees,
You make on many foolish matters :

And when my youngest joined his ship,
So fearful of the god he worshipped

Shrank at his mother's quivering lip,
The while he sighed for far-off places—
I wonder if he ever thought
I had my dreams of death and glory;
But silver threads have sternly taught
The whole of that heroic story.

And when the merry feast goes round,
With sparkling wine in ample measure,
And woman's silver voice has crowed
The mirth with sweeter, dearer pleasure—
Ah, little do the youngest know
How wrinkles check the tongue's beguiling

And that my tongue had once a sweet flow,
To charm a maiden into smiling.
And often in the mazy throng,
When little feet are lightly dancing,
And as each maiden whirls along,
The heart-strings ring with music.

The bonny eyes give sweeter glancing,
I sit apart and idly dream
That my fair youth has not departed,
And older hopes and fancies seem
To leave me far more tender-hearted
My life's gay spring had many hours

The summer brought me Love's first ro
The autumn gave me my brave boys,
I wait until the winter closes.
Each season has in order brought
The mingled flowers of joy and sorrow,
And many an earnest lesson taught—

Geological Exploration in North Hastings.

We are glad to see that another exploration is about to be made, under the direction of the Geological department, through North Hastings. The explorations of last season by the same party have yielded some most satisfactory results, and the specimens then procured and forwarded to the Paris Exhibition, attracted much attention. We expected, before this, to have received in Report form the details of last season's surveys, and also to learn what had been obtained by assay from the numerous casks of rocks then taken to Montreal; but this, we have no doubt, will come in good time and in proper form.

We may be permitted to say, in this connection, that in the description of the gold rocks of Madoc and surrounding townships, the gold seemed to occur at a particular junction of rocks, viz, dolomite and slate land, the former being much charged with silicious matter, and impregnated in parts with calc-spar, chlorite, and hornblende. This junction, we believe, can be traced over a considerable extent of our back country, and has been particularly described in Madoc, Tudor and Elzevir. Specimens of sulphure of iron assayed in Boston have also yielded a percentage of gold, and beds of this sulphure have already been described as abundant through the district referred to.

The numerous rivers and rapid streams which for ages have been cutting their way through these rocks must also have made their deposits of gold in alluvion, and such deposits have already been reported on by Mr. Michel, in different localities.

The actual yield, by assay, of several specimens lately examined is very variable, ranging from 50 cts. per ton, as in Belmont, to the extraordinary richness of the Richardson mine.

If the band above referred to, viz, the supposed gold junction, were carefully followed out by prospectors, we believe more gold would be brought to light than by the present method of boring indiscriminately in every vein of white quartz or of sulphure of iron that is to be met with through the County.

The exploration last year covered portions of Elzevir, Madoc, Tudor and Lake, and assays that have been made show that gold is widely distributed over these townships, that in some places the quartz will yield 50 cents per ton, in others $8 to $7, and so on, to the extraordinary yield of the Richardson mine.

These facts are of the highest importance, and will be encouraging to owners of property in the gold district. They show conclusively that the gold region embraces a very large extent of territory, and that gold, in paying quantities, is found in a great many parts of the district.

FROM ELDORADO.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

EL DORADO, June 28.

Sir,—Some few months ago the gold excitement was quite intense in these parts, and the prospects for brisk business and good times generally were very promising; but the celebrated Richardson mine having been closed up, in consequence of the right of possession thereto being in dispute, matters took quite a change for the worse. Mr. Editor, I am happy to say, however, that in perusing the columns of the newspapers I find that this long and really tedious dispute has come to an end, and the parties, having effected a compromise, are about commencing the working of the mine.

And singular to say, that although so short a time since the compromise was effected, the former excitement is again reviving, and, as a natural consequence, the price of land in the vicinity of Eldorado is rapidly increasing. A number of capitalists have arrived at Eldorado of late, who are now purchasing several lots of land, I may mention particularly those lots belonging to Mr. Moore, which lots are being disposed of quite rapidly. Recently a number of Companies have been formed for mining purposes, among which I may mention the following as deserving of special notice:

"The Kootana Mining Co." Messrs. Ham and Hamilton, have succeeded in selling nearly the whole of their stock. "The Eldorado Mining Co." Messrs. Sparling, McGlashan and Mitchell, who are stock in the Eldorado, have sold their stock in the Eldorado, and are now stock in the same. "The Royal Canadian Mining Co." John Peat, having also purchased some lots on the Moore farm, and having organized a Company, are now stock in the same. And the celebrated Moore mine was purchased by Messrs. A. M. Ross and Samuel Bond, of London, C. W. for the sum of ten thousand dollars. Also, I may mention that Messrs. Purdy and Fillmore have purchased a certain lot for mining purposes, and are probably commencing operations as soon as circumstances will permit, and are, of course, quite jubilant over their prospects of success.

Ireland.

THE FENIAN LANDING AT DUNGARVAN.

A letter from Dublin dated the 4th says: "The Fenian landing at Dungarvan has caused a sensation in that part of the country. The coast-guard are always on the look-out, and from their elevated positions, they sweep the whole surrounding sea in the range of their telescopes. Those stationed at Helwick, in the county of Waterford, observed a strange vessel, which was hovering about the coast. She pressed a hooker into service, which brought forty or fifty men to Cunnegarg, a cove of land standing out into the bay. The men had to wade up to their waists in order to reach the shore.—They then dispersed in various directions. Information of the fact was conveyed to the police, and without delay, says a correspondent of the Irish Times,—All that were available were despatched to Helwick on the cars. Four men were arrested, and the saturated state of their clothing bore out portion of the coast-guard's statement. When searched, some documents, the nature of which has not transpired, were found with them, and one had in his possession a revolver. An order has been issued for the presence of the police from the county try stations. There is a guard of eight fully equipped soldiers ready for immediate march on the ramparts. Though Dungarvan preserved itself from Fenianism throughout, on this occasion there appeared to be a marked tendency in favor of the Fenians among the roughs, who hissed the police, and endeavored in every way to obstruct them. They succeeded in arresting twenty-six, who are lodged in the bridge-well."

The Dungarvan magistrates were sitting when the news came; they immediately adjourned and proceeded to the scene of the landing, and in the confusion caused by the movement the Fenians before them made his escape. He was not a Fenian.

Writing on the 5th, the same correspondent says:—The Cork Examiner confirms the report about the landing and arrest of a number of supposed Fenians at Dungarvan, but does not clear up the mystery of the "ranking crew" which had been so dimly in the fog which covered her suspicious operations. The prisoners gave various accounts of themselves, but when closely questioned they maintained a determined silence. They were all of the emigrant class, some of them from Brazil or Buenos Ayres, that their ship having sprung leak they were transferred to a Norwegian brigantine, which was compelled to land them on the Irish coast on account of shortness of provisions. But they refused to give the names of the vessel, and that they had luggage such as emigrants would have on so long a voyage. They submitted to be arrested and searched with the greatest good humor, and seemed to enjoy the thing immensely, laughing and singing the whole way to Dungarvan. They are not like labouring men or Irish farmers' sons. Several of them had discharges from the American army, but no documents to connect them with the Fenian organization.—They were all countrymen, and many respectably clad, and they are, with scarcely an exception, fine athletic fellows, with a free, manly bearing, and very intelligent.—Conflicting rumours state that the prisoners are merely part of a body of men which a large vessel, then hovering on the coast some days before, landed in contingents at various remote points on the shore; that they are American officers; that they are men compromised by recent events, who, having lurked on in hiding up to this time, endeavored to effect their escape, but had been induced by some case or other—possibly having regard to their first and anxious inquiry on landing, want of food—to quit the vessel which was to have placed them beyond the reach of the authorities."

During the investigation before the magistrates they stated that they had embarked at a Welsh port, and that their destination was Dundalk. They are detained pending further inquiries. The ladies of Dungarvan asked permission to treat the strangers to a dinner on Sunday, but the magistrates would not consent.

The Paris Exhibition as a Pecuniary Success.

The Paris correspondent of the Times—an intelligent observer—tells that it is generally conceded now that the Exhibition has not answered the extravagant expectations that were formed of it. The writer says:

"The wickets or turnstiles by which the visitor enters exhibit the receipts of the franc customers, but a large number of people buy weekly and season tickets, and these pass by a separate entrance. There are no regular official returns made known to the public, but when the attendance has been unusually good it finds a record in the Press. It may be concluded, therefore, that the best has been made known, and from that it is argued that after two months of experiment the Exposition, financially, has not proved a success. The expenses of such an immense building are necessarily very great. An attendance of nearly forty thousand is needed to cover the running cost. So far it has fallen very much short of this. Indeed, the prospects of disaster put down the daily attendance at little over 25,000, a deficit which it will be hard to make up in the remaining four months of the show. It is for this reason, perhaps, that the managers have recently invented several little contrivances for the purpose of relieving the pockets of superfluous specie, and like frugal swains increase their store. Outside, for instance, if you do not happen to have exactly a franc, you must procure change of an official establishment there for the purpose, who mulets you ten centimes for the smallest operation. A franc and nothing but a franc is demanded of you, and the exactions are intolerable, from the charge for sitting down in a chair to that of being wheeled round in his handcart. If the visitor does escape the Charybdis of catalogues he generally goes to pieces on the Scylla of glass, or felt, or grey to a "guide interpreter," a horrid vampire who fattens on foreigners.—There are extra charges for almost everything worth seeing in the park, some of these charges being of the most paltry character, and some that are clearly wrong.—But the greatest nuisance is the importunity of the hotel keepers, who drive their trade with reckless industry. It has become impossible to make inquiries of the attendants. The moment they see you are taking an interest in their wares, they begin to urge you to purchase. It is carried to the most annoying extent in those parts of the building where fancy articles of small bulk are exhibited. The man who escaped without a pocket-full of cologne, a forest of toothbrushes, and a barrel of hair oil, is almost impossible to resist. It is almost impossible to get out of one's cup with happiness, without some ruthless hand dropping a cake of soap in it."

BELLEVILLE, FRIDAY, JUNE 21.

Single copies of the "Daily Intelligencer" can be obtained at J. C. Overall's Book Store, Belleville.

To MARMORA.—The Cobourg World says: "The day fixed for first running through of the Railway to Marmora is Thursday, next the 27th inst."

THE NEW YORK CIRCUS.—The Agent of the New York Circus writes us from Toronto that owing to a change of programme it will not visit Belleville. It may return through Canada after harvest.

THE GOLD RANCH.—Since the settlement of the gold ranchery, considerable land has been sold in the vicinity of the Richardson Mine at high prices. We are informed that Messrs. G. S. Barnes, McGlashan, Chasler, Purdy, and Buchanan, last week purchased from Mr. Moore three acres near the Richardson Mine for the sum of $7,500, and the same parties yesterday purchased from Mr. Moore ten acres in the same vicinity for the sum of $20,000.

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT.—We regret to record a most melancholy accident by which Mr. E. Colling, gardener, of Thurlow, was instantly killed. About 2 o'clock this afternoon he went out to catch his horse in a field close by his house, and just as he was coming up to him, the horse turned and kicked him in the breast. Colling was seen to fall by some of the inmates of the house, who went immediately to his assistance, but on arriving where he was found he was dead. Deceased was well known and highly respected.

CANADIAN SCENERY.—The Hamilton Spectator says: "Some simple-minded persons are taking in a periodical entitled 'Canadian Scenery,' which was published some twenty years ago, but which is still being hawked around the country as a new work. It is entirely unreliable and is of no value, except as a record of the past. As an instance of its antiquity, we may quote the following passage from the Twenty-third Number, which was yesterday delivered in this city: 'Between Kingston and York there are two or three very small villages, the largest of which is Belleville, containing at present about 150 inhabitants.'"

ANOTHER ROBBERY.—Some time during last night a daring robbery was committed upon the premises of Mr. Thomas Southwood, baker and confectioner, Front Street. Mr. Southwood had retired to bed about 11 o'clock, previously securing the doors, and depositing his cash box, containing about $400 and some valuable papers, upon a bureau at the head of his bed, just within his reach. Upon awakening this morning the box was missing, and, upon examination, it was found that the back door, which was insecurely fastened, had been forced open and the burglar had stealthily proceeded to the room where the money was, and abstracted it. It is a pity that some of those rascals that infest the neighborhood cannot be brought to justice and an example made.

People are now perfectly satisfied that they can do the best, both in Clothing and Boots and Shoes, at J. MUR & Co's, Front Street. 452d St.—New York City, with a population of 1,000,000, has church sittings of all kinds for but 300,000 leaving 700,000 unprovided for.

—A man in a neighboring city who had been pursued several weeks in succession for getting drunk, could propose to the magistrates that he should take him by the year at a reduced rate.

County Council.

THIRD DAY.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

THURSDAY, June 23.

PRESIDENT.—The Honorable the Warden, Messrs. Flint, Gaborine, Wood, Tunney, Farley, Cummings, Norman, Hamilton, Eno, Moon, Anderson, Friswell, Orr, Kerr, Appleby, Daly, Graham, Armstrong, Ross, Connelley, and Walker.

The minutes were read and approved.

Council went into Committee of the Whole on the Estimates.

Mr. Wood moved, seconded by Mr. Tunney, that the Committee recommend the Council to levy the rate of 1/2 of a cent on the dollar to meet the requirements of the year.

Mr. Flint asked what they were to do if this proved too little.

Mr. Wood stated that they had set aside $8,000 for roads and bridges.

Mr. Flint thought that it was not sufficient and that more must be levied.

The Warden stated that the sum of 10-10ths of a cent on the dollar he levied.

The County Surveyor was questioned as to the amount required for roads, &c.

After some further discussion the Committee rose, reported progress and asked leave to sit again.

Mr. Wood, chairman of the Committee on Gravel Roads, presented the following report:

That the work done on the different lines of road is progressing favorably, and with a fair prospect of meeting the requirements of the travelling community.

Owing to the wet spring, the roads have required more extensive repairs, up to this date, than for any previous year. And the Committee have been compelled to call into requisition the services of the County Surveyor, who, for a part of the season, has been acting in the same capacity as the County foreman.

The road from Belleville to Madoc has been unusually bad this spring, from the extraordinary amount of travel that has passed over it, owing to the gold excitement; and special repairs have been made in consequence. The road from the Marmora and Hungerford roads.

Since the last meeting of the County Council the Committee have determined to provide the men with tents and the necessary cooking apparatus, so as to avoid the great inconvenience of having to secure convenient boarding places, and also with reference to money in the cost of board.

The foremen at present are at work on the Marmora and Smithville road, but will, during the ensuing week, be sent to the Hungerford and Stirling roads.

Repairs have been made on the Madoc and Belleville, Canifon and Belleville, Trenton and Belleville, Belleville and Stirling, Stirling and Marmora, and Madoc and Tudor roads.

The Committee would respectfully call the attention of the Council to the fact that the repairs on the roads during the spring have in many instances not been so cheaply done as they would have been if the work had been done but that owing to the necessity for the work year Committee had no choice in the matter.

Council resumed the Committee of the Whole on Ways and Means.

The report of the Committee appointed to enquire into the matter of the relation of Trenton to the County, was read, as follows:

They have carefully considered the peculiar position in which the Village of Trenton is placed by the depreciation of property in the said village for the last two years.

That they are of opinion that the case of Trenton is an exceptional one in this County, and should have relief from the County.

They recommend that the sum of $1,000 be taken from the clerk's fund and applied to Trenton for the years 1864, 65 and 66.

Moved by Mr. Cummings, seconded by Mr. Norman, that the report of the Committee appointed to consider the position of the village of Trenton with regard to the taxes of 1863, 64 and 65, be adopted.

Mr. Friswell thought the statute did not give the Council any power to remit any part of the taxes levied to assist municipalities.

Mr. Flint considered that the Council had a right to relieve debtors to the County from the payment of the sums due.

Mr. Wood read a clause in the statute, which, he contended, empowered them to remit the sums due.

Mr. Graham was convinced, from the evidence adduced by the Reeve of Trenton before the Committee, that the Village of Trenton had been charged with a larger proportion of the County taxes than was just and thought that the law gave them power to remit the proportion so overcharged.

Mr. Farley thought the Council had full power to alter or amend the By-Laws under which the municipalities are levied taxes.

The Reeve of Trenton gave explanations respecting the financial position of Trenton. The resolution was carried.

The portion of the Surveyor's report relating to the Marmora swamp road, the town line road between Rawdon and Seymour, 1st concession Hungerford road, Legra's bridge, road from Catoe's Corners to Stoco Bridge—$100 was granted on this road.

From Lonsdale to Tyndensing Station to be surveyed.—Bridge over Clark's Creek, Richmond road.

The sum of $50 was granted to the township of Thurlow to repair the road from the County's Corners to the Railroad Station.

The account of E. Young, for printing, &c., was ordered to be paid—$9.

The Committee rose and reported progress and asked leave to sit again.—Grated.

Mr. Wood moved, seconded by Mr. Tunney, that the Treasurer be directed to pass to the credit of such municipalities as have not borrowed on their wild land taxes, all sums in his hands belonging to them, arising from such taxes.

Mr. Cummings gave some explanation as to the wild land taxes of Trenton, and the debt incurred to the County on the same.

Mr. Wood suggested that the County should apply for an Act of Parliament to legalize their claim.

The Warden read a schedule of wild land taxes in the hands of the Treasurer.

The motion of Mr. Wood, That the Treasurer order over to the credit of the municipalities which have not borrowed on the credit of their wild land taxes, all sums in his hands belonging to them, arising from such taxes, was carried.

The Council adjourned till 10 A. M. on Friday.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 23.—Edward Blicque Bey, Ambassador of the Sublime Porte to the United States, departed from here yesterday, on a voyage to America.

LONDON, June 20.—The special Commission in session at Lincolns Inn, has concluded its labors. Several prisoners have been sentenced to imprisonment, at hard labor for life.

LONDON, June 20, evening.—In the House of Commons, this evening, the Government was asked if it could give the House any information in regard to the cruelties alleged to have been practiced by Omar Pacha, in the Island of Candia. Lord Stanley, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, replied, his Government had received no official advice that such cruelties had been committed, and knew nothing more of the matter than appeared in public print.

PARIS, June 20, evening.—Marquis de Montier, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has held a special Conference with the Ministers of the United States and Spain. The meeting was called for the consideration of South American affairs; and it is said the war now existing on the Rio de la Platte, between the allied South American Powers and Paraguay, was the principal topic discussed.

The Herald's Birmingham, England, special says: "The indoor and outdoor hangings which have lately been delivered by a man named Murphy, who styles himself the Anti-Romanist Lecturer, and who in all his discourses inveighs vehemently against Popery and the ceremonies, rites and sacraments, particularly the confessional, of the Catholic Church, induced very great disturbance here during the last few days. Intense excitement prevails among the people, and at one time last Tuesday the aspect of affairs was serious. At least one hundred thousand people were in the streets, and an enraged mob had possession of the city for some time. They sacked several houses. The rioters marched through the streets singing 'Glory Hallelujah.' John Brown's Church, and other airs. The authorities were active, and the Riot Act was read by the Magistrate. Troops were hurried to the city from Manchester and placed in position in the streets. The military did not fire, however. The city police were out in full force, the men using their cutlasses. Several rioters were wounded, but none reported killed. Excitement is now somewhat lulled, and it is expected the active disturbances are ended. Murphy, who is under the protection of the Protestant electoral Union, has persisted in his course, and every night delivers offensive language at much length against the Roman Catholic Church. Attempts have been made to renew the disturbances, but they have been put down. The city is comparatively quiet."

The Herald's London special says: "At a meeting held this morning the municipal authorities of London voted to present an address of congratulation to the Czar of Russia, giving expression to their joy at his escape from assassination. A similar address is voted to Napoleon. This being the thirtieth anniversary of Queen Victoria's reign, it was duly celebrated."

LONDON, June 21—noon.—Consols, 94 1/2; Bonds, 73; T. C. 7; Erie, 39.

LIVERPOOL, June 21—noon.—Cotton quiet, at 1 1/4 for Uplands and 1 1/4 for Orleans. Sales of the week, 65,000 bales. Stock in port, 824,000 bales, including 49,000 American. Other articles unaltered.

LONDON, June 21—noon.—The bullion in the Bank of England has increased 555,300 sterling.

LONDON, June 21—2 p. m.—Consols 94 1/2; American securities unchanged.

LIVERPOOL, June 21—2 p. m.—Corn advanced to 38s. Pease advanced to 38s; Ales advanced to 81s; Tallow, 44s.

American Despatches.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The Herald's Rio Janeiro correspondence of May 25th, says: "Over a thousand emigrants recently arrived, half of which are from the United States."

Cholera had broken out among the Paraguayans, who were throwing the bodies into the river. This caused a re-appearance of the epidemic in several towns in the vicinity. This disease had almost disappeared from the camps of the Allies.

To the Editor of the Daily Intelligencer.

Sir,—In the Globe of yesterday, I noticed a letter from Mr. R. D. O'Brien, in which he stated that he was not a colleague of the Hon. Robt. Read, but a Reformer in the broadest sense of the word, as are the majority of the Electors of the East Riding of Hastings.—This is news to us certainly, and whether to attribute the assertion to his ignorance of our local politics, or to his desire to deceive people at a distance I cannot say, one thing, however, he may rest assured of, that the Catholics of Tyndensing are not about to enlist themselves under the banner of George Brown, as he is not for any of his tools. What little chance Mr. O'Brien had of getting a few votes, he has lost that opportunity by identifying himself with the clear head chief, who in 1857 and 1858, resolutely styled our clergy "Priests in Petticoats" perhaps Mr. O'Brien was asleep during that period, or he may be oblivious of what transpired. The joke has, as you say, been repeated. What a riot far enough, and it is time that a person should sound the trumpet, so that my countrymen and co-religionists may not further be imposed upon by a man who is blowing hot and cold, nor will it conduce to his interests to endeavor to blacken the character of Mr. Read.—No Catholic who respects his religion, and his religion, can act with a person who

The principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required to develop the benefits of Life Assurance, and afford every facility to intending assureds.

One of the advantages secured by those who insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Deed of Settlement to Ten per cent of the Net Life Income.

This most important restriction shows that the interests of participating policy holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management

BROWN'S FOUNDRY AND MACHINE SHOP.

FRONT STREET, BELLEVILLE.

G. & J. BROWN,

Founders and Machinists,

RESPECTFULLY inform the public that they are still manufacturing

All kinds of Machinery.

FLLOUR, GRIST, SAW AND OTHER

MILL FURNISHINGS, &c.

Portable and Stationary Steam Engines of any capacity, Engine and W. S. Lathes, Iron and Wood Planes, Shims, Machines of various patterns; also, Agricultural implements of the most improved style and make. Their Horse Powers and Threshing Machines, with or without cleaners, are unsurpassed.

Brown's Ploughs are admitted to be of the most improved style and manufacture. They consist of variously different patterns, and their celebrated STEEL PLOUGH is the best in the country.

Amongst their other manufactures may be enumerated, Horse Rovers, Cultivators, Harrows, Churns, Corn and Drill Ploughs, Seed Sowers, Rollers, Straw Cutters and Stump Machines, and Improved Grain Grinders and Mills.

In the Stove Department

They are unequalled. They continue to manufacture Box, Parlor and Cooking Stoves of various descriptions, and their improved Northern Farmer's Cooking Stove is without a rival for farmer's use.

Potash Kettles cast in loam, lip up, of various sizes and of the best material.

Gold Crushers

Of the newest style and patterns made to order.

Their facilities for manufacturing are such as to enable them to successfully compete with any similar establishment in the Province.

The Daily Intelligencer.

WILL appear about five o'clock every afternoon (Sundays excepted) and will be furnished by Carriers at the rate of $5.00 if paid in advance, $5.00 otherwise. Mail subscribers $5.00 for 3 months.

It will contain the latest telegraphic news up to the hour of going to press, including Cable despatches and the New York and Montreal Markets.

Arrangements have been made with HARRIS & CORRESPONDENTS in Madoc, Bridgewater, Maryborough and other points, who will furnish on early and full information respecting the Gold Regions, and of matters of general interest.

Special attention will be paid to reporting the proceedings of Courts of Law, Corporations, Public Meetings, &c., and in short, nothing will be omitted which may be of public interest.

A large circulation has already been obtained for it, not only in Belleville, but in the various villages in the County. Arrangements have been perfected by which the paper will be taken in Madoc the next morning after publication, at Eldorado the next afternoon, and at the other villages a few hours after its issue from the press.

As thousands of strangers will flock to the gold regions this Spring and Summer, it is expected that several hundred copies will be sold daily in addition to those sent to regular subscribers. It will therefore present unparalleled advantages for general advertising.

RATES OF ADVERTISING.

A liberal scale of prices for advertisements has been arranged as follows:

Cards, not exceeding six lines, 6 months, $5.00

Half Square, 6 months, $10.00

One Square, 6 months, $20.00

Two Squares, 6 months, $30.00

Do of Deaths, 50

"BUSINESS NOTICES"—All matter under this heading, headed or solid, 10 cents per line, measured by a lead of solid matter.

Advertisers contracting for any space not less than half a square can have the privilege of changing their advertisements every two weeks. Transient advertisements inserted at 7 cents per line for first insertion, and 5 cents for each additional insertion.

The Weekly Intelligencer

is published every Friday Morning at 10 per annum if called for at the Office, or sent by mail; and $3.00 if delivered by the Carrier, payable in all cases in advance. When not paid until the close of the year, 50 cents will be added to each year's subscription. No paper discontinued until arrears are paid up, except at the option of the Publisher.

Within the past three months its circulation has rapidly increased, and the number now on our Subscription Book is over 1,400. With such a large and general circulation throughout this and adjoining Counties, the WEEKLY INTELLIGENCER presents unsurpassed advantages to advertisers.

Treatment of Emigrants.

A report of alleged ill-treatment to emigrants by the officials of the Grand Trunk Railway, which originated with the *Guelph
Advertiser*, was taken up by the Montreal
Witness, which eagerly grasps at any chance to pitch into the Grand Trunk and its management. We did not pay any attention to the report at the time, simply because we did not believe it. The following letter from Mr. Brydges must satisfy every one that the charges made against the officials were not true in any particular, and further, that every possible attention is paid to the comfort and convenience of emigrants by the railway officials.

GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY OF CANADA,
Managing Director's Office,
Montreal, June 20th, 1867.
[COPY.]

Sir,—On my return to Montreal yesterday, I found your letter dated 14th inst., which it appears you handed to Mr. Richelieu, in my absence, on Saturday the 19th, at about 1 o'clock.

As the letter, which I am now acknowledging appears in print in the columns of a paper in this city which is notorious for its hostility to the Grand Trunk Company, simultaneously with its being handed into the office here, and without affording even an hour's time for a reply, I can only assume that the object of writing that letter was not to obtain, or to ascertain facts, but for some other reasons.

I must decline dealing with the threats and offensive language in which your letter is couched. I consider them as entirely beyond notice in matters of business, and only sent to the columns of a newspaper whose object is to make statements regardless of truth or facts.

Proceeding therefore to deal with the facts of the question to which your letter refers, I have now to state to you, and through you to the public at large, that I send a copy of this letter to the papers, that every possible comfort and attention is shown to the emigrants passing over the Grand Trunk Railway, more so, I am justified in saying, from personal knowledge, than is the case upon the majority of Railways upon the Continent of North America.

The great bulk of the emigrants who arrive at Quebec, and seek transport over the Railway to the West, arrive in sailing ships from various parts of the world. They are in no way whatever sought for upon the other side of the Atlantic by this Company, or its Agents, and we have not the slightest intimation of their coming until the ships arrive at Quebec. The ships usually sail at about the same time in the year, viz: early in the spring and in the fall, and their arrival at Quebec is dependent to a large extent upon the state of the winds. A fair wind will often bring several vessels in together—placing of course their loads simultaneously at Quebec for transport to their destination. This emigrant traffic is one which, as I have said, comes at only certain periods of the year, and I am right in saying it is only for about two months in the spring, and a shorter period in the fall that any pressure is found to exist in regard to the numbers of emigrants that arrive.

Within the last two years, or since emigrants have found that they are more comfortable in travelling over the Grand Trunk Railway than by other routes upon this Continent, we have added considerably to the number of our cars, used for the purpose of conveying these emigrants. We have now upon the line 64 of such cars, which will comfortably hold about 3,300 persons. As in times of great pressure we use a number of our oldest first class cars for conveyance of emigrants, we have this excellent accommodation for about 3,000 persons. If traffic of this kind continues to increase, so that we shall be justified in expanding more money in the building of emigrant cars, we shall, of course, be prepared to do so, but it must be perfectly obvious that it would be entirely wrong to rush into the hurried expenditure of a large amount of money for the building of cars, which can only be required for two or three months in the year, and which would be efforts you say you intend to make in Germany to prevent emigrants using this route —would, in all probability, be found to be utterly useless, assuming of course, that you have the power to direct emigration in the manner your letter would seem to indicate.

Finding the emigrants this season were arriving in much larger numbers than was contemplated, and that the stock of cars at our disposal were not sufficient to forward them with the rapidity which they desired, and notwithstanding the fact that the steamers took large numbers daily—as many indeed as I believe they were capable of accommodating—I gave directions that a certain number of the best of our freight cars should be specially fitted up for the accommodation of emigrants.

To render these cars as comfortable as it was possible to do, I had permanent seats placed in them, at our works at Point St.
Charles, and windows placed at each end, so that thorough ventilation might be had at all times.

Very respectfully,
J. W. THOMPSON, Agent, Belleville.

throughout the whole journey. Before these cars were put into use, and in order that every possible comfort should be afforded to the emigrants upon their journey, I caused the following circular to be issued throughout the whole of the Line—

"Trainmen in charge of emigrants, before starting with the train, must see that each car is provided with two water buckets or pails and a tin drinking cup for each bucket."

"A supply of good fresh water must be kept in each car without fail."

"Particular attention must be paid to the comfort of emigrants who are obliged to travel in ordinary box cars."

"The train must be stopped at almost every station, and sufficient time allowed for the emigrants to get out of the cars for necessary purposes, and the buckets replenished."

"The conductor must see that each car is provided with two globe hand lamps which are to be hung from the roof of the car and kept properly trimmed and burning during the night."

"A supply of these articles can be obtained from the Agents at Point St. Charles, Brockville, Belleville, Toronto, and other stations. The conductor will be held personally responsible for the stores until he returns them to the agent from whom he received them."

"Interpreters and emigrants, before leaving Quebec, will be instructed to report to the Managing Director every conductor and breakman who fails to act up to these orders."

"The employees on trains and at stations, are expected to do all they can for the comfort of the emigrant en route."

If you will be good enough to read these instructions, you will find they cover every most of the suggestions which you made, and I am quite satisfied that, carried out as they have been, they have resulted in the comfort of the emigrants travelling in those cars, being, as I have already stated, more careful than that is the usual practice upon most of the railways upon this continent. That this is a fact I entertain no doubt, as no complaints have reached me from the interpreters and others in charge of these emigrants as to the non-compliance with the instructions issued. As I am desirous of dealing with facts, and not with mere sensational expressions, I have done, what I do not suppose any members of your Society have done, personally inspected the trains of emigrants upon this railway, and, through the interpreter, entered into personal communication with the emigrants themselves. When I was at Sarnia a few days ago, a train containing 346 emigrants arrived at that station, all of them being in the class of cars to which you object. I was at the train when it stopped, and, obtaining the services of the interpreter, ascertained personally from the emigrants themselves that they had been very comfortable throughout the journey, and that they had received all the comfort and accommodation they required."

I asked the interpreter to put in writing the substance of the statements which both he and the emigrants made to me on that occasion. That document is now before me, written in, I believe, the Hungarian language, and the translation of which I have obtained from a competent party. The document itself is as follows:

From Quebec. SARNIA, June 16, 1867.

"Passengers had water and everything they wished to eat and drink, on board of the Grand Trunk Railway box cars, and had lots of time to leave train for necessary purposes; also good friends; everything was good on board."

ANDERS HAUSEN, Interpreter.

The names of all the 246 passengers who were on the train are appended to the document of which I have here given you a translated copy.

I have, since my return to Montreal, received the following statement, made voluntarily by the captain of one of the vessels, who accompanied the train which conveyed the emigrants brought by this vessel. It was this train which produced the sensational articles which appeared in some of the newspapers. As the statements made in regard to the passengers in that train are proved by independent and competent witness to be so completely false, comment from me is unnecessary."

"In reading the Guelph Advertiser for Monday, the 3rd inst., I noticed an article regarding an emigrant train passing the said place the day before, and I found that it stated that in ten box cars there was put in about 900 passengers. This is not true, as all the passengers that passed there that day came out of my ship, except forty Germans, who were in one car, the rest were all Norwegians, 460 in all; they had plenty of room to lie down on, or to sit on the benches whenever they liked. It is further stated that the passengers did not get water, which is also a fiction; they got water whenever they wanted, and I always found the Conductor willing to stop the train when I required it. I asked my passengers several times if they had any complaint then to tell me, but they all answered that they were satisfied, and those few Germans that accompanied us as far as Fort Huron, were treated in the same manner as my own passengers, whom I accompanied to Chicago."

"J. C. ANDERSEN, Jr.
Master of the Norwegian ship Clara Hefte,
Quebec, 18th June, 1867."

THE UNITED KINGDOMS CONSULATE,
Quebec, 19th June, 1867.

I hereby certify that Capt. J. C. Andersen has signed the above in my presence.

(Signed) ALF. FAIKERBERG, Consul.

I think after this, that whilst perhaps aware that "a paper of the widest circulation in the Province" to which you refer, and which you refer in the beginning of your letter as the foundation of your statements, will not be disposed to state the truth upon these matters, or upon any matter in which the Grand Trunk Railway is concerned, that the public of this country will admit that the attempt to fasten upon the employees of this Company inhuman barbarity is not, in the slightest degree, justified by the facts as they actually exist."

I will simply add that we have forwarded from Quebec, from the opening of navigation to this date, upwards of 12,000 emigrants, of the coming of none of whom had we any intimation until the ships containing them arrived, and that considerably more than two thirds of that number were forwarded in first and second class cars, and much less than one-third (which under no circumstances could have been avoided) in cars of the character which I have described (under the regulations which I have stated in this letter) and with results which the public will be able to judge of from the statements made by the emigrants themselves, who travelled by the two trains to which I have referred in this letter."

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

(Signed) G. J. BRYDGES, Managing Director.

FROM MONTREAL.

MONTREAL, June 24.

At a special meeting of the City Council on Wednesday, $1,000 for fireworks was voted for the First of July celebration.

A private of the 100th Regiment cut his throat from ear to ear with a razor, last evening, at College Barracks. Delirium Tremens was the cause.

FALL ASSIZES.—The Fall Assizes will commence in Belleville upon the 8th day of October next, Chief Justice Richards presiding.

Pic-Nic.—The Pic-Nic in connection with St. George's Society, which comes off on Wednesday next, bids fair to be one of the most successful of the season. We have no doubt there will be a large turn-out of Englishmen and their families. For particulars see hand bills.

GOLD.—Messrs. George Neilson and Daniel Vandewater, brought to this office a few specks of gold, which they washed from some dirt taken from a creek on lot number 9 in the 4th concession of Belmont, about one foot lower than the bed of the creek.

DOMINION DAY AT BRIDGEWATER.—Bridgewater can boast of being the first locality in Hastings to make preparations for a grand gala on the 1st of July. Bills are out, giving the programme of proceedings for the celebration at that place. At six in the morning and at noon a royal salute will be fired. In the afternoon, games, such as foot, wheelbarrow, sack and tanglefoot races, climbing the pole, cricket, &c., will be indulged in, and in the evening a splendid show fireworks will take place to consist of Roman Candles, Coloured Star Sky Rockets, Vertical Wheels, Flower Pots, Flying Pigeons, Serpents and Grasshoppers.—Places of business will be closed, and we have no doubt the people of Bridgewater and the inhabitants of the surrounding country who will gather at the Village, will have a jolly time.

A RARE COIN.—A young gentleman of this town, Mr. J. S. Hurst, who has a fancy for the collection of rare coins, lately came into possession of one having good evidence of being struck in the reign of Vespasian, who died A. D. 79. It bears distinctly the name of Vespasian, but most of the other words are so obliterated that they cannot with certainty be distinguished. It exactly resembles a coin struck in the British Museum, struck in Vespasian's reign, only that on one side instead of IVD CAP (Judas Capita) and a female representing Judas sitting under a tree mourning and desolate, there are the words Pax Aug.—Let peace increase and the figure of a person bearing a cornucopia. Most probably it was struck on the restoration of peace after the destruction of Jerusalem, to which the other coin refers, and the suppression of disturbances in Britain. If so, it is about 1700 years old. From its resemblance to the coin in the British Museum, and from its general appearance there is very good evidence of its genuineness.

—Mr. Gordon Brown has returned from Europe much improved in health.

—Well executed counterfeits of a $5 on the Bank of Montreal are in circulation.

—The steamer Ogry left Kingston on Saturday for Halifax, N. S., with four thousand barrels of flour and other cargo.

J. MUIR & CO.'S "Coolers" are selling off with a rush. Better secure one before they are all gone. They range in price from $1.25 to $5.50.

The Reorganization Meetings.

The meetings on Saturday in Belleville and Sidney, gave good evidence of an unwillingness to join in the senseless agitation now going on in the western part of this Province. So apathetic are the people here in reference to the cry of "Reform party," that it required three meetings before sufficient steam could be generated to appoint delegates to a convention, to select candidates, the last one of which, had it occurred at a time when there were great questions to divide people, would have been considered a great failure. Fancy a political meeting in the town of Belleville, after three or four weeks drumming up, composed of twenty-seven persons, some of whom were Conservatives, and others attracted there from curiosity, and then the reader can form an opinion of the excitement here. Even Dr. Hope found it necessary to make an explanation of the causes and reasons which led him to call the first meeting, showing most conclusively that the party to which he belongs are not willing to obey the call of "party" whenever raised by any one man. People are becoming enlightened and like to think for themselves. In Sidney the attempt at reorganization was a still worse failure, for there the electors took the matter in hand and made choice of delegates from all classes and creeds of the community: old Radicals and old Tories, Reformers and Conservatives, moderate Reformers and liberal Conservatives, are represented in the delegation. Let the delegates from Belleville meet the Sidney delegates in the same spirit in which the latter were chosen and there cannot but be a happy gathering.

The general feeling in Sidney is that the West Riding should be represented in the first Parliament of the Dominion by a manufacturer and agriculturist. A proposition both reasonable and fair. Will it be accepted?

The Reform Convention.

The proposed Reform Convention in Toronto meets but with little favor in Western Canada. The leading papers, such as the Stratford Beacon, the London Free Press, the Dundas Banner and the Woodstock Sentinel, oppose the movement. The Beacon says: "We apprehend that the chief design of its promoters is to overawe the government that will be sworn into office on July 1st."

The Sentinel says:—"We may well ask Mr. Brown the question—Whom has he left on his list of political friends and admirers? One after another of those formerly held up as staunch leaders of the Reform party, he has exoriated and abused, and Messrs. McKellar and Mackenzie are the only two left to the mournful fate of the avowed defectors of the Reform ranks, and in opposition to their irreproachable leader. Such wholesale persecution of leading members of the Reform party is not to be longer tolerated by Reformers generally, nor yet overlooked by the reform portion of the press of Canada."

The Dundas Banner does not believe in looking through Brown's spectacles. It says:—"We do not believe in man worship, and we are sorry to have to record our conviction that there are men in this community who are most thorough slaves in the adoration they pay to the opinions and actions of certain public men—no matter how inconsistent these men may be at times, and no matter what amount of injury may be inflicted upon the Reform party by the erratic course they may see fit to pursue occasionally. We do not believe, to be plain, that it is for the good of the community at large that Reformers should ever be found looking through Brown spectacles at the action of our public men, as we are of opinion that by the constant use of light thus modified, the mind will not fail to become of a dependant and slavish character."

The Free Press, speaking of the proposed Convention, significantly asks:

"But who will be there? Mr. Mowat will not. Mr. Adam Wilson will not. Mr. McDougall will not. Mr. George Sheppard will not. Mr. Blair will not. Mr. Howland will not. Indeed, it is questionable if half a dozen of the parliamentary 'party' will be there, as they have no object in trying themselves up to oppose a Ministry that is likely to fill up the legitimate desires of the country."

"A list of the executive committee is published, some of whose names have been placed on it without their sanction; who were not present at the meetings at which they were appointed, and who are known to disapprove of Mr. Brown's present course. But that is an old trick of the Globe people. A good name, they carry weight, especially in the country parts, where the love of the 'trick' records of the great metropolitan 'dodger' have not yet reached."

But very few localities have as yet appointed delegates to the Convention, and in some places where meetings were called for that purpose, the proposition was repudiated. In Ingersoll, South Oxford, the constituency at present represented by Mr. Brown, a meeting was held on Thursday last for the purpose of electing delegates to the Convention. The meeting, however, refused to elect delegates, and declared their confidence in the Coalition.

With respect to Central Canada, we have yet to learn that the first step has been taken towards sending delegates to the proposed convention. Some few Reform candidates and editors and reporters of Reform journals may go for the purpose of having a railway trip at reduced fare, but such an avowed delegation cannot be looked upon as a proper representation of the people. Indeed, so far as this County is concerned, we know the principal leaders of the Reform party are opposed to the convention in toto, are opposed to George Brown's policy of renewing the old party warfare, and will give it no countenance whatever.

The "Liberal" Convention.

The public meeting of the "Liberal Electors" which was called for Saturday afternoon in Coleman's Hall was held in accordance with notice of handbills. It was nearly four o'clock before the meeting was called to order, the promoters anxiously waiting for an addition to their number. It was an improvement upon the one of Saturday last, there being by actual count twenty-seven present.

Dr. Hope was called upon to preside, and Mr. A. Diamond chosen Secretary.

Mr. G. E. Henderson said the object of the meeting was as stated in the handbills, to appoint delegates, who, in conjunction with others to be appointed in Sidney and Trenton, would meet and select candidates. He moved, seconded by Mr. Diamond, that a Committee of five be appointed to name twenty persons to be submitted to the meeting, such Committee to consist of Messrs. Thomas Holden, John P. McDonald, Dr. Hope, G. E. Henderson and A. Diamond.

The motion was carried, and the Committee retired to make the selection. James Ross, Esq., occupied the Chair while Dr. Hope was absent.

After a brief absence the Committee returned and reported the following names as the proposed delegates:

Mr. Diamond might say in order to show the fairness with which the names were selected, that each member of the committee named one turn about.

Dr. Hope stated that the parties named, with one or two exceptions, had expressed to him their hearty concurrence in the movement, and desired to co-operate with him in securing the election of liberal members.

Mr. Wesley was glad to hear the remarks of Dr. Hope, for he observed that some of the persons mentioned as delegates were those who had not acted with the Reform party. If they had expressed a desire to act with us, he was glad of it.

The report of the Committee was then adopted.

Mr. Henderson made a motion to the effect that in case any of the gentlemen mentioned refused to act, or for some other reason declined to act, the Committee of five be empowered to substitute other gentlemen in their stead, so that the number of delegates would be complete.

Mr. Diamond seconded the motion and it was put and carried.

Mr. Dean said he saw a reporter of a Daily paper present, and suggested the propriety of the Secretary furnishing him with the proceedings.

Mr. Diamond replied that in order to give the reporter something to do Mr. Dean make a speech.

Mr. Dean respectfully declined.

On motion of Mr. Ross, Dr. Hope left the chair, and Dr. Holden was requested to take the same.

The thanks of the meeting were then conveyed to the Chairman.

Dr. Hope in acknowledging the compliment wished briefly to explain the reasons for taking the course he had, as there was some misapprehension amongst the public respecting it. For some months past he had been repeatedly called upon by his political friends to take some steps to bring out candidates in the Reform interest, but he had invariably declined as in his opinion there was plenty of time to consider the matter. Some two weeks ago, some of his political friends called upon him, urging that some action be taken. He might mention who they were: they were the Messrs. Brown from Sidney. He refused at first, because he did not wish to take any active part in the approaching political contest. However, at their urgent request, he communicated with a number of parties, requesting a preliminary meeting for the purpose of reorganizing the Reform party, and he might say that he had received very cordial responses from a number of gentlemen whose letters he had in his possession. Amongst those from Trenton who had given their support to the movement, he might mention Mr. James Cummings, Dr. Day, Mr. Flindall, and Mr. Austin. There was some misunderstanding about the hour at which the first meeting was called, which he accounted for their not being so many present. It was merely preliminary, however, and another meeting was called which led to the one held today. He owed it to himself to make these statements, as he had been found fault with by some of his friends for the course he had taken, and because some parties who had not known these facts had signed a requisition to the Reeve of Sidney calling a meeting at the Town Hall to-day. They expressed to him their regret at signing what they knew they would not have done had they known the facts. He thought he had taken the correct course, which would not only meet the hearty endorsement of his own friends, but which would commend itself to their political opponents.

The meeting then adjourned.

On Saturday last the two meetings which had been called, the one at the Hotel on requisition, to select candidates, and the other by the Chairman of the meeting held the week previously in the Town of Belleville, for the purpose of appointing delegates to select candidates, met at the Town Hall in Sidney, under a hundred electors being present.

After some little manœuvring, it was decided to amalgamate the two meetings, and to have one meeting at the Town Hall, and to have nothing to do with the "Tories," and Mr. Alex. Thompson wanted to know if he desired to go as far back as 1857 to draw the lines—if so, they would be better able to decide who were Radicals and who were Tories. Mr. B. Rose explained what was done at the meeting in Belleville on the Saturday previously, and Mr. Daniel Vandewater expressed his disapproval of the manner of calling that meeting, and looked upon it as a hole-and-another-of-the-same-kind rather than a discussion of the delegates were appointed.

CRIMEAN MEDALS NOT WORN.
The Czar asks to have the Assassin's Life Spared.

NEW YORK, May 23.
The steamships Hammonia and New York, from Southampton, 12th, and City of Boston, from Liverpool, have arrived.
Two Fenian informers have been beaten at Drumcardor.

A mysterious disease is reported, and has alarmingly increased the death rate in Ireland lately, and caused some alarm and consultation of the medical men in Dublin on the subject.

The order of the Garter is to be conferred on the Emperor of Russia and Emperor of Austria. The same honor is to be conferred on the Sultan, who will come to England to receive the Garter.

The Pole who attempted the assassination of the Czar is still in prison, and makes no disclosures, and persists in the denial that he has accomplices.

The Times Paris correspondent says, some influential persons are doing their utmost to persuade the government to withdraw the bill on the liberty of the Press.

No soldier wearing the Crimean medal was allowed to be on at Champ Elisee during the Czar's visit.

A Paris paper says, it is asserted that the Czar has asked Napoleon to spare the life of the attempted assassin.

The Queen to visit Paris.

NEW YORK, June 23.—By steamer City of Boston from Queenstown 13th inst., one day's later news is received. The London Globe says: "It is generally understood that the English Parliament will not be prorogued before the middle of August, and that a general election may be expected in the ensuing spring."

According to a private telegram from Athens an incident had occurred which will probably cause additional complication to the Cretan question. As the blockade runner Arkadian was on its thirteenth passage to Candia she was chased by four Turkish steamers and pursued to Port Cerigo. Although Cerigo is a possession of Greece, the Turks attacked the Arkadian, inflicting loss of one man killed and one wounded. The Greek Government have sent the Hellas frigate to render her assistance, but she had managed to escape. It is reported that the ambassadors of the great Powers had sent several ships of war into Candian waters.

Advices from Constantinople state that on the 10th Admiral Leitz Pasha with two iron-clad steamers and 800 troops sailed for Crete.

A Madrid telegram of the 13th states that the Queen would visit Paris and Rome in July.

The Daily Intelligencer.

WILL appear about five o'clock every afternoon (Sundays excepted) and will be furnished by Carriers at the rate of $5 a year if paid in advance, $6 for six months, and subscribers $5 a year.

It will contain the latest telegraphic news up to the hour of going to press, including Cable dispatches and the New York and Montreal Markets.

Arrangements have been made with RELIABLE CORRESPONDENTS in Madoc, Bridgewater, Marston and other points, who will furnish us with early and full information respecting the Gold Regions, and of matters of general interest.

Special attention will be paid to reporting the proceedings of Councils of the County, the Public Meetings, &c., and in short, neither pains nor expense will be spared to make the DAILY INTELLIGENCER worthy of public patronage.

A large circulation has already been obtained for it, not only in Belleville, but in the various Villages in the County. Arrangements have been perfected by which the paper can be obtained in Madoc the next morning, and in other villages a few hours after its issue from the press.

As thousands of strangers will flock to the gold regions this Spring and Summer, it is expected that several hundred copies will be sold daily in addition to the regular subscribers. It will therefore present unrivalled advantages for general advertising.

Queen Victoria.

The New York Express, whatever its prejudices against the British nation, never forgets to say a kind word of our beloved Queen. In its issue of Friday last, it says:—
 "Yesterday, the 20th of June, 1867, was the thirtieth anniversary of the acceptance by Victoria of the throne of Great Britain. During this long interval, there can be no doubt that the power and prosperity of the Kingdom have vastly increased; and that the Queen must be considered as the most fortunate of Sovereigns, so far as the determined loyalty of her subjects is concerned. She has been blessed in the welfare of her children, having known but one great sorrow in her domestic relations—the loss of her husband. The people of England love the Queen with all the most admirable qualities, and she stands loving admiration of her Majesty, with that obstinate resolution so characteristic of the nation. In the settlement of her children the Queen has indeed been most fortunate, while she has seen her enemies forced to submit to her power. The revolted East Indians, the armed Irish, all have been compelled to acknowledge the supremacy of the Queen, and though the political prestige, of her kingdom seemed somewhat late, the successful peace negotiations on her part prove that England is still influential, still has her weight in the councils of nations. The length of her reign, its unbroken prosperity, the vast increase of the commercial power and influence of the country, will place it in history, doubtless, as among the most remarkable in the annals of Great Britain. The Queen is still comparatively young, is in the enjoyment of robust health, and may continue upon the throne of England until her heir, the Prince of Wales, shall have grown gray in his active pursuit after pleasure. The longer she rules the less likely is it that serious political agitations will endanger the crown. The people gaze at her as their Sovereign, and this sentiment will restrain even the most turbulent. This being the case, English patriots may well hope that Victoria may be long spared to rule them."

A Horrid French Murder.

The Paris correspondent of the Boston Post is giving the readers of that paper numerous sketches of scandalous crimes committed in France. In a late letter he assumes the following case:—
 "A young man, named Legrand, a splendid creature from the South. The dark eyes and bronzed complexion, the rich masses of his raven hair, the deep vermilion of the lips, all betray at once that ardent love or passionate hate may have brought him to the bar against which he leans trembling with rage, not fear, as she awaits the decision of the judges. Vitaline was femme de chambre to a rich Spanish lady, whose carriage was driven by the most noted and celebrated men, who looked, when seated high upon his coach box, like one of the gods of the Olympus; at least so thought Vitaline, who loved him with an adoration which led her to the blackest of crimes—even to murder! The Countess had more than he could perform. He had agreed to marry Vitaline, but the rich Spanish lady objecting to married men in her service, he made an excuse to be off his bargain. The Countess, however, was unable to fulfill his vow was made while the enamored pair were taking tea out of Madame's best china tea service, beside the beech wood fire in Madame's own boudoir, while Madame herself was at the opera."
 At the utterance of the fatal word the hot Southern blood of the fair Abigail rose in a moment. Before the day decided had time to perceive the impression his avowal had made, the china tea pot, with scalding contents, was dashed into his face, and the costly sugar basin of fine crystal thrown up at the cut glass chandelier. The victim, blinded and tortured beyond endurance, was shaking meanwhile for cold water to cool his blistered skin. The French formentor leads him to his own chamber, and, affecting to bathe his face and ease his pain with water from the fountain in the kitchen, fetches instead the bottle of vitriol used to clean the sarcophagi, and saturates with it the sponge she hands him to apply to his face! The agony of the poor young man may be guessed at, for in less than two hours afterwards he lay a disfigured corpse upon a dimly covered bed, the little bed where Valentine slept, in the closet adjoining Madame's own room! The circumstances attendants came here in troops—love, jealousy, revenge and despair ou moral: youth and beauty as physique, made up the list—and so this frantic woman was sentenced to eight years' imprisonment only! Had she committed forgery or stolen a loaf to feed her starving children, she would have been punished not a whit less severely."

THE PARIS EXHIBITION.—The Paris correspondent of the Globe says: "Instead of one hundred gold medals to be distributed in prize, there are to be nine hundred; instead of one thousand silver medals, three thousand; instead of three thousand bronze medals, four thousand; and there are besides to be five thousand honorable mentions, and a certain number of grand prizes."
 The principal losers by the great Derby race in England, were the Earl of Stamford who was out £100,000, and the Marquis of Hastings, who was out £100,000. Mr. Chaplin gained most of the Marquis of Hastings, lost, and this squaring of accounts is doubtless very sweet to him for this reason.—A few years ago a young lady of the name of Hastings was driven up to the door of a fashionable dry goods establishment in Regent street, London, her companion being the Marquis of Hastings, to whom she had been married. In the meantime, instead of making purchases at the store, she walked through it, when she saw the Marquis of Hastings, who was waiting for her in his carriage. A special license converted her ladyship into the Marchioness of Hastings, before Mr. Chaplin found out he had been jilted.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVEILLE, TUESDAY, JUNE 25.

Single copies of the "Daily Intelligencer" can be obtained at J. C. Overell's Book Store, Belleville.

15th BATTALION.—The Official Gazette of Saturday contains the following appointments: No. 5 Company.—To be Ensign (temporary): Quarter Master Sergeant J. F. Jeffers, M. S., vice Bell, resigned. No. 4 Company.—The resignation of Ensign M. Benson is hereby accepted.

SAILORS' SUPERSTITION.—A London letter writer says that when the body of Artemus Ward was shipped, "the coffin was enclosed in a case and shipped as a statue, to humor the superstitious horror of English sailors of sailing in a vessel which carries a corpse."

TRAVEL IN ITALY.—A correspondent of the London Times gives a rather unflattering picture of Naples just now. He remarks that "the condition of the city when the sirocco blows is poisonous," and that he has never known it to be so foul or filthy as at the present moment. Fever is rife; the water supply is so scanty that numbers of the inhabitants perish from drought; no efforts of any kind are made to carry off the sewage, which putrefies beneath the feet and taints the air."

TRUE, BUT NOT GALLANT.—A contemporary says:—"When you tread on a lady's train in the street you are not required to apologize. You must go into the street, you have a right there, and you have a right to step on the sidewalk, and if any foolish woman chooses to lay her train across your path, it is her own fault, it is her risk, it is her own fault." "This reminds me of an incident," says the Oswego Times, "which a friend relates. Accidentally stepping upon a lady's trailing dress on the walk, he asked her pardon for his inadvertent carelessness. 'Sir,' said she, 'I beg your pardon, for wearing such a garment on the street.'"

DEVASTATING FIRES.—The Montreal Gazette of yesterday says:—"We regret to learn that a conflagration broke out recently in the county of Saguenay, and swept through the parishes of Herbyville and La Rivière au Sable, as also along the shores of Lake Kenogami, destroying 4000 houses, farm buildings, etc. in a devastating career. In the parish of Rivière au Sable at least twenty families have suffered severely, and must receive assistance or they will starve." The same paper gives an account of another destructive fire which broke out in the country along Lake St. John, between the Rivers Matane and the Saguenay, extending over a surface of nine miles.

CHEESE FACTORY AT THOMASBURGH.—On Saturday last an influential meeting of farmers was held in Thomasburgh, to consider the propriety of establishing a Cheese Factory in that village. George Graham, Esq., was appointed Chairman, and James Thomson, Esq., acted as Secretary. After the meeting had been addressed by Mr. Wille and the Hon. Robert Read, the latter of whom spoke for over two hours, showing that it would pay farmers to establish these factories, a subscription list was opened, and over 300 cows guaranteed, with a prospect of obtaining. It is intended to commence the building at once. There is not a better place in Canada for a Factory than Thomasburgh. We wish them success.

LAKE SUPERIOR TO RED RIVER.—By an order of the Council lately passed on the recommendation of the Commissioner of Crown Lands for opening up 120 miles of the route from Lake Superior to Red River, the sum of $55,000 is to be expended as follows:—Thunder Bay to Dog Lake, 25 miles, $35,000; dams at the outlet of Dog Lake, $6,000; Jourdain's rapid to the depot on Savard river, 11 miles, $9,000; clearing out the route from the Savard river, $1,000; superintendence and contingencies, $4,000. The road and navigation thus opened up will terminate within 70 miles of Rainy Lake, whence the navigation is uninterrupted, except by a short portage at Fort Francis to the Lake of the Woods, about 50 miles from Fort Gary. The route was surveyed in 1859 by civil engineer Dawson, and has been for some time used as a mail route. The bridging will be inconsiderable.

J. MUNN & CO.'S "Coolers" are selling off with a rush. Better secure one before they are all gone. They range in price from $1.25 to $3.50. 645-21.

The imports of general merchandise at New York since the 1st of January, 1867, has been about twenty-three millions of dollars less in value than during the same period in the previous year.

The annual picnic of the Chicago Fenians is to be held on the 15th July, and it is said will be the largest ever held in that city. One hundred and fifty railway cars have already been engaged to carry the excursionists.

The New Ministry.

After our paper had gone to press last evening, we received the following important despatch from Ottawa:

OTTAWA, June 24.

Satisfactory preliminary arrangements have been made for a Union Cabinet.

The Liberal members of the Government have summoned a meeting of all the Reform members of both Houses of Parliament who supported the Government last session on the want of confidence motion. They are asked to meet Messrs. Howland, McDougall and Blair at the Queen's Hotel, Toronto, on Wednesday, 26th inst., at noon.

The Liberal members of the Government from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick will be present. The true state of parties in all the Provinces will be made known, and the policy for the future discussed.

It is a matter of congratulation to every well-wisher of his country, who desires to see the new order of things inaugurated without resorting to political agitation and turmoil, to learn that satisfactory arrangements have been made for a Union Cabinet. It was by the union of parties that Confederation was accomplished, and it should be by a union of parties that the machinery of the new government should be put in motion.

The policy of calling the Liberal members together is not the course we would have recommended, had we had any advice to give. We would much rather have seen Messrs. McDougall, Howland and Blair accept the responsibility of assisting in forming a Cabinet, and then defending their position and policy before the whole country. But having adopted a different course, it is a pity that Brown is excluded from the meeting, not that he deserves any consideration from the men in power, but to enable those who will be present to point out in his own presence the unpatriotic course he is now pursuing.

As might have been expected, the Globe suppresses a part of the telegram, which states that the "policy for the future" will be "discussed." This was too important a fact to let the readers of the Globe know, as it might induce many to attend. It then prophesies that only an "initialist" portion of them, (the Reform members,) will be found in that category, namely, of supporting the Cabinet.

The Globe, true to its character, is not satisfied with threatening vengeance against all and sundry who dare to attend the call of Messrs. McDougall, Howland and Blair, but tries to create a miserable petty sectional feeling against Messrs. Tilley and Archibald, two gentlemen from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick; and tells its readers that the most remarkable feature is the "threatened" appearance of these gentlemen, and then insinuates that they "intend to interfere in the family arrangements of their cousins" in Toronto. Thus assuming that Ontario is the whole Dominion, and that the whole Cabinet is to be composed of just such men as George Brown thinks proper to select and support. The Cabinet to be formed is to govern the whole Dominion, and not the Western section alone, therefore Messrs. Tilley and Archibald have as good a right to discuss the future policy of the Dominion in Toronto as any Torontonians, without being taunted with "interfering in the family arrangements of their cousins." We shall not be surprised to see Brown, ere months pass away, again playing the role of sectional agitator, and destroying, if possible, the harmony that should prevail between the different provinces of our new Dominion.

The Richardson Mine.

In a somewhat lengthy article in the Chicago Republican of the 21st inst., respecting the Richardson mine, we find a statement to the effect that three assays were made of the four barrels of quartz sent to Rochester: "the first yielded $250, the second $18,000, and the third $36,000 per ton. Some of the decomposed mineral from small pockets has yielded at the rate of from $30,000 to $200,000 per ton, and rock from the shaft from $200 to $300,000 per ton. Eight different specimens of rock were selected from the property—not from the richest, but from different parts of the mountain, all within three hundred feet of the shaft—and assayed by Dr. A. A. Hayes, of Boston, the average yield being $1,598.11 per ton, and every sample proving rich enough to pay largely for working."

—A snake thirty or forty feet long and two feet in thickness, was seen by some ladies and gentlemen on board near Oswego. It raised its head fully fifteen feet into the air, and then brought it down to the water three or four times in quick succession. It made a lowing noise like what is usually indulged in by the buccolic tribe. What does the Kingston Wing say about this last snake story?

Board of School Trustees.

A special meeting of the Board of Common School Trustees was held on Monday evening, the 24th inst., to examine plans of proposed Central School. There were present Mr. M. Bowell, Chairman, and Messrs. Smith, McAnany, Shepard, Thompson and Walton. Messrs. Smith and Walton submitted a plan of school, and made a report of their visit to Peterboro and Port Hope. The Central School building at Peterboro cost $20,000; that at Port Hope, which is just being completed, will cost about $12,000.

On motion of Mr. Shepard, seconded by Mr. Thompson, the plans submitted by Messrs. Smith and Walton were referred to a Committee of Messrs. Wills, Bowell and Smith, to report at the next meeting on Tuesday evening, the 2nd July.

FROM BRIDGEWATER.

BRIDGEWATER, June 22nd.

During the past week we have had some refreshing showers, but still farmers say more rain is wanted. Miners are still at work, and were I to enumerate all the different specimens of rock exhibited here, I am afraid I should require more of your space than I would feel inclined to allow. Of course the samples may be classed as good, bad, and indifferent, and generally some of the most sanguine exhibitors of mineral find their fossils of the better or middle class, the amateur miners have many of them to learn that "it is not all gold that glitters." On the other hand there are some very fine specimens shown here from time to time, which go to prove that this is a gold-bearing district. At the Barry mine for example, at every trial of the quartz they find gold, and I have no doubt when they have the crushing machine they have been talking about they will find a very valuable yield in what has been already taken out of the mine. As a proof of it, during this week they have burnt some of the ochre and worked at it in quite a rough style and produced a very fair percentage of gold, which was brought here and boiled in Nitric acid and afterwards hammered out and acted just as Mr. Bell states in his excellent letters that gold should act.

Messrs. Harrison and Breeze have again found gold by such rough tests as we had here, probably a more elaborate system would yield a further share.

Mr. Wyse who has a mine in the Township of Barry, east of the Perry road, states that it has been visited by Mr. Vandusen, Assayer of Tweed, who goes so far as to pronounce it a second "Richardson's." Some specimens from it were shown here and they certainly look very favorable.

The Kellar mine is still working and veins in the quartz continue to get wider the deeper they go; some samples were shown here to-day, and the veins were fully three times as wide as in those first exhibited. We saw a new working worked a short distance from the village, which goes under the cognomen of the "Rocky Mountain Mine;" here samples of gold have been found on two occasions, and the miners seem to feel confident of ultimate success.

The nugget of gold weighing fifteen ounces reported to have been found at the "Bald Mountains," has increased in weight and shifted its location to the "Eagle Hills." I have heard nothing about it since then; it struck me at the time, that if a nugget of that size had been found it would have been attended by a few articles in the shape of smaller nuggets, but nothing was said about such things; considering all the things we have escaped sensation reports hitherto very well.

I mentioned in my last that gold had been found by the Greenwood Company, four feet from the surface this week. I have been informed that there were seven dollars worth taken out of the sample tested. An accident occurred there this week to a man named Nixon, who had part of his head blown away while tampering with a blast; it is the old tale of an iron tampering bar, the fuse getting cut in the operation, a spark caused by iron coming in contact with rock, the fuse catching fire and then the inevitable catastrophe. It is to say the least of it positively sinful for men to endanger their own lives and the lives of others by such reckless conduct as this when for a small additional expense means can be used that would reduce the risk to a minimum.

DISINFECTING FLUID.—As the warm weather is with us, which will require greater attention to cleanliness and the avoidance of unpleasant and unhealthy vapors, we direct attention to the following:—Take equal parts of soda ash and fresh lump lime, say 10, 20, or 30 lbs of each, according to the size of the cess-pool; dissolve them in separate barrels, with boiling water—the lime to the consistency of whitewash, and the soda blown away while tampering with a blast; it is the old tale of an iron tampering bar, the fuse getting cut in the operation, a spark caused by iron coming in contact with rock, the fuse catching fire and then the inevitable catastrophe. It is to say the least of it positively sinful for men to endanger their own lives and the lives of others by such reckless conduct as this when for a small additional expense means can be used that would reduce the risk to a minimum.

Telegraphic News.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

BERLIN, June 24, evening.—Baron Von Der Heyde, the Minister of Finance, and Acting Prime Minister in the absence of Count Von Bismarck, closed the session of the Prussian Diet to-day. In his speech to the members of the upper and lower houses, on this occasion, he said the cordial and intimate relations now existing between His Majesty the King of Prussia and his powerful neighbors were an assurance of lasting peace.

VIENNA, June 24.—The Austrian Government has joined the Governments of France, Prussia, Italy and Russia, in their recent note to the Sublime Porte, urging an investigation of the difficulties in the Island of Candia.

LONDON, June 24, evening.—The London Times, in its city article to-day, says that a general feeling of uneasiness and distrust is noticeable in financial circles.

LONDON, June 25, noon.—Consols, 94; Bonds, 73; Ill. C. 79; Erie, 40.

LIVERPOOL, June 25, noon.—Cotton, downward tendency, Uplands, 11d to 11 1/4d; Orleans, 11 1/4d. Breadstuffs and provisions unchanged; Tallow declined to 44s; Pig Iron declined to 53s 3d; Whale Oil declined to 43s 5d per ton, for Iceland. Other articles unchanged.

American Despatches.

THE INDIAN WAR.

ST. LOUIS, June 25.—A despatch from the present terminus of the Kansas Pacific Railroad says the Indians have driven the railroad grading parties into Fort Harker, so that two residents were killed near Bunker Hill, twenty miles west of Fort Harker. On Wednesday efforts were made to procure arms for the railroad employees, many of whom have left their work, and it is feared all will leave, unless they are better protected.

LAWRENCE, Kansas, June 24.—The grading parties on the Pacific Railroad, within twenty miles of Bunker Hill, were attacked by Indians on Saturday night. Three men were killed, and the remainder driven off. All work on the road is suspended beyond Wilson's Creek, and unless prompt measures are taken by the military, the progress of the road must be greatly retarded.

MISCELLANEOUS.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The Herald's Saratoga special says the barns of the Union Hotel were consumed by fire this evening. Several hotels and the water-cure were also damaged.

ALBANY, June 25.—The Grand Jury yesterday found a true bill against Geo. B. Cole, charging him with murder in the first degree, in killing Mrs. Hisscock.

YELLOW FEVER.

NEW YORK, June 25.—The United States steamer Winona arrived in Hampton Roads yesterday with 40 cases of yellow fever on board. The disease first appeared off the coast of Haiti.

SUICIDE.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Wm. Stelle, a young and respected merchant of Jersey City, in a fit of temporary insanity, committed suicide last night.

GEN. SICKLES NOT TO BE RELIEVED.
 The Post's special says, Gen. Grant declines to relieve Gen. Sickles from his command.—There is no longer any doubt of a quorum of Congress appearing in July.

Editorial Summary.

—The New Brunswick Legislature was prorogued on the 17th inst.

—India exported to England last year 1,845,710 bales of cotton, worth $33,000,000.

—Two young ladies have been court-martialed in Florida for putting flowers on confederate graves.

—A Connecticut doctor claims that cancer can be cured by burning them with a sun-glass, the heat of the sun having a peculiar effect.

—Peter F. Carroll, of Tamworth, Esquire, is to be an Associate Governor for the County of Lennox and Addington.

—It is expected a sweeping measure to confiscate all lands and property in the Southern States will be laid before Congress in July.

—A Connecticut journal adds to its "standing heads," that of "Divorces," and inserts the list between the garriques and deaths.

—Recent reports from all parts of the Province speak in hopeful terms of the promising appearance of the crops.

—Senator Chandler is to propose in Congress that Canada should be taken as an offset to the Alabama claims.

The Conservative Convention of Lennox have nominated Thos. Kirkpatrick for the House of Commons and John Brecken for the Legislative Assembly of Ontario.

—The New York market is literally glutted with strawberries from Jersey, and the wholesale price is down to 19 and 15 cents a quart. There is an immense crop of strawberries this year.

—After the first of July, all children born of slave parents in Havana will be free. Any slave can purchase his or her freedom after that date for the amount of $50.

—A soldier of the Royal Canadian Rifles, Kingston, named Lacey, was drummed out of the Regiment the other day, having been convicted of an unbecomable crime.

The Fourth Step in the Union Programme.

[From the St. John, N. B., Morning Telegraph.]

The departure of the Confederate leaders of the Maritime Provinces, for Ottawa, yesterday morning, marks the fourth stage in the recent progress of Confederation. We of course pass over the earlier and never-to-be forgotten union efforts of Mr. Howe. The Quebec Conference was the first. The work done on that occasion will ever remain a standing monument of the broad and statesmanlike views of its members. The London Conference extended and applied the principles of the Quebec scheme, rather than made any radical alterations on it. Nothing could be more just than the statement of the Hon. John A. Macdonald that it required no little moderation and wisdom on the part of the delegates to agree on the basis of Union adopted in the London Conference. Indeed had the Maritime Delegates been tied up by literal instructions this would have been impossible, and the Union would still be in the future. The Imperial Act, obtained under circumstances of some difficulty, and requiring to be supplemented by a guarantee for a large sum of money, formed the third step. Now comes the fourth part of the Union programme, the formation of the Executive of the New Dominion. The interests of the Dominion of Canada being at issue, it is fitting that the sections of the Dominion should be represented in the Executive body. Upon it will devolve the legislation and general policy which are best fitted to develop the interests of the whole. The position in Nova Scotia having wisely entered into the Union movement, as did also a portion of the opposition in this province, all the parties in these two Maritime Provinces will now aid in formulating the work of the Union. It is on this great errand that Dr. Tupper and Mr. Archibald, Mr. Tilley and Mr. Mitchell, left our city yesterday en route for Ottawa. They are by common consent regarded as the foremost representatives of the Confederate movement in these Provinces, the men who have the largest following, and whose counsels are most valuable. This is undoubtedly true as far as New Brunswick is concerned, nor is there anything better fitted to establish the fact than the miserable attempts at detraction resorted to by the disunion papers. Their wholesale fabrications, their deliberate slanders, their disregard of common decency in their assaults upon the foremost Union men, only recoil upon the anti-Unionists themselves, though they can hardly sink them to lower level than that which they now occupy. We hope to see the Nova Scotia statesmen after having accepted office, returning short of detraction, and we have not the least doubt that the constituencies to which they appeal will be only too glad to send such able representatives of Nova Scotia to Ottawa, with a fair number of supporters. Mr. Mitchell on taking a seat in the Cabinet will not require to make an appeal to Northumberland. If he did no man could be so readily returned in that constituency. The city of St. John will be proud to be represented by Mr. Tilley. The great interest will be secured by his presence in the Cabinet, and he and his colleague feel able to accept seats in it while he will be more gratified to represent his old and tried friends than any other constituency in the Province. It is generally true that there is no opposition either in the city and county to the elections of Mr. Tilley and Mr. Grey.

London under Mob Rule.

The London Times of the 12th inst., has the following article on the outbreaks of lawless violence which had then just disturbed the Metropolis:

The field-day of the London blackguards against the rest of the public has naturally excited a great deal of astonishment and alarm. It came upon us like the battle of Badwater. We knew there were thieves in plenty of lurking here and there, that there was a large class of very dirty and disreputable persons known of late popularity as "roughs," and that these "roughs" were apt to concentrate with great rapidity on any spot where there was a chance of amusement or mischief; we also were painfully aware that, through the demonstrations of the last twelve months, the camp followers of the Reformers had acquired a degree of confidence in their own strength which might at some time become inconvenient. But we had no idea a London mob would venture so far. There was a boldness in the enterprise, and a sort of concert in the execution of it, that startled some people. Crime of late has been a cowardly, slinking pursuit.

To find the London scoundrel knocking down respectable people in St. James' Park, robbing them in the coolest manner of their watches and other valuables, and then chasing them while they ran, only too glad to escape with a whole skin, shows that there is still a romance in daily life. A mob which the police dare not oppose, and which as it met last week, is certainly an element of interest in London life, and if it were to appear periodically it would deserve to be recorded among the institutions of the country.

Confident that these scoundrels will be promptly met and vigorously dealt with if they repeat their outrages, we must say, for the credit of London, however, that there is no reason to fear a continuance of such atrocities. Among three million of people there must be a certain number of bad characters, and these, no doubt, have a sort of understanding or fellowship among themselves, which makes them capable at times of mischief on a large scale; but there is no city where more dangerous elements are more habitually kept under. They may seethe up occasionally, but they soon return to their ordinary condition. You may walk the streets of London day and night for years without receiving the slightest molestation. Tens of thousands of Londoners are abroad for a large portion of the twenty-four hours during a great part of their lives, and how many of them can say that they have ever been robbed with violence? If they have lost a watch or a purse once in their lives, it is an event to be remembered. So it will be with mob highway robbery, if the crime, which we do not expect, ever makes head, a few examples will strike terror into the disorderly, and the evil will be at an end.

BELLEVILLE, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30.

Single copies of the "Daily Intelligencer" can be obtained at J. C. Overell's Book Store, Belleville.

CONFIRMATION.—The Lord Bishop of Ontario will hold a confirmation in Christ's Church, on Sunday, July 7th, at 2 p.m.

SUDDEN DEATH.—We learn by a telegram from Madoc that during the celebration of the Masonic Fraternity at that place on St. John's day, July 7th, at 2 p.m.

CIVIL CODE.—An extra of the Canada Gazette published on Tuesday contains the proclamation putting in force the Civil Code Procedure of Lower Canada from and after the 28th inst. This commutes the great law reforms in the sister Province, which will prove a standing monument to the genius and industry of the Hon. Mr. Cartier.

AS "USUAL" EVENT?—The Quebec Chronicle of the 29th inst., "About midnight on Saturday night, a woman apparently in distress, rushed towards a policeman near the corner of St. Stanislas and St. John streets, crying out 'My God, Sir!' He caught her in his arms as she sank towards the ground, and almost at the same moment she gave birth to an infant. She was immediately removed to the nearest police station, where medical aid was obtained, and she gave birth to a second infant."

GUNBOATS FOR THE DOMINION.—It is rumored that the New Dominion will be presented on July 1st with three gunboats on the Upper Canadian lakes—the Heron, Cherub and Arctonaut—by the Imperial Government. The boats with their armament are valued at £20,000 sterling each, and will be quite a nice nucleus around which to gather a navy. At present the Canadian Government pays the cost of keeping the boats in repair, the other expenses being borne by the Home Government.

ARRIVAL OF LORD MONCK.—His Excellency the Governor General and suite arrived at Quebec on Tuesday, the 26th, by the Metropole. The Grand Trunk wharf, south of Quebec, to which the steamer proceeded, was nicely decorated with flags and evergreens. His Excellency was loudly cheered by the crowd on the wharf and a salute was fired from several different points. When he got on board the steamer for the purpose of crossing to the Quebec side a salute was fired from H. M. S. Aurora. A guard of honor of the 30th regiment was in attendance on the Quebec side.

THE PIC-NIC.—Belleville looks like "Gold Smith's Deserted Village" today, for Gold holds high carnival at Massawag Point, and every one who could get away has gone to rusticate in that lovely spot. The Rochester this morning took as many as she well could carry, and at noon she was loaded down with another party of gay and festive lads and lasses. Preparations were made for all kinds of games and amusements, and we have no doubt there have been lots of fun and frolic at Massawag Point to day.

CONFEDERATION DAY is fast approaching and still no steps have yet been taken by our town fathers to celebrate it in a becoming manner. Now we would suggest that each person in order to appear to proper advantage, and be clothed in a manner becoming the grand natal day of our New Dominion, go to J. Mair & Co's Clothing Emporium and secure for themselves one of their cheap and easy fitting suits which can be bought at extremely low rates. For instance, complete linen suits for $4.00; all wool melton suits $5.50.

—3,554 emigrants arrived at Quebec during the week ending the 23rd of June.

—The Princess of Wales is much improved. She will be taken to the Duchess of Sutherland's place on a visit soon.

—A Boston paper says that Mr. Jefferson Davis is about to proceed to Mississippi, and will probably be elected to Congress from that State.

—The attempt to build a tunnel under the Chicago river has signally failed. The entire work lately in progress, including masonry, timber, &c., last Friday morning fell in with a crash, involving heavy losses to the contractors.

Grit Reasoning.

We observe that Col. Crawford, of Brockville, has received the nomination of a convention of the Town of Brockville and the Township of Elizabethtown, and will be a candidate for that Riding for the House of Commons. The Recorder has, much to our astonishment, fallen foul of the gallant Colonel, and denounces him in truly Gritish style. Mr. Crawford's crime seems to be that he had a father, and being the youngest son of his father, he, according to the theory of this liberal Grit, ought not to be supported by the electors. A strange doctrine for one who prides himself on his liberality, and professes to believe that men should be judged upon their merits and not upon the acts of others, no matter how closely allied. But in this instance the theory is not to hold good. Mr. Crawford had a father, and that father is the Hon. George Crawford, who, at some period of his life, would not do what a certain Conservative not a thousand miles from Belleville did, sell himself to his political opponents, hence "his youngest son" is not to be trusted, and vials of wrath are to be poured out upon his head. But for fear we should not do our contemporary justice, we give his words:

"Who is Mr. Crawford, who has been selected by the Tories of the Riding? He is the youngest son of Mr. George Crawford, who so lately betrayed the Reformers of the same Riding. The Reformers took him up he had no position. They sent him to Parliament in opposition to Mr. Sherwood. They brought him into notice; honor was heaped upon him in consequence, and for the kindness extended to him by the Reformers of Brockville and Elizabethtown, like the viper in the fable, after having earned into life, he turned and stung his benefactors. This is Toryism—his son, Mr. James Crawford, and his companion, Mr. William Fitzgibbon, belong to the Tory school of politicians, and can be depended upon just as little as George Crawford."

What is the crime here brought against Mr. Crawford, Senr.? Had we not had an example in our own midst of the same kind of tactics, we should not so well understand it. Brockville was always a strong Conservative borough, and the Reformers knowing that they could not elect a man of their own, concentrated their forces upon Mr. Crawford, with the assistance of a number of the Conservatives, elected him. Mr. Crawford maintained his party integrity, and did not sell himself to those who thought they had a claim upon him, hence his son must not be elected. What a logician! What a Solon has come to judgment! But what makes this whole reasoning doubly absurd is the fact that the Grits of Brockville have decided to support the redoubtable Mr. Chambers, who professes to be a Conservative, and who made himself such a laughing stock during the session of the late Parliament. It is for such a man that the Reformers are asked to vote; but it argues well for the country, that there are men in the Reform ranks who will not again assist in placing the destinies of their country in the hands of such Tories as Chambers, who insulted every loyal man in the Province when he made his famous speech for the New York Herald. It is asking honest men to do too much, to ask them to support a man who, while professing to be a Tory, insults every loyal man in the country. If the Recorder and his party are honest in believing that Reformers exclusively should be elected, why not bring out a man known for his political integrity, and not ask men to support such burlesques upon humanity as this man Chambers. The Recorder will discover, when the elections are over, that there are many Reformers in the Riding who will not be dragged through the mud to please it or the wire puller any longer, and we are glad to see that the same spirit pervades many of the same party in this country, who have learned that an honest politician is the best man, though not in accord with them upon every minor point. For our own part we prefer a Reformer at any time, though he may be extreme in his views, to the trimmer who is ready to sell you at any moment to the highest bidder.

Gold in Elzevir.

We received a telegram from the Hon. Bills Flint, this afternoon, dated Bridgewater, which states that Mr. Barry produced as fine show of gold from half a pound of quartz last evening from his mine; and that from the shaft near the saw factory at Bridgewater, Mr. Carleton obtained the finest show of gold yet had in that section. This location near the saw factory has been spoken of by Mr. Michel and by experienced miners as presenting the most promising indications, and it is gratifying to know that as the shaft is being deepened, more and better shows of gold are found. It must be remembered that it is only within the last two or three weeks that active operations have been going on in these places.

Town Council.

TUESDAY, JUNE 25, 1897.

PRESENT.—His Worship the Mayor and Messrs. Levesconte, Sutherland, Kennedy, Henderson, McIntosh, Watters, Tennahill and Robertson.

Several petitions relating to assessment were referred.

Some communications respecting taxes were referred to the Town Solicitor.

The Harbor and Town Property Committee reported, recommending that the prayer of the petition be granted. Some discussion subsequently took place respecting the matter, when it was decided to lay it over until the next meeting, to enable members to examine plans, &c.

Mr. Watters reported that the sum of $15, appropriated to Mrs. Briggs, had not been used.

The Finance Committee reported, recommending the payment of several accounts.

The Committee recommended that L. H. Henderson be appointed Solicitor to the Corporation, instead of his present appointment as Solicitor only for the purpose of enforcing the collection of arrears of taxes, in accordance with and on the terms mentioned in a memorandum herewith appended.

That L. H. Henderson, Esq., be and is hereby appointed Solicitor to the Corporation, instead of his present appointment as Solicitor only for the purpose of enforcing the collection of arrears of taxes, in accordance with and on the terms mentioned in a memorandum herewith appended.

That it shall be the duty of the Solicitor in addition to the general duties which would devolve on him by virtue of his appointment, to use every endeavor to collect in the arrears of Taxes, whether the same are collectible from the Corporation or from the individuals who may appear to be indebted therefor, by suit at law or otherwise, as he may determine, (subject nevertheless to any order made by the Council) to collect all rents or other moneys due to the Corporation, whenever he shall be so instructed, to defend or otherwise settle as he may be instructed, actions brought against the Corporation, bonds or other indebtedness, between the town and its officers, or any other parties, and attend to the due execution of the Corporation, and to collect all rents or other moneys due to the Corporation, whenever he shall be so instructed, to defend or otherwise settle as he may be instructed, actions brought against the Corporation, bonds or other indebtedness, between the town and its officers, or any other parties, and attend to the due execution of the Corporation, and to collect all rents or other moneys due to the Corporation, whenever he shall be so instructed, to defend or otherwise settle as he may be instructed, actions brought against the Corporation, bonds or other indebtedness, between the town and its officers, or any other parties, and attend to the due execution of the Corporation, and to collect all rents or other moneys due to the Corporation, whenever he shall be so instructed, to defend or otherwise settle as he may be instructed, actions brought against the Corporation, bonds or other indebtedness, between the town and its officers, or any other parties, and attend to the due execution of the Corporation, and to collect all rents or other moneys due to the Corporation, whenever he shall be so instructed, to defend or otherwise settle as he may be instructed, actions brought against the Corporation, bonds or other indebtedness, between the town and its officers, or any other parties, and attend to the due execution of the Corporation, and to collect all rents or other moneys due to the Corporation, whenever he shall be so all the property in the country into the hands of two classes—the office-holders and the stock-jobbers? We thus see the wide difference between the radical conception actually in progress and that which

OTTAWA, June 27th.

Lord Monck is expected to arrive here by boat on Friday evening. Preparations are being made by the City Council and national societies to give him a suitable welcome.

The first Government of the Dominion will be sworn into office on Monday next. It will consist of Hon. Messrs. McDonald, Campbell, McDougall, Blair, and Howland for Ontario. Messrs. Cartier, Galt, Langlois, and Chapais for Quebec. Kenny and Archibald for Nova Scotia, and Tilley and Mitchell for New Brunswick. Mr. Kenny is a leading merchant of Halifax and a Roman Catholic, and is the joint nominee of Mr. Tupper and Mr. McFee, who withdraw their claims in order to make the new government as complete a success as possible.

Mr. McFee has come forward in Prescott County for the legislature of Ontario, and commenced to canvass yesterday.

FIRE AT BERLIN.

TORONTO, June 27.

Bristhapp's extensive tannery at Berlin, containing 144 vats, was destroyed by fire this morning. Loss heavy. Insured for only $5,000.

SECOND CLASS CERTIFICATE.—We are pleased to learn that Mr. George Stewart, son of Dr. Stewart, of this town, who has been attending the Military School at Kingston, has passed a creditable examination, and received a second-class certificate.

STRAWBERRIES.—The season for this delicious fruit has fairly commenced, and judging from the quantity sold every day by Conger Bros., the crop this year must be abundant. They receive fresh lots every day of the best varieties, as will be seen by advertisement.

THURLOW CHEESE FACTORY.—We understand that the Cheese manufactured at the Thurlow Cheese Factory up to the present date this season, has been sold in Montreal at 12 cents per pound. The purchasers pronounce it equal to the most favored lots from the Ingersoll Factories.

INTERNATIONAL MEDICAL CONGRESS.—We have much pleasure in noticing that our townsman, George J. Potts, has been honored by Laccort T. Bouillard, the "Secrétaire Général" to the International Medical Congress of Paris, with the carte de Membre adhérent. The International Medical Congress will be held in Paris during the month of August next.

RAILWAY SECURITIES.—A table was recently published in New York, to illustrate the enormous advance which has taken place since 1801 in the value of the leading railway securities. In some instances it amounts to 100 per cent. New York Central was quoted in that year at 68, and last Saturday reached 109½; Erie at the same period was only at 17, and is now quoted at 60½; Hudson only stood at 3½, and has now reached 109. The greatest advance, however, was in Cleveland and Toledo, which stood at 50½ at one period in 1861, and now has gone up to 130½.

THE CANADIAN LINE.—Amongst our telegraphic despatches of yesterday, we announced the arrival at New York of the new Mail Steamship Rustic of this line; her first deck across the herring-pond having been made in something over ten days—a creditable passage. The Canadian Company have been singularly fortunate in their ships and their management. Some few years ago, the British Government, to mark their appreciation of the services rendered by Mr. Samuel Cunard in connection with Ocean Steam navigation, created him a Baronet, and upon that gentleman's death not many months ago, the Baronet reverted to his son, the present Sir Edward Cunard, who resides in New York, and has his agency for the company in that city.

Railroad men in California have decided to cover the cuts in the mountain to prevent their being filled up with snow in winter. According to the design adopted the road will have a double support of stout timbers at the caves, and peaked top, so as to be strong enough to sustain the weight of many tons of snow.

Meeting of Liberal Members.

Respecting the meeting of the Reform members of Parliament, called by Messrs. McDougall and Howland last evening at Toronto, the Leader of to-day says:—"The meeting comprised members of both Houses. Mr. Tilley and Mr. Archibald both addressed the meeting, giving their view of the present situation of affairs and showing the necessity that existed, at the present time, of a Coalition Government being formed. With them the question was one of supporting the union cause; and they felt that they would not be justified in refusing to join any Government having that object in view. Consequently they had agreed, some days ago, to accept of office, and before the Liberal members for Upper Canada had consented to do so. There would therefore have been a Coalition, all the same, if the Upper Canadian Liberals had refused to take part in it.

"This disposition of the silly cry of 'no Coalition' is, no Coalition means, in fact, at the present time, no Government; for, from the state of parties in the different Provinces, it is evident that no other Government could possibly be formed. No Coalition means chaos, anarchy.

"The explanations made by the two representative Reformers from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, we learn, produced a marked effect on the meeting. The result of the conference was, we believe, entirely satisfactory to the gentlemen by whom it was convened."

Dominion Day.

The Committee of the Council met a number of citizens this forenoon, and having organized themselves into a joint Committee of Arrangement, proceeded to make preparations for the proper celebration of the 1st of July. His Worship, the Mayor, occupied the chair, and Geo. D. Dickson, Esq., was chosen Secretary.

The following resolutions were adopted:—Moved by Mr. Robertson, seconded by G. E. Henderson, that the 1st day of July be celebrated by a Grand Procession and Demonstration to be comprised of the citizens, the 15th Battalion, the Q. T. R. Rifles, and Belleville Rifle company, the Fire Brigade, and all others that may choose to take part in such procession to proceed to such place as may be selected by a Committee, and that the following gentlemen do comprise such Committee: Capt. Nunn, Capt. Wills, and Wm. Sutherland, Esq.

Moved by Mr. Geo. E. Henderson, seconded by Mr. L. H. Henderson, that the sum of $150 be appropriated for the use of the Volunteers and Firemen to be expended by them as they may see fit, for refreshments on the 1st of July, to be furnished on the ground.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. L. H. Henderson, seconded by Mr. James Kennedy, that a Committee consisting of Messrs. James Blacklock, Wm. Sutherland, John Mason, Capt. Nunn, Mr. Phipps, Mr. Starling, the Mayor, and Capt. Stephens be named to draft a programme of the day's proceedings, and expend the sum of one hundred dollars, the balance of the appropriation made by the Council.—Carried.

The sub-committee appointed will take immediate steps to carry out the object of the Resolutions, and the programme of arrangements will be made public as soon as it can be agreed upon.

St. George's Pic-Nic.

The Pic-Nic of the St. George's Society, held yesterday at Massassaga Point, was one of the most successful ever held in this part of the country, there being 1,000 persons present. The day was cool and pleasant, and everything passed off agreeably and without the slightest annoyance or accident, owing, in a great measure, to the good management of the officers and crew of the Rochester and the arrangements made by the Committee.

On the return home an impromptu meeting was held on the boat. H. Corby, Esq., Mayor, in the chair, when, after some complimentary remarks in reference to Mr. Dewey, proprietor of the boat, Mr. Howell moved, seconded by Mr. Starling,

"That the thanks of the members of the St. George's Society be tendered to J. B. Dewey, Esq., proprietor of the steamer Rochester, for his courtesy and gentlemanly conduct during the present excursion, and trust that his enterprise in placing the Rochester upon this route may prove as profitable to him in a pecuniary sense as his endeavors to please and render the excursionists comfortable have been on the present occasion."—Carried.

Mr. Dewey returned thanks in a few appropriate remarks, when cheers were given for Mr. Dewey, the President of the Society, and the Queen.

Filling up the Country.

A day or two since a large number of the better class of emigrants passed up by the Grand Trunk Railway. They were Scotch and Irish, and came out by the Steamship St. George. They are the most intelligent looking lot of immigrants that have passed up this season, and will be a decided acquisition to any part of Canada where they may settle. About twenty left the train east of Toronto; but the greater number are destined for Hamilton, Guelph, London, and other points West. All the male members of the party are mechanics, and, seemingly, possessed of some means. On this occasion, all the immigrants traveled in first and second class cars, and seemed the most comfortable of any party that have passed through for some time.

Safety of the North American.

The Montreal Gazette of yesterday says much anxiety is naturally felt for the steamship North American. She sailed on the 15th inst., from Quebec for Liverpool, via St. John's, New Foundland, for which port she had a number of passengers and a company of the Royal Canadian Rifles. She has not since been heard of. There is no reason, however, for supposing that she may have run ashore in the Gulf. Three other steamers of the Montreal Ocean Company's fleet have since arrived up, as well as a large number of sailing vessels, and she could easily have desisted had she been aground. The Moravian received particular instructions in this respect on her last trip out. She was ordered to run close to the south shore as far down as Fox River, opposite Anticosti, where she was directed to cross over, keep well in to the South point of the Island, and then run for the Bird Rocks, whence, if no tidings could be obtained, she was to sail for Point au Basque, Cape Ray, Newfoundland. The Moravian arrived there yesterday afternoon, but as no message has been received from her, it may be presumed that, so far, her search has proved unsuccessful. The most reasonable supposition, therefore, is, that the North American deranged her machinery, and Captain Kerr concluded to turn directly to Liverpool, as it would almost be impossible for him to make St. John's under canvas. If this should be the case, several weeks will elapse ere we receive any tidings of the missing vessel.

Since the foregoing was in type, the following telegram shows that the Steamship North American met with a serious accident on the 16th inst. The telegram was received by her owners at Montreal, yesterday:—

"The North American went ashore at eleven o'clock on Sunday night, the 16th inst., one and a half miles off the South Point of the Island of Anticosti.

"The passengers and crew are all well; no lives are lost. We are throwing the cargo overboard; the ship is perfectly light; we are almost sure to get the ship off to-night, if the weather keeps moderate. In case we should not succeed, send immediate assistance. On Tuesday, the 18th inst., the mails, specie and baggage were all landed."

The Steamship St. George and the steamer Rocket have been despatched to Anticosti, the former to embark the passengers and mails of the North American ashore there, for conveyance to Newfoundland and Liverpool, and the latter to render such assistance as may be necessary.

The examination of the Thurlow Common Schools took place at Cannifton on Wednesday the 26th inst. Notwithstanding that the St. George's Pic-Nic took away a large number of people who would otherwise have attended, there was a large gathering, most of the schools apparently being represented, and the inhabitants of the Township generally interesting themselves in the result. The Reeve, J. J. Farley, Esq., occupied the chair. Amongst those present were Hon. Robert Read, Geo. Neilson, Esq., A. Diamond, Esq., P. R. Daly, Esq., George Orr, Esq., and others. Messrs. Johnston, Mason, and Chapman were appointed judges. Prof. Carman, who was invited to act as one of the judges, was unexpectedly prevented from attending by an accident, causing temporary lameness.

The examinations which were commenced at half-past nine o'clock, were continued with great interest and spirit until half-past two o'clock. The performances were remarkably good, reading and spelling being specially excellent. Twelve or fifteen of the scholars were perfect in all the words in the Third National Reader; five or six were perfect in the whole of the Fourth, and in other departments the various scholars showed a high state of proficiency, and a very perceptible advancement since the last examination.

Among the schools which specially distinguished themselves by evincing the patronized in their singing, Mr. Goldsmith's of Smithville, and Miss Ostrom's of Stone House, Cannifton, elicited special applause.

At half-past two o'clock, the schools adjourned for dinner, which was served up in the grove near the school house, and to which ample justice was done by all present. Speeches were made, appropriate to the occasion, by the Reeve of the township, J. J. Farley, Esq., Hon. R. Read, A. Diamond, Esq., and George Neilson, Esq. The judges and the Local Superintendent were in the meantime adding up the marks and arranging them, and about four o'clock, the prizes were distributed as follows: Three to the best for the total general result; twelve or fourteen each for the three divisions of 1st, 2nd, and 3rd, Reading; 3rd, Spelling and Writing.

The rain drove most of the company into the School House before the proceedings were quite over, and a very pleasant time was spent there in listening to a number of songs beautifully sung by Mr. Neilson, a portion of the audience joining in the chorus, and especially in the National Anthem, which closed the proceedings of the day.

Wreck of the North American.

NO LIVES LOST.

CARGO THROWN OVERBOARD.

NEW YORK, June 22.

The Herald's special concerning the wrecking of the steamer "North American" says she went ashore at 11 o'clock on Sunday night, one mile and a half off the south point of Anticosti. No lives were lost.

The passengers and crew are all well. They are throwing the cargo overboard.

On Tuesday morning the mails, specie and baggage were landed.

Presentation and Supper.

On Monday evening last the young men boarding at Mrs. Furnival's met in her spacious dining hall for the purpose of presenting the Rev. W. J. Shaw with an address and magnificent album containing their photographs, as a mark of the high regard and esteem in which that gentleman was held by his assembled friends.

The complimentary supper, which was prepared by the esteemed hostess, was really an excellent repast, and reflected the greatest credit on that lady as a first-class cateress. After ample justice had been done to the good things provided, the chairman, Mr. A. McFee, in a few appropriate remarks, explained the object of the meeting, when the following address was read:

To the Rev. W. J. Shaw, B. A., L. L. B.:—DEAR SIR.—We, your friends and well-wishers, who have enjoyed the privilege of associating with you during the past year, deeply regret that the call of the Church so soon requires your departure from our midst that you can no longer meet with us or join in our social intercourse. We met as strangers; we part as friends. Each of us has his debt to fulfill and his part to play in the great drama of life; but changes are ever taking place, and we are now about to part—it may be that we may never meet again—on the present occasion.

One by one we leave this home, but wherever our lots may be cast, whatever may be our success in life, our pleasing associations with you for the past year will never be forgotten. Our united wish is that your life may be a success, your death that of the righteous, and your final abode in the realms of eternal bliss. We therefore desire to present you with this short address and album containing our photographs, as a tribute of our esteem and regard. Wishing you every success in your new field of labor, we are, dear sir, Your sincere friends, ANSW. McFee, And 39 others.

Belleville, June 24th, 1867.

The Rev. Mr. Shaw replied in a feeling manner, reverting to the happy hours spent in their company during the past year. He said he came here as a young man, and endeavored to forget the sorrows of his youth, but the friends with whom he was associated. He knew the hopes and aspirations of youth. He felt them in his own breast, and he felt that it was not opposed to his high calling to be one with them. He regretted the loss of the friends who had contributed in a great measure to his enjoyment, and made him feel that it was indeed a home to him, closing his remarks in the most happy manner by giving a word of kind advice to all.

Editorial Summary.

—Yellow fever has broken out in New Orleans.

—Woman suffrage is to form one of the topics of discussion at the Toronto Girl Convention.

—Senator Chandler has made another speech, in which he again advocates the forcible annexation of Canada.

—The Union Pacific Railway was opened to Julesburg, 376 miles west of Omaha in the State of Nebraska, on Saturday last.

—A strange and appalling disease, supposed to be the Black Death or Plague, which ravaged all Russia in the fourteenth century, has broken out in Ireland.

—R. A. Harrison and J. Wallis are candidates, he first for the House of Commons; the second for the Ontario Legislature, for the West Division of Toronto.

—Hon. Joseph Howe has issued a campaign document addressed to the people of Upper Canada, in the course of which he endeavors to explain away some of his insulting references to Upper and Lower Canada.

—The most curious idea has recently been patronized in the very highest quarters, namely, mourning bouquets, chiefly composed of sombre leaves and weeping, head-banging flowers of dull colours.

—The Hamilton Times says the prisoners confined in the Guelph goal are making their escape in twos and threes at short intervals, by picking the rusty locks and wrenching off the fragile bars designed to secure them in durance.

—A grim, hard-headed old judge, after hearing a flowery discourse from a pretentious young barrister, advised him to pluck out the feathers from the wings of his imagination and stick them in the tail of his judgement.

—A Connecticut genius has manufactured a knitting machine that will knit fifty pair of stockings per day, and is so constructed that the stitch can be changed from a rib to a plain stitch almost instantly. There are seventy-five needles in the machine, which knit sixty turns of an ordinary sized stocking a minute, or 4,500 stitches a minute. This is at the rate of 270,000 stitches an hour! Its weight is but twenty pounds. It knits cotton, but is not so good for any light material as well as woolen. It knits also the whole stocking, including the heel. One of these machines, at a recent trial, knit 1,500 yards of stockinet without dropping a stitch or breaking a needle.

CINCINNATI, June 27.—A very large and enthusiastic Fenian demonstration held here last night. About 25 young men enlisted and about $2,000 was subscribed for the purchase of uniforms, &c.

NEW YORK, June 27.—The steamer Northern Light, from Bremen, has arrived.

CONFEDERATION DAY is fast approaching, and still no steps have yet been taken by our town fathers to celebrate it in a becoming manner. Now we would suggest that each person in order to appear to proper advantage, and be clothed in a manner becoming the grand natal day of our New Dominion, go to J. Mair & Co's Cloth Emporium and secure themselves one of their cheap and easy fitting suits which can be bought at extremely low rates. For instance, complete linen suits for $4.00; all wool mixed suits $5.50.

In the Havana correspondence of the New York Times we read the following:—A new dodge in the smuggling business has just been told in Small vessels leave some plantation on the coast of Jamaica with a load of empty casks, ostensibly for Kingston. They come to this island, fill their casks with ordinary rum, and then sell it in Kingston as Jamaica rum. Who the losers by this operation are I cannot tell. A party in this city performed a very smart operation in the coolie line. He went to the depot and purchased 200 coolies at 10 ounces each ($33,600) on two years' credit, and after reselling them a few days after at a lower figure for cash, presented himself as a bankrupt. In future Chinamen will only be sold for cash or approved paper with security.

The Russian Government has ordered that in every Polish Catholic Church an altar, especially reserved to the Greek Church, shall be established, a measure equivalent to ordering every Presbyterian Church to contain an altar for the Roman Catholic. The Russian Government of Podolia has also published a decree, in virtue of which every Catholic priest wishing to preach a sermon is bound to deliver to the censorship of the police a manuscript copy of his discourse. Any priest acting in contravention to this order is to be liable to severe penalties. The decree seems to have no other object than that of interfering, or at least rendering most difficult, all public hearings of sermons in Catholic churches, for the manuscripts presented to the censorship are to be kept, kept several months and during the whole of that time Catholics will be deprived of religious preaching. The sacred hymns, even the most ancient, are also to be subject to a preliminary examination by the police.

—A Cincinnati photographer caused a slight sensation the other day by toasting up a corpse on a balcony on one of the principal streets for the purpose of taking a post-mortem portrait.

FIRE AND LIFE.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

THE principles on which this Company is founded contain all the elements required to secure the benefits of Life Insurance, and afford every facility to intending assureds.

One of the advantages secured by those who

insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Deed of Settlement

to Ten per Cent of the Net Life Income.

This most important restriction

shows that the interests of participating policy

holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management

Must Largely Influence Profits

and Bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1898, and all those who wish to participate in

the profits should insure at once.

ST. CATHARINES. — The steamer Rochester leaves this port on Monday at 2 o'clock, for Oswego, touching at Mill Point and Picton.

Daily Intelligencer.

BELLEVILLE, SATURDAY, JUNE 29.

FROM OTTAWA.

(By Special Telegram to the Daily Intelligencer.)

OTTAWA, June 29th.

The Governor General arrived last evening. At his particular request there was no public demonstration.

Discount on American Invoices 38 per cent.

FROM ANTICOST.

(By Special Telegram to the Daily Intelligencer.)

ANTICOST, Wednesday night, June 28.

I send the mails and specie off to-night by the Napoleon to catch the steamer down towards Anticost on Saturday night.

Captain Fortin of the Revenue Cutter Canadienne is here. Two schooners loaded have been sent away to Quebec. Weather fine. Have begun to lift the cargo thrown over.

Signed, CAPTAIN KEIR.

DOMINION DAY. — Monday next being a public holiday, there will be no paper issued from this office.

DOMINION OF CANADA. — We understand that the Rev. Joseph Willing will preach a sermon to-morrow evening in the Episcopal Methodist Church, on the Dominion of Canada. Service commences at 8.30 P. M.

STRAWBERRIES. — The finest and best flavored strawberries we have seen or tasted this year were brought to market to-day by Mr. Wm. Hallett, of the best concession, Hastingsdon. They were raised from seed from Wilson Seedlings, crossed by the "Great Prolifer."

MR. BROWN'S CONSENTS. — At the Reform Convention Mr. Brown, upon being asked to reconsider his determination to retire to private life, said the course taken by McDougall, Howland and Blair had changed the situation, and expressed his willingness to return to Parliament for a short time.

LEAVING OTTAWA. — An Ottawa paper says that orders have been sent to the employees in the Crown Lands Department to send in at once a list of the members of their households who were removed with them to the local seats of government in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

CHANGES. — The Montreal Gazette says: "The next Canada Gazette will contain the appointment of Mr. F. J. Dickson to the shrievalty of the united counties of Leeds and Grenville. It is also understood that Mr. William Ferguson, M. P. P. for Frontenac, has been appointed Sheriff for that county, vice Mr. Corbett, who has resigned."

WHO WILL BE GOVERNOR? — A generally well-informed London paper indicates that the Lieutenant-Governors of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia will temporarily retain their places. While we are on rumors, it is said that Sir Narcisse Beaulieu and Mr. Justice Draper are to be the Lieutenant-Governors of Quebec and Ontario respectively. It is also said the Lower Canadians are to have the nomination of Speaker to the Senate.

A WORD OF ADVICE. — Parties who send newspapers to Great Britain and Ireland may not be aware that it is now contrary to the Imperial postal regulations to put any writing on the initials of the sender. The initials of the sender, or even the date of mailing is prohibited. The fact that letter postage will be charged for such matter should be borne in mind.

MERCENARY. — The Paris Charvet points out the curious fact that the official French journals, in announcing the visits of crowned persons, generally mention the sum which each is expected to spend during his or her stay in Paris. Length of purse has fairly supplanted length of pedigree in popular estimation. The age is commercial, and chivalry, to use a commercial term, is at a discount. The private bank account is of more importance than the place in the Annuaire de Goh.

— It is proposed to send messages by telegraph from New York to foreign countries in the language of those countries. The operators to be employed are good linguists, and the present style of letters is to be used.

— The St. George's and St. Andrew's Societies of Montreal have passed resolutions of confidence in the management of the Grand Trunk Railway, respecting emigrants, and denouncing the hasty action of the German Society through its Secretary.

The Medical Council.

From the London Free Press.

INDEPENDENT. May 15, 1887.

SIR. — Knowing your willingness to discuss in your journal all subjects pertaining to the public interest, I desire to enlist your feelings in the proceedings of the Medical Council, now taking place in session.

First. Will it not become the Council to take steps by some representation to the Legislature of Ontario, whenever it may meet, to put the Electrics and the Homoeopaths upon the same basis as the Allopathists, with respect to preliminary education? Of course it would not be necessary to interfere with the particular modes of practice, or the theories founded on them, but surely those bodies being incorporated as to form a section of the great body of the medical profession, and entitled to practice accordingly, the members thereof ought to be known to the public as possessing whatever preliminary knowledge benefits whomsoever may seek to enter the ranks of Esculapius. Indeed, I would further suggest that if, as is commonly alleged, a knowledge of anatomy and physiology is of the essence of the medical profession, or of the securities afforded by the appointment by it of learned professors and the intervention of a Senate, thus guarding the interests of the profession and the public; another man may enter it under a certificate apart from any of the above guarantees. The Electrics and the Homoeopaths, though close corporations, privileged from time to time to appoint their own successors, and responsible for their acts to no one, can give a certificate by which, and the payment of a four dollar fee to the Provincial Secretary, the holder of those can obtain the Provincial registration and the license to practice without any preliminary examination. But so imperfect is the Medical Act, that the above abuse still exists and will exist even in the ranks of Allopathists unless the influence of the council be exerted against it. Thus upon looking over the Medical Register, I find that the Toronto School of Medicine, a close corporation, self-selected and responsible to no one, grants certificates which are recognized by the Registrar for registration. And more than this, the individuals are registered as Licentiates of the Toronto School of Medicine, notwithstanding its inability to grant any license whatever. I observed in the Register the names of four gentlemen, and perhaps there may be others, registered as Licentiates of the Toronto School of Medicine, who, upon the faith of the Registrar, are enabled to practice as themselves Doctors of Medicine; but I am sure that in England a Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians, great as is the honor attached to the title, would never assume or be allowed to assume, under the British Medical Act, (of which ours is nearly a transcript) the title of M. D. — a title which pertains more especially to the graduates of Universities. The Medical Act itself forbids the practice of inflicting a penalty upon any one falsely assuming the title of M. D. or Surgeon; neither can he assume the title of a Licentiate of the body and the Government to grant a license. Was it by the authority of the Council that the title of Licentiate was used in the Registrar? I can understand, for instance, the title of Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians, under license; but I cannot understand the propriety of the term Licentiate of the Toronto School of Medicine, which cannot grant any license, or anything importing what is meant by the term Licentiate. Surely the appropriate mode of entry should be not "Licentiate of the Toronto School of Medicine," when no license to practice is produced for the Registrar, but "By Certificate of the Toronto School of Medicine." Equally improper is the term "Licentiate of the Medical Board," which only granted a certificate upon which the Governor's Provincial License issued. The term, therefore, would be "Provincial License."

Secondly. There should be one mode of entering the profession so as to ensure a due qualification. But it seems that one man may enter it through a degree bestowed by the University under all the securities afforded by the appointment by it of learned professors and the intervention of a Senate, thus guarding the interests of the profession and the public; another man may enter it under a certificate apart from any of the above guarantees. The Electrics and the Homoeopaths, though close corporations, privileged from time to time to appoint their own successors, and responsible for their acts to no one, can give a certificate by which, and the payment of a four dollar fee to the Provincial Secretary, the holder of those can obtain the Provincial registration and the license to practice without any preliminary examination. But so imperfect is the Medical Act, that the above abuse still exists and will exist even in the ranks of Allopathists unless the influence of the council be exerted against it. Thus upon looking over the Medical Register, I find that the Toronto School of Medicine, a close corporation, self-selected and responsible to no one, grants certificates which are recognized by the Registrar for registration. And more than this, the individuals are registered as Licentiates of the Toronto School of Medicine, notwithstanding its inability to grant any license whatever. I observed in the Register the names of four gentlemen, and perhaps there may be others, registered as Licentiates of the Toronto School of Medicine, who, upon the faith of the Registrar, are enabled to practice as themselves Doctors of Medicine; but I am sure that in England a Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians, great as is the honor attached to the title, would never assume or be allowed to assume, under the British Medical Act, (of which ours is nearly a transcript) the title of M. D. — a title which pertains more especially to the graduates of Universities. The Medical Act itself forbids the practice of inflicting a penalty upon any one falsely assuming the title of M. D. or Surgeon; neither can he assume the title of a Licentiate of the body and the Government to grant a license. Was it by the authority of the Council that the title of Licentiate was used in the Registrar? I can understand, for instance, the title of Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians, under license; but I cannot understand the propriety of the term Licentiate of the Toronto School of Medicine, which cannot grant any license, or anything importing what is meant by the term Licentiate. Surely the appropriate mode of entry should be not "Licentiate of the Toronto School of Medicine," when no license to practice is produced for the Registrar, but "By Certificate of the Toronto School of Medicine." Equally improper is the term "Licentiate of the Medical Board," which only granted a certificate upon which the Governor's Provincial License issued. The term, therefore, would be "Provincial License."

Thirdly. With respect to the matriculation examination, the provision made by the appointment of Dr. Walker as an examiner, might be sufficient if all the teaching bodies were obliged to comply; but if the matriculation examination was extended to the Faculties of Arts in the several Universities, those teaching bodies affiliated to any University should submit to such matriculation examination, or their pupils should appear before the Examiner appointed by the Council. Whenever the Electrics and Homoeopaths may be brought under the standard for matriculation (which should certainly be insisted upon) the Examiner appointed by the Council would become efficient and useful.

Fourthly. Whatever is necessarily connected with medical education is properly under the consideration of the Medical Council, and therefore the condition and efficiency of the public hospitals should be under their supervision, and I conceive they might properly appoint inspectors of their members to visit and report thereon.

Fifthly. I can think of no other mode of dealing with the question of foreign graduates than for the Council to recognize only those who are on a register which have a preliminary examination at the commencement of medical study, and a curriculum corresponding to our own.

MEDICALS.

— Gen. Sickles has issued an order closing all the bar-rooms and revoking all the licenses to sell liquor granted in Charleston.

— A little daughter of Bennett Dodson, of Lodoga, Ind., built a playhouse in her father's yard, and was supplied with dishes to amuse herself with. One day she told her father she would like to have him come and see who took dinner with her. He did so, and was horrified to find a large snake in the girl's lap eating, taking life about with her from the same place of bread. He killed the snake, and it was all most impossible to pacify the child for the loss of her strange playmate.

the progress, being jammed in the open of Frohlar Straits. The crew now began to get worse and worse, and the effects of the short allowance of food, and on the 14th, Forbes, a Shetlander, died. The day previously he was working at the pumps (which he resolutely refused to quit, determining to do his duty to the last), when he suddenly fell down, exclaiming, "I can do no more." He was immediately carried below to his berth, but said to the surgeon, "I am too cold there, duck, and I am full of ice, and I cannot sleep there." He was then put into another bed with one of his countrymen, but he never rallied again. Poor fellow, he had been allowed three extra biscuits in the last week, but was quite unable to eat them. On March 4th, Abernethy, (Shetlander) died, and the two bodies were laid upon the bridge beside the captain. Towards the middle of March, they had drifted down to the entrance of Hudson's Straits, and the ice becoming more slack, they were enabled at times to force the ship, with all sail and warps, short distances to the southward, and on the 17th a heavy swell setting into the pack, indicated their approach to the open ocean. The excitement was now intense. Every effort was made all night and day; and at last on the 18th, they broke out, and a gale of wind, which severely damaged the rudder. The broad Atlantic was now before them. They were released and bore away with a loud cheer for home; but they were so reduced in strength as to be almost incapable of working the ship. The dreadful scurvy increased in violence on the sudden change from the frosts of the ice-pack to the damps and fogs of the open water. The "two-deck" was in a fearful state from the sleeping-berths which had been almost constantly coated with ice, now becoming thawed and dripping wet. They had stripped the ship of almost everything inflammable, and so they were unable to make any fire below, and many of the crew lay in their berths unable to help themselves or each other, and as all were capable of duty were constantly called to the work upon deck, and at last, indeed, they were so fatigued as to be just able to crawl to their beds. The unfortunate sick men were almost dependent upon the ship's cook, who sat up night and day trying to afford them some relief by feeding them with soured biscuit and a thin soup made from his scraps, which he had saved for the purpose. Some of those who had struggled upon deck in the first excitement of their release, soon fell down at the pumps, and as each day brought down more, the bodies were brought up and buried, wrapped in canvas, and laid in rows upon the deck. Some of the deaths of these scurvy-stricken men were so sudden — the effects of the slightest exertion followed by a fatal stroke — as scarcely to give time for the surgeon to be called to the bedside. On one occasion the surgeon was assisting on deck, when a sailor said to him, "Doctor, you're wanted below," and he arrived between decks, and found a poor fellow who, in struggling out of his berth, had been thrown down from the rolling of the ship, and was lying dead upon the decks. On another occasion, the slight exertion of crawling out of bed was instantly fatal. Another Yell being found dead upon his two companions, over whom he had tried to pass, and who were too weak to remove his body from off them. Most providentially, strong fair winds drove them across. Another, and they managed to get the sail set upon the ship, but were utterly unable to reduce it to the gales. In this state they flew before the wind in their race with death, until at last three only of the whole company were able to go aloft. The surgeon appeared, and he did everything in his power; for besides attending the sick and performing the sad offices for the dead, he took his turn at the pumps, kept the watch, and assisted with the sails and ropes. Messrs. Clark, Loffey, Byers, Smith, and Reynolds, mates and harpooners, worked with desperate energy as indeed all did while capable of the least exertion. They fortunately made the land on March 31, and it was determined to run the ship into the nearest harbor, Ross's Yell, early on the 2nd April, 1887. So completely were they exhausted that they had been out for another day they must have been lost; for the night previous to sighting the land they fell at the pumps, and one of the principal sails blew away from inability to secure it. On entering Ross's Yell, two men only could go aloft, and two other poor fellows died in their berths.

FROM RED RIVER. — We learn from a gentleman in the city yesterday from the Red River Settlement, that not more than half the usual number of buffalo were captured last season, and that the most of the Hudson Bay Company's carts will have arrived at St. Cloud within a day or two. — The road is extremely bad, and a vast amount of freight has accumulated at St. Cloud, awaiting better roads for transportation. There are many rumors current about the appearance of bands of hostile Sioux, lying in wait to cut off all parties, so that the half-breed carts will have had to be impeded to accompany any small party. There had been no confirmation of any of these rumors, but more ample precautions were taken, and the carts were guarded by gentlemen reports that there are quite a party there, along, and at last rather impatiently waiting the coming on of Capt. Davy's Montana Expedition, but of Capt. Davy's expedition, no word is yet appearing of as looking finely all the way through. St. Paul Press.

— The New Orleans Times thus alludes to tea drinking: Woman says that Tea! Touch not a single cup! In youth it tempts thee. But, now, oh, give it up! I know thy mother's hand First put it to thy lip. But woman let it stand, Unless it be a cup!

Mr. Brown's Convention.

The Toronto Telegraph takes off Mr. Brown's Convention in capital style. The picture is so graphic and truthful, that we cannot refrain from giving it to our readers. "The long talked of anti-coalition convention, composed of the rag-tag and bobtail of George Brown's disciples, commenced its proceedings in this city yesterday. The attendance is pretty good is no matter of surprise, when it is remembered that the invitations were of the most general character, and embraced nearly every one in the country except out-and-out Coalitionists. First, we have Clear Grit members of Parliament, then Clear Grit candidates throughout the Province, for both the general and local legislatures, which, it is needless to say, are as plentiful as blackberries; next we have all office-bearers of Clear Grit associations, defunct and existing; after them come all the editors of the Clear Grit organs in the country, from the Ottawa river to Sarina, and at the head of all these are delegates, self-appointed and otherwise, from every municipality in the province of Ontario. Such a wholesale invitation was never before issued, and if it could not succeed in drawing a crowd together, it would be hard to say what would. And this is not all. The convention being held in this city, all the understrappers of the party, the hangers-on of the Globe, the faithful swallows of George Brown's pills, felt it their duty to attend, so long as they could procure free tickets of admission. The vast majority of these are men unknown among us, men who occupy no position in the city, and who are never heard of except at some such gathering as this, or some hole-and-corner caucus of hungry Brownites. Men who could not gain the smallest office in the gift of the peoplemen without any local standing whatever, and known only for the canine character of sticking closely to George Brown's fairy-like heels, in the hungry hope that he may some day have it in his power to throw them a few crumbs to satisfy the cravings of their empty maws. These patriotic and generous individuals fill up the vacant places in the hall on free tickets, while the innocent and duped representatives of the rural districts wonder why they are each compelled to pay one dollar before gaining admission to the great pow-wow. The members of Parliament who are present are such as Rymal, Mackenzie, McKellar, John Macdonald, McMillan, Macfarlane, and others of a like stripe who walk in the ways of George Brown, and whose only politics are those which he teaches. They do not number fifteen all told, and even among them there are such men as Mr. A. M. Smith and Mr. Charles Magill, who are there simply through curiosity, being opposed to George Brown's present policy, and willing to give the coalition government a fair trial before condemning it."

It is not difficult to estimate the value of such a gathering. It cannot claim to represent any considerable portion of the Reform party, and but very little weight can be attached to any action it may take. It is very evident, however, from the reception given to the Hon. Messrs. McDougall and Howland, and from the independent tone of some of the speakers, that Brown has got everything his own way. Some of the delegates spoke pretty plainly to Mr. Brown, and one of them, Dr. Clarke, of Simcoe, in alluding to the attempt to proscribe Messrs. McDougall and Howland, said, "they had 'no right to proscribe men who had been 'no more guilty of political treachery and 'bribery than some present.' This was supplemented by the same gentleman who said they 'did not come there to play 'second fiddle to the Hon. George Brown,' and urged different treatment to the gentlemen mentioned, so 'that the wheels of 'Reform might not be debased by the 'blood and bones of martyred victims in 'its onward course.' Pretty plain language, that. But we presume Mr. Clarke had in his mind's eye a Baldwin, a Hincks, a Rolph, a Foley, a J. S. Macdonald, and a score of other leading Reformers, whose blood and bones marked the course of this political juggernaut, and it was natural when he saw others, and the most talented of his party, being cast under the 'wheels of the same political machine, that he should raise his voice against such unjust proscriptions. Of course Mr. Clarke was not allowed to pass without a lash from Mr. Brown, and he gave it to him with all the venom of which he is capable."

Another gentleman, a Mr. Spohn, of Hamilton, kicked over the traces, but Mr. Brown and his friends said that such demonstrations would materially weaken his position and destroy the influence of the Convention, so he was shut up. The Telegraph thus tells how it was done: "Mr. Spohn said he was convinced that the welfare of the country demanded a Coalition form of Government, and that all he desired of the Convention was a patient hearing while he gave his reasons. But no, they would not hear him. They shouted, yelled, howled and screamed. They moved like cats, crowded like cocks, barked like curs, brawled like asses, and created a terrible uproar, during which Mr. Spohn vainly tried to gain a hearing. The result was that these freedom-loving, discussion-courting bolters completely closed the mouth of one of their own members, and drove him from the platform. During this disgraceful scene, George Brown sat on the platform, and seemed to enjoy immensely the generous conduct of his virtuous followers. This is freedom of speech with a vengeance."

The Convention was closed on Friday afternoon with a most interesting and affecting scene, which is thus described by the Leader: "Mr. Brown requested all the candidates for Parliament to go upon the platform. Instantly there was a general rush made to get upon the platform, which was at once crowded by needy-looking political aspirants, to whom Mr. Brown extended the right hand of fellowship, reminding one of the 'come into my parlor' campaign. Had he requested the office-seekers to go upon the platform there would scarcely have been a man left on the floor of the hall."

Fenian News.

The Hamilton Times of last evening says: "The standing sensation of the times, the curse of Fenianism, is not improbable, will be timely revived to augment the excitement attending the advent of the era of the new Dominion. The institution is still kept alive and active throughout the United States, and contributions are being made and recruits enlisted in the principal cities for some projected movement shrouded in the utmost secrecy. The Government has received information from the British Consul at Buffalo, that from 1,500 to 2,000 armed Fenians are now concentrated in that city. Such intelligence, we believe, has been imparted to the military commanders, attended with precautionary orders. The prospects of an invasion of Canada at an early day is the subject of open discussion among the American Fenians, and it is hardly possible that the enthusiasm of the rabble could be kept alive without a promise from the leaders of being again led into the field. The 1st, 4th, 18th, and 21st of July are days that are mentioned ominously. The Government is evidently apprehensive of a renewal of trouble, and there are signs of activity in military quarters. Col. Peacock, who was appointed to a general command some months since, is at present absent with other officers, at an important post on the frontier, possibly for the purpose of taking strategic observations."

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

LONDON, June 28 (evening). — Intelligence from Japan states that Jeddah and other Japanese ports will be opened to commerce on the 1st of January next.

LONDON, June 28 (evening). — The commission appointed to inquire into the manner in which the Fenian convicts are being treated, reports that they are well treated.

LONDON, June 28 (evening). — Advice from Constantinople confirms the reported victory of Omar Pasha over the Christians in Crete.

NEW YORK, June 29. — The Herald's Rome special says: — The Pope held a public consistory this day, Thursday, at which there were over four hundred Catholic Bishops, coming from every part of the world. The Pope delivered an address to the assembled Prelates, which he praised their great zeal in coming to Rome from such distances, and thus expressing their attachment to the "Holy See." He said the example shown the world by the union of the Church at large in its celebration of the canonization of the martyrs of Japan and the eighteenth centenary anniversary of St. Peter's martyrdom would show forthwith to the enemies of the Chair of Peter the immense power which the Church wields on earth. When the Pope received the American prelates and clergy at audience, they presented him with $200,000 in gold coins. They also presented a model of the American yacht Harriet in silver, the yacht being loaded with gold pieces to the amount of $50,000, contributed by the people of the Archdiocese of Philadelphia.

NEW YORK, June 29. — The Herald's Florence telegram says: — It is reported that Gen. Cialdini has resigned his commission and position under the King, in consequence of the suppression of the chief military commands formed in the army during the war with Austria.

LONDON, June 29. — Additional information relative to the loss of the United States sloop of war Sacramento has been received. The crew escaped to shore in small boats. No lives lost.

FROM MEXICO.

The Herald's New Orleans special says:—Advices from Matamoros of the 19th confirm the report that Gen. Gomez, who had assumed the cause of Santa Anna, capitulated on the 8th last to Gen. Peron, commanding the Liberal forces before Tampico. The Liberals occupied Tampico on the 9th.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The steamer San

NEW YORK, June 29.—The steamer Jova
from Glasgow has arrived.

—It is stated that the Parliament Buildings in Toronto will not be ready for the accommodation of the Legislature until the last of October.

—The Princess of Wales had so fully recovered from the Norfolk illness that she was about to proceed on a visit to the Duke of Sutherland's seat at Trentham.

—A Liverpool paper says it was reported that the Lord Chief Justice of Ireland had been deposed by Fenians in the streets of Dublin, and that he was recently obliged to take refuge in a shop in Sackville street on his way home.

—In England it is proposed to lay two pairs of nearly flat rails with a slight depression centrally for omnibus wheels, and a guide rail midway for the driver to sight with the pole of his carriage, so as to keep the track.

—Goldwin Smith, having nothing else to do, has attacked his fellow-countrymen for their fondness for horse-racing and other sports. He is also guilty of a villainous attack upon the character of the late Lord Palmerston.

—Leutze's picture illustrating the session of Russian America is nearly complete. The noteworthy figures are the two Swards, Stocki and Rodicio, of the Russian Legation, and Senator Sumner.

The Medical Department of no other University in the Dominion of Canada can present the like list of successful candidates for British honors. These honors are a proof of Canadian talent, and of good teaching, and of faithful and rigid examination, all which are required and guaranteed by the intervention of a vigilant College. Every pupil, possessing self-respect, must appreciate the honor of a Canadian degree beyond any subordinate mode of introduction into a learned profession.

American Invoices—Discounts.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT, CUSTOMS.

QUEBEC, 6th March, 1863.

IT is directed by the Hon. The Finance Minister, that hereafter Weekly Notices be published and furnished to Collectors of Customs, as to the rate of discount to be allowed on American Invoices, which is to be in accordance with the price of gold as represented by Exchange, at a rate equal thereto. Such Notices to appear every Saturday in the Canada Gazette.

R. S. M. BOUCHETTE.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT, CUSTOMS.

OTTAWA, June 8, 1867.

IN accordance with the above Order, Notice is hereby given that the authorized discount is declared to be this day 26 per cent, which percentage of deduction is to be continued until next Weekly Notice, and to apply to all purchases made in the United States

INSURANCE COMPANY

CAPITAL, $10,000,000.

FIRE AND LIFE.

LIFE DEPARTMENT.

THE principles on which this Company is

founded contain all the elements required

to develop the benefits of Life Assurance, and

afford every facility to intending assureds—

One of the advantages secured by those who

insure their lives with this Company is that the outside expenditure for Management is absolutely restricted by the Deed of Settlement to Ten per Cent of the Net Life

Income. This most important restriction

shows that the interests of participating policy

holders are closely watched and carefully attended to by the Company. Attention is especially called to this point, as the proportion of premiums expended for Management

Must Largely Influence Profits

and Bonuses.

The next division of profits takes place in 1868, and all those who wish to participate in the profits should insure at once.
